Second Article.—"To choose by ballot the following Town Officers: One Town Clerk, for one year; five Selectmen, for one year; one Collector of Taxes, for one year; one Treasurer, for one year; one Assessor, for three years; three members of the School Committee, for three years; one member of the School Committee, for one year; four Trustees of the Public Library, for three years; one Trustee of the Public Library, for one year; two Trustees of Walnut Hills Cemetery, for three years; one Park Commissioner, for three years; one member of the Water Board, for three years; three Auditors, for one year; three members of the Committee on Planting Trees, for one year; two Fence Viewers, for one year; five Constables, for one year; also upon the same ballot, to vote "Yes" or "No" upon the following question: "Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this town?" For these purposes the polls will be opened at a quarter after six o'clock in the forenoon and may be closed at a quarter after five in the afternoon. Also to choose or appoint all the other usual town officers in such manner as the town may determine."

The Town Hall had been fitted up as a polling place, a space railed off, and eighty compartments or shelves provided for the convenience of voters in examining and marking their ballots, and each compartment was supplied with cards of instruction and other necessary facilities. Cards of instruction and specimen ballots were also posted in different parts of the building outside of the rail; all in accordance with the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts governing elections.

The arrangement of the railing was such that four entrances were provided for voters to enter the space inside the rail for the purpose of marking their ballots, with four ballot-boxes to correspond, one for each entrance. The Ballot Clerks were provided with duplicate sets of the list of registered voters of the town, one for men voters and one for women voters, as prepared by the Registrars of Voters for use at this election. These alphabetical lists of voters were divided to correspond with the four entrances and four ballot-boxes as follows:

Entrance No. 1—A to D inclusive.

Entrance No. 2—E to K inclusive.

Entrance No. 4—Q to Z inclusive.

The Moderator appointed Police Sergeant James Gleason to have charge of the ballot-boxes and the space inside of the railing.

The Town Clerk delivered to the Moderator, Fred H. Williams, three sealed packages containing ballots, and took his receipt for the same. Such packages were marked:—

- (1) "2800 Official Ballots, Town of Brookline, March 5, 1912;"
- (2) "2293 Official Ballots, Town of Brookline, March 5, 1912;"
- (3) "625 Official Ballots for Women for School Committee only, Town of Brookline, March 5, 1912."

The election officers stationed at the four entrances were supplied with the lists of voters, and with the official ballots taken from the packages received from the Town Clerk, with instructions to deliver such ballots only to voters whose names were found and checked on the lists.

The four ballot-boxes—as inspected and approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to be used at elections—were then opened in public meeting, examined by the Moderator and other election officers, and found to be empty. The register of each box was set at zero (0), the boxes locked, and the keys delivered to Police Sergeant James Gleason, appointed in charge of the ballot-boxes.

At fifteen minutes after six o'clock the polls were declared open for the reception of votes for town officers, and were kept open until fifteen minutes after five o'clock in the afternoon, when, after due notice, they were declared closed.

By consent of the Moderator and Town Clerk, the ballot-boxes were opened several times during the day for the purpose of removing the ballots to be counted.

At the close of the polls the registers of the ballot-boxes read as follows: Ballot-box No. 1, the "Ideal," registered 516; ballot-box No. 2, the "Ideal," registered 502; ballot-box

No. 3, the "Ideal," registered 574; ballot-box No. 4, the "United States," registered 403.

The total number of ballots deposited was thus indicated to be as follows:—

Ballot-box No. 1.....	516
Ballot-box No. 2.....	502
Ballot-box No. 3.....	574
Total	2,045

The names checked on the voting lists by the Ballot Clerks at the entrances to the polling place, and by the checkers at the ballot-boxes, were counted up, compared, and found to agree, and the total number of names so checked was twenty hundred and forty-five (2045), of which forty-six (46) were the names of women, and nineteen hundred and ninety-nine (1999) were the names of men, as follows:—

Entrance No. 1. A. to D. Men	503
Women	13
	<hr/>	516
Entrance No. 2. E to K. Men	493
	<hr/>	502

	<hr/>	574
Entrance No. 4. Q to Z. Men	440
Women	13
	<hr/>	453
Total names checked		2045

The number of names checked agreed with the number previously stated as indicated by the ballot-boxes.

The Moderator, Town Clerk and Tellers then canvassed the ballots, and the whole number was twenty hundred and forty-five (2045), forty-six (46) of which were votes of women for School Committee only, which were sorted, counted, and declaration thereof made in open town meeting, at fifteen minutes before six o'clock in the afternoon, as follows:—

(Copy.)

Minority Report.

Harris S. Bean, one of the Committee appointed by vote of the town passed at the town meeting, March 15, 1911, namely, "Whether the town should erect a Soldiers' Monument, and if so, further consider the question of design and site, and all other matters in connection therewith, and to report their recommendations to the Town," respectfully dissents from the report of the Committee, to the effect that the town should not erect a Soldiers' Monument at the present time.

Mr. Bean is strongly of the opinion that the town of Brookline should erect a suitable monument in commemoration of its citizens who served in the Civil War. That in nearly every city and town throughout the North the services of the defenders of the Union in the Civil War are suitably recognized. That the mere fact that it has been neglected by this town for so long is no reason for refusing to erect it now. That it is desirable to have such a memorial in the form of a monument which shall be in daily view, and not more or less removed from the public sight by being placed inside the Town Hall.

Mr. Bean further respectfully requests that this minority report be adopted in place of the majority report of the Committee, and that the town of Brookline appropriate a sum of money sufficient for the erection of a suitable and worthy monument to commemorate the services and sacrifices made by those men who enlisted in the Civil War for the town of Brookline.

H. S. BEAN.

Tenth Article.—To hear and act upon the report of the committee appointed under the seventeenth article in the warrant for the special town meeting of December 29, 1911, upon the question of securing legislation and appropriating money in connection with a Hospital Relief Fund.

Eleventh Article.—To appropriate a sum not exceeding two thousand dollars ($2,000.00) to be expended by the Board of Health in providing medical or surgical treatment in suitable hospitals for residents of Brookline who are not in receipt of aid from the Poor Department, but who require immediate treatment, the expense of which they are temporarily unable to meet.

On motion of Philip S. Parker,—

Voted, That the report of the Committee appointed under the seventeenth article in the warrant for the special town meeting of December 29, 1911, upon the question of securing legislation and appropriating money in connection with a Hospital Relief Fund, and presented in print at this meeting, be accepted and adopted.

On motion of Philip S. Parker,—

Voted, That two thousand ($2,000.00) be appropriated to be expended by the Board of Health in providing medical or surgical treatment in suitable hospitals for residents of Brookline who are not in receipt of aid from the Poor Department, but who require immediate treatment, the expense of which they are temporarily unable to meet.

Twelfth Article.—"To act upon the report of the committee appointed under the tenth article in the warrant for the town meeting of June 1, 1910, upon the question of establishing building limits in the town and changing the Building Law, and to hear and act upon any supplemental report of such committee."

Thirteenth Article.—"To amend the Building Law in accordance with the recommendations contained in the reports of the committee referred to in the preceding article."

On motion of Charles H. Pearson,—

Voted, That the building by-law of the town be amended by adopting the amendments to the same proposed by the Committee appointed under the tenth article in the warrant for the town meeting of June 1, 1910, in its final report signed and on file in the office of the Town Clerk.

Fourteenth Article.—"To appropriate forty-nine hundred dollars ($4,900.00) to install an elevator in the Town Hall."

On motion of George S. Nyhen,—

Voted, That this matter be indefinitely postponed.

Fifteenth Article.—To accept and allow the building lines on both sides of Pleasant street, between Beacon street and Commonwealth avenue, as laid out and established by the Selectmen and reported to the town at this meeting.

being all the parties known to us from whom land is taken or who may be interested in the subject-matter, and gave notice to them, and all other persons and corporations, if any, who may be interested in the subject-matter whose names are not known to us, by posting up true and attested copies of such notice in three public places in the town seven days at least before the day appointed for the hearing.

Pursuant to such notice, we met at the time and place appointed for the hearing, and heard the remarks and objections of all persons, if any, who desired to be heard, and having viewed and examined the route of the street as hereinafter described, we do adjudge that common convenience and necessity require that said street should be laid out and altered, and it is hereby so laid out and altered.

Beginning at a point on the easterly line of Cypress street situated 26.93 feet from the stone bound marking the intersection of the present southerly line of Boylston street with the said easterly line of Cypress street; thence running easterly by a tangent 686.71 feet; thence curving to the left with a radius of 7703.96 feet for a distance of 329.95 feet; thence running easterly by a tangent 50.54 feet; thence curving to the right with a radius of 7634.73 feet for a distance of 329.94 feet; thence running easterly by a tangent 877.85 feet to the prolongation of the westerly line of High street and taking a parallel width of 40 feet on both sides of said centre line.

At the intersection of said southerly line of Boylston street as altered and widened with the side lines of the public streets herein named, the corners are rounded with curves and the necessary land is hereby taken therefor as follows, to wit: At the southeasterly corner of Cypress street with a curve having a radius of forty (40) feet. At the southwesterly corner of High street with a curve having a radius of ten (10) feet.

Whereas a portion of the said Boylston street as constructed in accordance with the plan and profile accompanying this laying out is to be built in embankment, the Selectmen take the right to support the said embankment by means of side slopes upon the adjoining land, the upper surface of the said side slopes having a rate of slope of one and one-half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) feet measured horizontally to one (1) foot measured vertically measuring down to the level of said adjoining land, from the grade of the side lines of the street as shown on said plan and profile; but the said Selectmen expressly reserve to the owners of the land taken for said slopes, and their heirs and assigns, the right to use said slopes and the land taken therefor up to the side lines of said way, as hereinbefore defined and shown on said plan and profile for building, or for any other purpose or use whatsoever incident to the ownership of the fee in the land taken for said slopes, which will not impair the security of the roadbed of said way.

For a further identification of this description and location reference is hereby made to plan and profile made by Alexis H. French, Town Engineer, dated January 15, 1912, approved by us, verified by our signatures and adopted as a part of this record. Said street is to be constructed in accordance with said plan and profile.

The foregoing description has been compared with the plan and is correct.

ALEXIS H. FRENCH,
Town Engineer.

We, the undersigned, Selectmen of Brookline, gave written notice of our intention to lay out a street substantially on the line of a private way known as Freeman Street from Pleasant Street to Amory Street, such notice requiring all persons interested to appear before us at our room in the Town Hall, on Monday, December 18, 1911, at 4.00 o'clock P. M., and caused such notice to be actually served according to law by a constable of this town at least seven days before the day so appointed for the hearing, upon

Grace W. Rives,	Town of Brookline,
David and Henry Sears,	Ruth R. Litchfield,
John E. Peabody,	Francis I. Amory et al. , trustees,
Violet D. Bird,	Annie L. Robertson,

being all the parties known to us from whom land is taken or who may be interested in the subject matter, and gave notice to them, and all other persons and corporations, if any, who may be interested in the subject-matter whose names are not known to us, by posting up true and attested copies of such notice in three public places in the town seven days at least before the day appointed for the hearing.

Pursuant to such notice, we met at the time and place appointed for the hearing, and heard the remarks and objections of all persons, if any, who desired to be heard, and having viewed and examined the route of the street as hereinafter described, we do adjudge that common convenience and necessity require that said street should be laid out as a town way and it is hereby so laid out.

Beginning at a point on the easterly line of Pleasant Street situated three feet southerly from its intersection with the present southerly line of said Freeman Street; thence running easterly 418.83 feet to the stone bound marking the southwesterly corner of said Freeman Street and St. Paul Street; thence running easterly by the present southerly line of said Freeman Street 600.65 feet to the easterly line of Amory Street. The northerly line of said Freeman Street is 50 feet from and parallel with the above described southerly line.

At the intersections of the southerly line of said Freeman Street as altered and widened with the side lines of the public streets herein named the corners are rounded with curves and the necessary land is hereby taken therefor as follows, to wit: At the southeasterly and southwesterly corners of Powell Street with curves each having a radius of fifteen (15) feet; at the southwesterly corner of Amory Street with a curve having a radius of fifteen (15) feet.

Whereas a portion of the said Freeman Street as constructed in accordance with the plan and profile accompanying this laying out is to be built in embankment, the Selectmen take the right to support the said embankment by means of side slopes upon the adjoining land, the upper surface of the said side slopes having a rate of slope of one and one-half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) feet measured horizontally to one (1) foot measured vertically measuring down to the level of said adjoining land, from the grade of the side lines of the street as shown on said plan and profile; but the said Selectmen expressly reserve to the owners of land taken for said slopes, and their heirs and assigns the right to use said slopes and the land taken therefor up to the side lines of said way, as hereinbefore defined and shown on said plan and profile for building, or for any other purpose or use whatsoever incident to the ownership of the fee in the land taken for said slopes, which will not impair the security of the roadbed of said way.

For a further identification of this description and location reference is hereby made to a plan and profile made by Alexis H. French, Town Engineer, dated December 4, 1911, approved by us, verified by our signatures and adopted as a part of this record.

The foregoing description has been compared with the plan and is correct.

ALEXIS H. FRENCH,
Town Engineer.

The street having been partially constructed by the owners of the fee is open to the public for travel.

We take land as follows, and we have estimated the damages sustained by the owners of land, rights and interests caused by the laying out of said street and the construction thereof, whether by taking land or by injuring property in any manner whatsoever, and do estimate and determine the amount to be paid to the said parties respectively as follows:

The presiding election officer publicly broke the seal on the package and delivered the ballots to Robert A. Smiley and Francis F. Muldowney, the ballot clerks who had been duly appointed by the Selectmen.

The election officers stationed at the four entrances and four ballot-boxes were supplied with the list of voters, and with the official ballots, with instructions to deliver such ballots only to voters whose names were found and checked on the lists at the entrances, and to allow no voter to deposit his ballot until his name was found and checked on the lists at the ballot-boxes.

The four ballot-boxes, as inspected and approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to be used at elections, were then opened in public meeting, examined by the election officers, and found to be empty. The register of each box was set at zero (o), the boxes locked, and the keys were retained by James Gleason, the Sergeant of Police at the polling place.

At eight minutes past six o'clock in the forenoon the polls were declared open for the reception of ballots, and were kept open until thirty minutes past four o'clock in the afternoon, when, after due notice, they were declared closed.

By unanimous consent of the election officers, the ballot-boxes were opened several times during the day for the purpose of removing the ballots to be counted.

At the close of the polls the registers of the ballot-boxes, after corrections, read as follows:

Box No. 1, "Ideal".....	1,245
Box No. 2, "Ideal".....	1,142
Box No. 3, "Ideal".....	1,163
Box No. 4, "U.S.".....	1,176

From Ballot Box No. 1, A-D.....	1,245
Ballot Box No. 2, E-K.....	1,142
Ballot Box No. 3, L-P.....	1,163
Ballot Box No. 4, Q-Z.....	1,176

The Ballot Clerks reported the names checked at the entrances to be forty-seven hundred and twenty-six (4,726).

The election officers canvassed the ballots deposited in the ballot-boxes, and the whole number was forty-seven hundred and twenty-six (4,726), which were sorted, counted, and recorded, and declaration thereof made in open town meeting, as required by law, at eight o'clock.

In counting the ballots the blank forms approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth were used by the election officers.

"No," forty-seven (47).

Nineteenth Article,—"To accept and allow Russell street as laid out by the Selectmen and reported to the town at this meeting and to appropriate eighteen hundred dollars ($1800.00) for the construction of the same."

On motion of Philip S. Parker,—

The Selectmen reported in print the laying out of Russell street, of which the following is a copy :

Russell Street.

We, the undersigned, Selectmen of Brookline, gave written notice of our intention to lay out a street substantially on the line of a private way known as Russell street, from Harvard street to Columbia street, such notice requiring all persons interested to appear before us at our room in the Town Hall, on Monday, December 2, 1912, at 4.15 o'clock P. M., and caused such notice to be actually served according to law by a constable of this town at least seven days before the day so appointed for the hearing, upon Henry S. Coolidge et al., Town of Brookline, Gideon L. Davidson, Henry S. Coolidge, Ellen G. Coolidge, being all the parties known to us from whom land is taken or who may be interested in the subject-matter, and gave notice to them, and all other persons and corporations, if any, who may be interested in the subject-matter whose names are not known to us, by posting up true and attested copies of such notice in three public places in the town seven days at least before the day appointed for the hearing.

Pursuant to such notice, we met at the time and place appointed for the hearing, and heard the remarks and objections of all persons, if any, who desired to be heard, and having viewed and examined the route of the street as hereinafter described, we do adjudge that common convenience and necessity require that said street should be laid out as a town way and it is hereby so laid out.

The land taken for the said street is bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the northeasterly line of the part of Columbia street which is parallel with Winchester street, situated at 177.69 feet northwesterly from the stone monument marking the point of curvature of the curve connecting the said northeasterly line of Columbia street and the northwesterly line of the part of said Columbia street, which is nearly parallel with Thorndike; thence running northeasterly by a tangent for a distance of 563.84 feet; thence running northeasterly by a curve to the right with a radius of 1,145 feet for a distance of 281.97 feet to the westerly line of Harvard street, and including a parallel width of twenty feet on both sides of the said centre line.

At the intersection of the northeasterly line of said Columbia street and the westerly line of said Harvard street with the northwesterly and southeasterly lines of said Russell street the corners are rounded with curves, and the necessary land is hereby taken therefor as follows, to wit:

At the northeasterly corner of said Columbia street and said Russell street with a curve having a radius of 50 feet; at the southeasterly corner of said streets with a curve having a radius of 20 feet; at the northwesterly corner of said Harvard street and said Russell street with a curve having a radius of 25 feet; and at the southwesterly corner of the same with a curve having a radius of 20 feet.

For a further identification of this description and location reference is hereby made to a plan and profile made by Alexis H. French, Town Engineer, dated December 4, 1911, approved by us, verified by our signatures and adopted as a part of this record.

The foregoing description has been compared with the plan and is correct.

ALEXIS H. FRENCH, Town Engineer.

December 16th, 1912.

The street having been constructed by the owners of the fee is open to the public for travel.

No awards are made. The owners of the land abutting upon said street and of the fee of the land over which said street is laid out, in consideration of the laying out and its acceptance by the town, waive all claims to land, grade or other damages.

We take land as follows:—

Name.	Square feet taken.
From Owners of the fee	About 34,315

We give the owners of land taken for the laying out of said street thirty days from the date of its acceptance by the town, in which to take off their trees, fences and other property which may obstruct the building of the way.

The estimated cost of further constructing the street is $1800.00.

Said street so laid out is hereby reported to the town for acceptance, and when so accepted, allowed and recorded, is to be called Russell street.

The said plan, profile and this record are this day filed by us in the office of the town clerk.

The Selectmen had appointed Police Officers Emery E. Allen and Charles C. Watterson in charge of the two turnstiles, who made a return in writing under oath at the adjournment of the meeting that turnstile No. 1643 had registered fifty-five (55), and turnstile No. 1670 had registered seventy-five (75), showing that a total of one hundred and thirty (130) registered voters had been admitted to the meeting.

Dissolved.

ANNUAL REPORT

The Selectmen submit the following report for the year ending December 31, 1912:—

First of all we wish to pay tribute to the memory of Horace James, who died April 26, 1912, while serving as a member of the Board of Selectmen. Mr. James had served the town in this capacity for many years, and his honest and faithful devotion to its interests are well known to all our citizens. Many, however, do not appreciate how large was the measure of his service, for he gave freely of his time and vigor to the community in which he lived, with no thought of the personal sacrifice it entailed. To those who served on the Board with him, the memory of his fearlessness and sound judgment will always be an inspiration.

Mr. James F. Quinn was elected on May 24, 1912, to fill the vacancy then existing by reason of the death of Mr. James.

The routine matters in connection with the administration of the affairs of the town increase all the time, and the Selectmen have to give a great deal of time to them. Much attention has been paid during the past year to the construction of the improvements voted at the last annual town meeting. Progress has been made with the new streets then laid out and with the widening of Boylston street. The work in connection with the construction of the Lee street sewer and surface water drain has been slower than the Board had hoped and anticipated, and the completion of the work will be delayed beyond the date expected when the appropriation was made.

A number of petitions have been received requesting the Selectmen to establish building lines on existing streets. The policy of the Board has been, however, not to establish building lines except in cases where streets are likely to be widened in the future or on streets where the owners of the land affected give releases of their claims for damages on account of the establishment of such lines. The Board recognizes that building lines are in the main of great benefit to the town, but the general policy of establishing such lines where requested would commit the town to a large expenditure of money for damages to those persons not consenting to the restriction. We have tried the procedure of taking a bond of indemnity against any damage arising out of the establishment of the lines where every one does not release, but this procedure is liable to be misunderstood and to involve the town in difficulties not apparent at the time the bond is given, and therefore as a rule this procedure is not to be commended.

Valuation and Tax Rate.

The valuation of land increased $108,000.00, and the valuation of buildings increased $1,461,400.00, making the total increase in real estate values $1,569,400.00. The valuation of personal property decreased $977,100.00, making a net increase amounting to $592,300.00 in the total valuation. This total is $111,053,000.00. The increase is quite a little less than the average increase in recent years.

There was a decrease in the tax rate from $12.20 in 1911 to $12.00 in 1912, and this rate has proved sufficient to raise the amount necessary for the town's business.

Finances.

The balance of free cash remaining unexpended at the end of the year and available for the current expenses of the coming year amounted to $39,573.66. At the end of 1911 the corresponding balance amounted to $98,863.89. The current balance of $39,573.66 was made up of taxes which are collected above the sum that it was fairly estimated would be collected, amounting to $20,268.49; of excess of receipts above the amount estimated, amounting to $9,527.28; of a balance of the annual appropriations unexpended, amounting to $20,691.81; and of a balance unexpended of special appropriations which had been closed, amounting to $809.26. These items amounted to $51,296.92, from which there was taken for additional appropriations, under authority of town votes or otherwise, the sum of $11,723.26, leaving the balance of $39,573.66 above mentioned. The policy of the Collector in endeavoring to collect all the taxes for the year before the books are closed in January is one that commends itself as sound business procedure and the policy results beneficially to the town. Uncollected taxes should not be regarded as an investment for the town because they run at six per cent. interest, but as a penalty upon persons who do not pay their taxes promptly.

No new permanent loans were made during the year because of the high rate of interest which money commanded. However, it was necessary to raise funds for the construction of Boylston street and to pay for the land purchased in the rear of the town hall known as the Pierce street lot. Therefore a temporary loan of $200,000.00 was negotiated for these purposes as authorized by statute. This loan runs for one year from August 1, 1912, at four per cent. Payments of existing debt during the past year amounted to $162,481.00. The total direct debt of the town at the end of the year was $1,537,806.00, being $37,519.00 more than the debt at the end of the year 1911. Of this amount, $263,876.00 was for water supply, $30,000.00 for the separation of sewers and surface water drains, and $267,720.00 for public playgrounds, the sum of these three being $561,596.00, and being debt existing by authority of law outside of the limit of indebtedness under the Municipal Indebtedness Act. The total debt which the town could incur under the Act for general purposes was $3,331,590.00, or three per cent. of its valuation. The indebtedness at the end of the year, therefore, which was governed by this Act was $976,210.00 (i. e., $1,537,806.00 less $561,596.00, the amount mentioned above), or $689,585.00 less than one-half the amount which the town was authorized to borrow under the Act. The sum of $600,000.00 was borrowed during the year in anticipation of taxes and was paid off. The year closed with outstanding authority, which had not been availed of, to borrow $21,000.00 for paving at Coolidge's Corner, $12,000 for the extension of the driven well system, $36,000.00 for the Lee street sewer and surface water drain, $45,000.00 for the construction of highways, and $45,000.00 for the construction of sewers and surface water drains. In addition upon the payment of the temporary loan above mentioned on August 1, there will be authority to make serial loans amounting to $166,500.00 for the widening of Boylston street and $36,000.00 for the Pierce street lot. The funded debt which will mature during the coming year to be raised by taxation amounts to $155,231.00, and the instalments coming due January 1, 1914, on the above mentioned loans which have not yet been placed, amounting in all to $41,000.00, will also have to be raised by taxation. Payments of these amounts are provided for in detail as follows:—

The appropriation needed for the current year for interest on the debt now outstanding is approximately $47,600.00, including $327.50 for overdue coupons not yet presented.

Metropolitan Taxes.

There has been little change during the past year in the conditions affecting metropolitan assessments. In the list of annual appropriations we have provided for about the same amounts as assessed in 1912 for metropolitan parks and sewers. The table herewith shows the contingent liability of the town for these assessments.

State Tax.

The State tax in 1912 was $6,250,000.00, which is $750,000.00 more than in 1911, and we think the largest on record. Under the last apportionment in 1910 Brookline's proportion of that tax was 2.766 per cent. This basis of apportionment is revised every three years and there will be a new one prepared by the Tax Commissioner and enacted by the Legislature in 1913. We have, however, included the same amount in the annual appropriations to pay the town's proportion of this year's State tax, the amount also including the sum of $258.06 under the Smoke Nuisance Act.

County Tax.

The County tax for the coming year is $250,000, as against $200,000 in 1912 and $193,000 in 1911. The increase is due to the fact that the balance of cash on hand at the beginning of the year was much less than usual, as can be seen from the following table, and that the expenditure for highways and bridges will be larger than last year, the estimate including the amount which the County will have to pay for the construction of the Weymouth Back River bridge. The percentage in determining the State tax is one of the elements in determining the town's proportion of the County tax, and as stated above under the comments on the State tax, this will be slightly changed. Using, however, the percentage of the last three years, the town's proportion of the County tax for 1913 amounts to $96,268.97, and we have included sufficient in the annual appropriations to pay it.

and of Surface Water Drains, being equally divided between them. It was voted to borrow this amount. There is a balance of $11,915.18 for the Construction of Sewers and $6,849.58 for the Construction of Surface Water Drains, and these amounts will be carried forward as special appropriations for the same purposes for the coming year.

§Overdrawn.

Total amount of special appropriations expended, $255,306.51.

The total amount appropriated during the past year for general expenses, including State, County and Metropolitan taxes and payments of funded debt and interest, was $1,788,727.57, of which $1,748,266.52 was spent. Of the total amount of $382,018.02 carried on the books for special appropriations the sum of $255,306.51 was spent. The judgment in the suit of the Shaw Estate for back taxes, amounting to $32,596.37, was also paid, making a total of $2,036,169.40 spent by the town for all purposes during the fiscal year. The corresponding sum spent in 1911 was $1,832,639.79 and in 1910 $2,015,543.98.

The amount recommended for general expenses and those proposed for new special appropriations are given in the following tables. The amounts asked for the general expenses for Public Schools, Public Library, Water Supply, Public Parks and Grounds, comprising headings A, B and C and the first two items of D in Table II below, have been recommended by the different Boards having those matters in charge. Reference is made to the reports of those Boards for information in regard to those appropriations. All other amounts included in the tables are recommended by the Selectmen. The total amount proposed for general expenses for the current year, 1913, including State, County and Metropolitan taxes and payment of funded debt and interest, is $1,841,950, as appears in the following tables, of which it is recommended that $20,000 for the construction of sewers and surface water drains, be borrowed. The total of the proposed new special appropriations is $296,901.84, of which it is recommended that $267,200 be borrowed. The balance of special appropriations not to be borrowed, namely, $29,701.84, added to the amount for general expenses not to be borrowed, namely, $1,821,950, makes the sum of $1,851,651.84 to be included in the tax levy.

Highway Department.

The sum of $122,122.56 was spent in 1912 for the maintenance of highways, not including the amount of $18,998.87 spent for the construction and repair of sidewalks and $37,641.22 for laying dust. Reference may be made to the report of the Superintendent of Streets for a detailed statement of the purposes for which this money was spent. The Selectmen have given much time and consideration to the question of street surfaces and the problems in connection therewith. Several hearings have been held at which citizens interested in the subject appeared and stated their views. It is very difficult to keep a road in a suitable condition for both automobiles and horse-drawn vehicles. In view of the great amount of traffic over most of the roads in Brookline, it is a difficult matter to keep them in perfect condition. A road which is frequented by automobiles is likely to become too hard for horses, and we hear at once from the owners of horse-drawn vehicles; or if such a road becomes slippery, complaints of its condition are made, and sand is put on to alleviate the slippery condition—and then complaints are received immediately on account of the dust. Most of our streets are too narrow to permit of two roadways, one for horses and one for automobiles. The Superintendent of Streets has a difficult problem before him, but when all things are considered, our streets in Brookline compare favorably with those in any other municipality in the vicinity.

No contracts were made with the owners of watering carts on account of the general use of oil, but as many as were needed during the season were hired by the day. The dust problem is well under control in Brookline and our citizens are little annoyed by dust except in the cold weather while the ground is frozen, when it is too cold for water. Even a street treated with oil will grind up and the dust will blow from it at that season.

Reference is made to the report of the Superintendent of Streets and to that of the Town Engineer for information as to the laying out and construction of streets during the year, together with statement of damages assessed.

Street Lighting.

The appropriation for street lighting in 1912 was $57,000.00, of which $54,844.38 was spent. An item of two thousand dollars has been added to the appropriation for 1913 for extra lights. It is planned to install in the business sections of the town, namely, the Village and Coolidge Corner, a new kind of an arc light. The lights will be closer together and more brilliant than those in use at the present time, and the Board believes that this will be appreciated by our local merchants and business men.

Police Department.

The appropriation recommended for the coming year provides for one additional day route and one additional night route. The proposed new day route lies between Boylston street and Davis avenue, Washington street and Cypress street; and the proposed new night route is between Pleasant and Amory streets, Beacon street and Commonwealth avenue.

These will require three additional patrolmen. The appropriation also provides for two more patrolmen, making five in all. The automobile traffic on Beacon street has increased to such an extent that protection is needed at some of the cross streets. It is proposed to keep an officer at the point where Carlton street crosses Beacon street or at other cross streets in that vicinity during the periods when the traffic is the heaviest, and also to keep an officer at or near Washington Square for the same purpose.

The new cells for the detention of women in the police station were not constructed during last year, and the money designated for them was not used and lapsed at the end of the year. An item of $1,500.00 has been included in this year's appropriation for the same purpose. The cells have been constructed.

The men of the Department all performed much extra service at the time of the strike in the Boston Elevated Railway system and good order was maintained in the town during it.

Building Department.

The new Building Law passed at the last annual town meeting last year and ratified by a referendum was approved by the Attorney-General in August, 1912, and went into effect after being duly advertised.

A civil service examination was held on January 15, 1913, to establish a list for the position of tenement house inspector. The result has not yet been announced and therefore no appointment for this position has been made by the Board of Health. The inspection of new buildings, especially of the brick and mortar used in those of second-class construction, has been very strict and thorough, with the result that no inferior material gets into such buildings. The Department has an inspector who gives practically his whole attention to this class of work. It is well known in the town that the inspection of plumbing is thorough, and that the plumbing laws are strictly observed.

Sewers and Drains.

The report of the Town Engineer contains full information as to the sewers and surface water drains constructed during the year. The sum of $25,000.00 was appropriated for the construction of sewers and of this $13,084.82 was spent. The balance of $11,915.18 will be carried forward as a special appropriation, as the town voted to borrow the money and in addition the sum of $8,000.00 is included in this year's annual appropriation. The sum of $18,150.42 was spent out of the appropriation of $25,000.00 for the construction of surface water drains. The balance of $6,849.58 will be carried forward as a special appropriation for the same reason as in the case of the sewer appropriation and an additional amount of $12,000.00 is included in this year's annual appropriations for the same purpose.

Garage and Automobiles.

The Selectmen think that it is wiser and more practical to have the expense of maintaining the garage leased by the town and the automobiles under one account, and therefore an item is included in the annual appropriation for this purpose. The expense is taken out of the appropriations of the various departments, except the Fire Department, which are now supplied with cars. The Board has recommended fourteen thousand five hundred ($14,500.00) for 1913 for this maintenance.

In the purchase of new cars in the future and in the replacement of the old ones, the Board recommends that cars of a standard make, not to exceed seven hundred and fifty dollars in price, be bought instead of more expensive ones, such as have been purchased in the past. And they further recommend that these less expensive cars be traded in each year for new ones of the same make. By this method the Board believes that the town will maintain these cars at a high state of efficiency and on an economical basis.

Playground Supervision.

The report of the Playground Commission appointed to carry on the work of supervising play on the playgrounds in the town will be found in the Reprint of the Report of the Gymnasium and Baths Committee. Supervision was confined to selected playgrounds and much active work was accomplished. An appropriation of $5,000.00 is recommended by the Commission, and for the sake of convenience a statement of the purposes for which it is to be used is shown here. In addition the sum of $2,500.00 has been included in the appropriation for the Park Department for new apparatus.

Exterior Repairs and Alterations of Town Buildings.

A large amount of work has been done on the exterior of town buildings during the past year, which was commented upon in the Selectmen's Report on the Articles for the special town meeting held on December 30th last. It is believed that the tower of the High School should be re-pointed this year and some of the school buildings should be painted. Apart from this there is not much extraordinary work to be done on the town buildings and the appropriation will be used for ordinary repairs as they are needed. An appropriation of $8,000.00 is recommended.

Reference is made to the Accountant's report for a detailed statement of repairs made during the past year and for information as to how the appropriation, amounting to $9,200.00 was spent.

Suits Against the Town.

The Institution for Savings in Newburyport vs. Brookline; Edward J. Clark vs. Brookline. These cases were tried before a jury and verdicts were given for the petitioners, in the first case for $2,329.68, and in the second case for $1,658.40. The Court ordered a reduction in both of the verdicts, which the petitioners refused, and therefore the verdicts were set aside and the cases are pending for another trial.

Frances A. Kerr vs. J. A. Curtin et al.; Vernon C. Kerr vs. Same. As has been stated in previous reports, the plaintiff, Frances A. Kerr, was injured by the discharge of a rocket at the fireworks exhibition on the Fourth of July, 1908. She and her husband sued the town, and the Supreme Judicial Court held that there was no liability on the part of the town. Since then both plaintiffs have brought new suits against John A. Curtin, Philip S. Parker and Edward A. McEttrick, who arranged the program for the celebration of that year. Considerable skirmishing has been done, but no definite action has yet been taken. The cases will probably be referred to an auditor at the request of the plaintiffs' counsel, together with other cases more or less connected with the subject matter of the suits.

Holyhood Cemetery Association vs. Brookline. This case arises out of the taking for the location of the Saw Mill Brook Valley sewer, being a petition for damages for land taken from the petitioner and damages to its remaining land. The award of damages by the town was $1,100.00. The case was tried before a jury in the early part of the year. The award of the town was made on the theory that evidence that the land was specially adapted for cemetery purposes was not admissible and that there was no damage to the remaining land. The petitioner claimed that such evidence was admissible and that the damages amounted to about $41,000.00, including the damage to its remaining land. The presiding judge required the jury to bring in three verdicts, one on the theory that evidence of the adaptability of the land for cemetery purposes was admissible, one on the theory that it was not, and one for damages to remaining land. The jury brought in a verdict of $3,857.35 if such evidence was admissible and $528.37 if it was not admissible, which was less than the award, and that there was no damage to remaining land. The case is now being prepared for the Supreme Judicial Court on report for a decision as to which of these verdicts shall stand.

Sarah M. Cantwell vs. Brookline. The petition for damages for the establishment of a building line on St. Paul street is still pending in the Superior Court for trial, no action having been taken since our last report.

Joseph A. Gahm vs. Brookline; Joseph A. Gahm vs. George H. Worthley et al. As stated in our last report, the first of these cases was an action of contract to recover back taxes for the year 1910, paid to the town under protest, on the ground that the plaintiff was not a resident of Brookline. The second suit is an action of tort for false arrest, based on the same contention. Both cases are pending for trial in the Suffolk Superior Court. Cases involving the same issue have been brought by Joseph A. Gahm against the town to recover back 1911 taxes paid under protest, and by Joseph A. Gahm et al., Trustees under the will of Joseph Gahm, to recover back 1910 and 1911 taxes paid under protest. These are also pending for trial.

James Comerford vs. Brookline. This petition for land damages, incurred on account of the laying out of Crafts road, is still pending for trial.

Mary H. Hargraves vs. Brookline. This petition for land damages, incurred on account of the widening at the corner of Cypress street and Washington street, is pending for trial.

Carrie Whitney vs. Brookline. Nothing has been done in this case since our last report. It is an action of tort, the plaintiff claiming that she was injured on account of an alleged defect in the sidewalk on Harvard street. The case is pending for trial before a jury in the Norfolk Superior Court.

Moses Williams et al., Trustees of Boston Personal Property Trust, vs. Brookline. This is an appeal from the refusal of the assessors to abate a tax, the petitioners claiming that the trust property is not taxable in Brookline, it having been fully taxed in Boston. The petition has been argued before the full bench of the Supreme Judicial Court and is at present under advisement.

Charles H. W. Foster et al., Trustees of the General Investment Trust, vs. Brookline. This case is similar to the last and is also under advisement by the full bench.

Margaret T. Kinnon vs. Brookline. This is an action of tort, the plaintiff claiming that she was injured because of an alleged defect in Morss avenue. It is pending for trial before a jury in the Norfolk Superior Court.

Margaret J. McInerney vs. Brookline. This is an action of tort brought in the Norfolk Superior Court, the plaintiff claiming she was injured because of an alleged defect in Dunster Road. The writ is returnable on the first Monday of March, 1913.

Grace W. Rives vs. Brookline; Same vs. Same; David Sears et al. vs. Same; Same vs. Same; Francis I. Amory et al., Trustees, vs. Same; Same vs. Same. These six suits arise out of the laying out of the extension of Freeman street and the establishment of building lines thereon. They are all claims for damages and are pending for trial before a jury in the Norfolk Superior Court.

Violet D. Bird vs. Brookline. This case also arises out of the laying out of the extension of Freeman street and is pending for trial before a jury in the Norfolk Superior Court.

Loren D. Towle vs. Brookline. This petition was brought for damages on account of the establishment of the building line on Pleasant street, and it is pending for trial before a jury in the Norfolk Superior Court.

Jacob W. Pierce vs. Brookline; Same vs. Same. These petitions were brought to recover damages for land taken for the laying out of Ackers avenue and for the establishment of building lines thereon. They are pending for trial before a jury in the Norfolk Superior Court.

Jacob W. Pierce vs. Brookline. This is also a petition for damages for land taken for the laying out of Eliot street and is pending for trial before a jury in the Norfolk Superior Court.

Walter Channing et al. vs. Brookline. This petition was brought for damages arising out of the laying out of Eliot street and is pending for trial before a jury in the Norfolk Superior Court.

Sarah E. M. Guild vs. Brookline. This petition is brought for damages arising out of the widening of Boylston street and is pending for trial before a jury in the Norfolk Superior Court.

Elizabeth B. Hill vs. Brookline. This is also a petition arising out of the widening of Boylston street, and is returnable in the Norfolk Superior Court on the first Monday of March, 1913.

Annie L. Crocker vs. Brookline. This is also a petition arising out of the widening of Boylston street, and is returnable in the Norfolk Superior Court on the first Monday of March, 1913.

Cases Settled and Disposed of.

John G. Wright vs. Brookline; John G. Wright et al. vs. Same. These were cases in which a revision of certain sewer assessments varying in amounts from about $200.00 to $1,100.00 was sought upon the ground that the assessments were excessive, disproportionate and unconstitutional. The cases were settled by payments to the town of the assessments in full.

Francis C. Welch et al., Executors and Trustees, vs. Brookline et al. Since our last report the Supreme Court decided this case against the town, and it had to pay back the taxes which the petitioners sought to recover and part of the interest on the same. The total amount paid by the town was $32,596.37.

Tirazah H. Arnold vs. Brookline; Same vs. Same. These suits were brought for land damages on account of the laying out of the extension of White Place and of the extension of Walnut Path and the construction of the bridge over the railroad. In the first case the town awarded $3,700.00 as damages and in the second case $775.00. The petitioner claimed about $15,000.00. The cases have been settled. The first case was settled by the payment of the award and interest and costs and the cost of fencing, which was not originally included, but to which the petitioner was legally entitled, the total amounting to $4,800.00. The second case was settled for the amount of the award, interest and costs, amounting to $900.00. Executions for the same were issued and will be returned to court fully satisfied.

The Hugh Nawn Contracting Company vs. Brookline. This case was brought to recover the balance on a contract held back by the town to pay for injuries done by the plaintiff's steam roller. Counsel advised the town that it could not legally hold back the balance, and the case was disposed of by paying the amount due to the plaintiff, amounting to $307.71.

The claim of Emery B. Gibbs et al., Executors under the will of Mary A. Matthews, for damages in connection with the widening of Cypress street at the corner of Washington street was settled for the sum of $525.00, the original award of the town being $475.00.

The claim of Thomas F. McMahon for damages to his property on account of the laying out of Walnut Path Extension and the building of the bridge was settled for $500.00.

The claim of Annie L. Robertson for damages in connection with the laying out of the extension of Freeman street was settled for $200.00, the award of the town to her having been $100.00. Sufficient allowance had not been made for grading and the changing of steps.

The claims of Maud S. Glover and her husband, Edmund T. Glover, were settled by a payment of $300.00. Mrs. Glover was injured by slipping on an accumulation of ice near the corner of Winthrop and Addington Roads, the accumulation being caused by circumstances which indicated liability on the part of the town.

Boylston Street Claims.

Awards for damages formally made by the town in the laying out or alteration of highways should not be increased by the Selectmen. The latter, however, are authorized by by-law to settle claims which in their opinion cannot be successfully defended in the courts. In most cases where claims are made for more than awards it has been the policy of the Board to require suits to be brought. The same policy has required that such suits be tried, or if settlements are made that they be effected upon the advice of counsel after thoroughly weighing all the merits of the claims. Under some circumstances, however, the Board is justified in settling claims before suit is brought, but after they are made in writing and filed with the records of the Board. Sufficient circumstances existed in connection with the claims for damages on account of the widening of Boylston street where buildings were involved to justify settlements without suits. It was for the interest of the town to have the buildings cut off or moved back as quickly as possible; also in making the awards there were many matters connected with the interior alterations of buildings, which could not be anticipated when the awards were made. Many facts came to light in connection with the moving of buildings, and damages to them, which could not be foreseen. After thoroughly examining the merits of the following cases, and acting in the majority of them upon the advice of counsel, they were settled for the amounts indicated, which in most instances were not as much as the amounts claimed:—

Owners	Awards	Settled for

In the above settlement with Mary G. O'Day et al. a small piece of land was purchased in the rear for her at a cost of about $132.00.

Settlement was made with Hannah K. Marston by the purchase by the town of the whole of her estate for $5,000, it adjoining the Lincoln School grounds. Of this amount $1,500.00 was paid from the Boylston street appropriation, that being the amount of the award, and $3,500.00 by the Park Commissioners out of the Playground appropriation.

Suits have been brought by Sarah E. M. Guild, Elizabeth B. Hill, and Annie L. Crocker, which are pending. Sixteen owners took the awards as they were made. There are five cases in which the awards have not been accepted, but in which no action has been taken.

The police signal system continues to give very satisfactory service. Every officer during his tour of patrol duty is required to report to the police station from the several boxes on their respective routes as often as once an hour, and on some routes more frequently.

Increase of Force.

I beg to recommend the appointment of five additional patrolmen for the following purposes:—To establish a new day route to include all territory between Boylston street and Davis avenue from Washington street to Cypress street, also one new night route between Pleasant street and Amory street from Beacon street to Commonwealth avenue, these two routes would require three patrolmen.

There have been many requests for patrolmen to be stationed on Beacon street at certain intersecting streets to regulate traffic and I recommend that two additional patrolmen be appointed to allow for detailing a patrolman at Carlton street and one at Washington street.

Should these recommendations meet with your approval an additional appropriation of $3,062.50 will be necessary from May 1st. for the remainder of the year.

Miscellaneous.

Work on the cells for women prisoners, for the construction of which an appropriation was made in 1912, was not begun until late in the year and has not as yet been completed. An appropriation of $1,500.00 in payment for this work will be necessary the current year.

The automobile ambulance has responded to 168 calls and run a distance of 1510 miles.

During the summer five houses temporarily unoccupied were entered by thieves and a small amount of property stolen. Four men who were implicated in this work were arrested and are now serving sentences therefor; most of the property stolen was recovered.

Since October several houses have been entered during the early evening and considerable property stolen. This work was evidently done by expert thieves who have operated extensively in neighboring cities and towns; a determined effort has been made to apprehend these men but no reliable information as to their identity has so far been obtained.

The discipline of the force has in the main been good; one patrolman resigned and two were fined for violating the Rules.

Many hours of extra duty have been performed during the year, particularly during the strike on the Boston Elevated Railroad.

I commend to your special attention the excellent work of Patrolmen Patrick J. Brogan and James J. Donovan in capturing a notorious burglar early on the morning of May 21st, who had broken and entered two dwelling houses during the night.

My thanks are due, and are hereby tendered, to the committee on police for valuable advice and assistance rendered, also I desire to tender to the officers and patrolmen of the department my profound appreciation for their loyal co-operation.

Respectfully,

ALONZO W. COREY,

Chief of Police.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
FIRE COMMISSIONER OF
MASSACHUSETTS

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31

BOSTON
E. L. GRIMES COMPANY, PRINTERS, 122 PEARL STREET

REPORT

January 11, 1913.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen, Brookline, Mass.:—

Gentlemen,—I herewith submit the Annual Report of the Fire Department for the year ending December 31, 1912.

There has been quite a decrease in the number of alarms during the year, and the fire losses have been comparatively small as we have had no serious fires.

W. J. Stanford, who was injured at a fire in the early part of the year, has been retired and pensioned.

The Stations are in fair repair with the exception of Station D, and the same conditions exist as reported previously. The horses are in good condition. Some will have to be replaced during the coming year.

The apparatus is in good condition and will require only the ordinary repairs.

The Chief's Auto and Combination A have proved a success, quick to respond to alarms of fire, and small expense of operation. The Chief's Auto was placed in commission November 2, 1909, and has been in service ever since except for a short period when it was being painted. The machine has responded to alarms of fire, been used on inspection and general work of the Department, and has been driven 6671 miles to December 31, 1912, the cost of operation of same $967.42.

Combination A was put in commission February 18, 1910, and to December 31, 1912, has responded to 407 alarms, has been operated 1695 miles, has failed to reach the fire twice, but has never failed to start. The cost of operating this machine for the above period, gasoline, tires, repairs and sundries has been $735.67, which would not much more than pay the expense for one year if drawn by horses.

Motor apparatus has proven such a success that I would recommend the purchase of a motor-driven Ladder Truck and motor-driven Triple Combination to replace the horse-drawn No. 2 Ladder Truck and No. 2 Hose Wagon, which would give better ladder service in the remote parts of the Town, and by the installation of the Triple Combination would reinforce the Department with a pumping engine, with no additional expense of maintenance.

The expenditure to make this change will be between eighteen thousand and twenty-two thousand dollars, according to the kind of Ladder Truck purchased, and whether gasoline or electrically propelled. If this apparatus is installed at Headquarters one of the most important problems relative to Station B will have been solved, as the necessity of a rear entrance to the building will be obviated.

15Arc Lights.

Four new lights were added during the year as follows:—
Three on Goddard avenue, between Avon street and Newton street; one on Washington street, near Station street.

It has been suggested that more lights be added on Washington street, between Cypress street and Beacon street, and on Bacon street at Coolidge Corner.

The latter could not be installed without taking up the stone paving, except in one place, which is at the east end of the southerly island.

Your Committee on Lights thought it would be well to install one arc light on Heath street, opposite Warren and one on Warren street, midway between Heath street and Clyde street, with one or more gas lights between each.

Harvard street is very poorly lighted between Kent street and Beacon street and should have more lights.

I would suggest that one arc light be placed on Harvard street between Kent street and Linden street, one between Linden street and Aspinwall avenue, one near Howard avenue, and one at the corner of Webster street and Howard street.

I would suggest that this be considered, so that any work of placing existing wires underground through Harvard street the company could arrange to run pipes to the different locations.

Tungsten Lights.

Four tungsten lights were added during the year. One on Walnut Path bridge and three on Salisbury road.

Two were added on Salisbury Road the latter part of December but were not lighted until January 1, 1913.

I would recommend that four tungsten lamps be installed in the alleyways between Hawes street and St. Mary's street to take the place of the present naphtha lamps. Also one on the alleyway off Carlton street between Ivy street and Euston street.

Welsbach Gas Lamps.

Forty-four gas lamps were connected during the year, eight of them replacing naphtha lights.

Heath street from Woodland road to the town line was very poorly lighted, these few lights having been in for many years. Improvements were made on the street and gas mains run through. With new houses being built your committee thought it best to add more lights. A petition was received asking that the number of lights be increased, one on Westbourne Terrace and three were added, and the locations of some of the others were changed.

A new gas main was laid in Dudley street and five gas lights were installed in place of three naphtha.

With the exception of Russell street, University road extension and Euston street, the other streets were for single lights.

Welsbach Naphtha.

No new naphtha lights were added. One light was discontinued on Walcott road temporarily and was lighted again on November 8.

Fifteen naphtha lights were discontinued during the year.

Gas mains were run through the streets where these were located and were changed to gas, with the exception of Goddard avenue, where three Magnetite arc lights were put up.

High Pressure Gas.

Great care has been given these lights throughout the year, which is shown by the comparatively small number of hours out, being sixty-nine hours and twenty-minutes for the entire year. January and February were very trying months, the reports received were for twenty-four hours out during that time.

Low Pressure Gas.

The low pressure has not been reported out during the year.

Fire Alarm.

This has been another fortunate year for this branch of the department, as the fire alarm wires were broken but three times. One was caused by ice in the pipe at a pole connection, one by the N. E. Telephone Company employees in a manhole and one by a defective joint in wire.

Most of the work this year comes under the heading of underground. Where the wires were placed in conduits the overhead cables were removed.

Several boxes were changed to new locations to meet conditions of underground work.

A new fire box, No. 22, was installed in the corridor of the Town Hall. This is the same as is used in the street, with keyless door.

Three new boxes were added this year: May 22, No. 322, on Beacon street, opposite Winchester street. June 11, No. 481 was connected on Pleasant street, corner of Dwight street. June 27, No. 482 was connected on Pleasant street, opposite Adams street.

Police Signal.

The signal service has given good service during the year, interruptions from broken wires were few. One occurred on Harvard street which discontinued the use of six boxes for a short time.

May 28 a new police box, No. 145, located at Hammond street and Newton street was connected for service.

A new time stamp was purchased for the police desk.

Six new batteries, type C. 5, were purchased and added to the circuits controlling the repeater register and time stamp.

Fire Alarm and Police Telegraph (Underground).

During the year of 1911 the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. started to lay conduits and build manholes in many of the streets as recommended.

This work was not finished until 1912.

During the past year the work of placing the fire alarm and police signal wires underground was finished, and all boxes were removed from wood poles and connected to the iron posts.

The overhead cables were removed and the greater part was used in Hammond street from Boylston to Newton street to connect the new police box.

April 29 wires were run in Vernon street from Harvard street to Park street, box 32 changed from the wood pole to the underground iron post.

May 2, the fire alarm and police wires were run in Winthrop road and both boxes changed to the iron posts.

May 14, the wires for police and fire were placed in the ducts from Walnut street to Franklin street. Fire box 14 was changed from the wood pole on the southerly side of Kendall street to the northerly side and connected to the iron post.

A new entrance to the town stable was made from the underground so the wires are not conspicuous from the street. A short piece of underground work was put in Franklin street from Cypress to Chestnut street and across Cypress street to the car stable and all wires are now underground at this point.

May 21, wires were extended in Beacon street, Winchester and Williams streets; box No. 316 was removed from the wood pole and connected to the iron post.

June 7, wires were run on Warren street from Boylston to Cottage street, box No. 161 was changed from the wood pole south of Dudley street to the new iron post at the corner of Dudley street, near the manhole.

The boxes were not changed at Cottage street until August 5.

The Park Commissioners did not care to have so many posts in the triangle, and the property owners preferred not to have them on the side of the street. A post was finally purchased to which both boxes could be attached, which was very satisfactory to the abutters.

June 11, wires were run from Harvard street to Pleasant street and Dwight street, and fire box No. 481 was connected.

June 12, the conduits were placed in Freeman street from St. Paul street to Amory street and wires were run through to connect with the cables on the pole for boxes on Essex street.

June 27, wires were placed in the conduits in Pleasant street from Dwight street to Adams street and fire box No. 482 was connected.

August 13, as the conduits on Heath street and Warren street were finished the wires were run through to connect the boxes and the overhead cable at Clyde street. The location of these boxes were changed from the triangle to the side of the street, both boxes were connected to the iron posts.

December 6, wires were placed in conduits on the private property known as Essex street, which extends from Ivy street to Hall's Pond as the owner, ordered the poles and wires removed.

The total amount of wire used for new work for fire alarm was 15701 feet and for police signal 10038.

The old wire running from Monmouth street through Carlton street, Beacon street, St. Mary's street to Fire Station C was removed and new wire pulled in.

The wire removed was some of the first that was used for underground work, having been in use for nearly ten years.

New wire was used in other sections of the town replacing old.

The total amount of wire used for fire alarm was 4,668 feet and for police signal 3,543 feet.

I would recommend that three miles of fire alarm and three miles of police signal wire be purchased this year and the order placed as early as possible.

Overhead Wires and Poles.

The poles on Clyde street, Newton street, Grove street and South street were in very poor condition, about thirty-three were replaced by new, while others were cut off and reset.

This made it necessary for the cable for fire alarm and police signal wires to be changed. New arms were used, as the old ones were so much decayed they were unsafe.

Both the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company have replaced old poles with new wherever thought to be unsafe. Two poles have broken off during storms, no serious trouble occurred, as the wires held them up.

Underground Work by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company.

The work of placing the wires underground on Harvard street has not been finished. Part of the cables have been installed and tested. This work should be finished at once, as the overhead construction is not safe. The poles are badly decayed, two having broken off and were replaced by new poles during the month of December and there are about fourteen others which are in the same condition.

The wires are pulling in against the trees and burning them badly, one large limb was burned off of the large elm nearly opposite Beals street.

The company were requested to place conduits and manholes in Boylston street between Cypress street and High street. After this had been arranged for, it was decided to do only half of this work during 1912.

A request was sent asking that conduits and manholes be placed on Eliot street from Boylston street to Dean road. As the work on the street was stopped for the winter, the company did only half, that part between Ackers avenue and Dean road.

Petitions from the company asking for permission to install conduits in thirty-eight other streets have been received during the year, the longest distance was about three hundred feet, all of which was for the purpose of entering business buildings or dwelling houses.

New England Telephone & Telegraph Company (Underground).

The work planned in 1911 was finished this past year with a few additional streets. Franklin street from Cypress to Chestnut street, Kilsyth road from near Beacon to Salisbury road, Williston road from Salisbury road and Evans road from Williston road.

The widening of Boylston street changed the grade, making it necessary for the company to abandon the old locations and they were given a new location from the Lincoln School to Cypress street. This work was finished on December 31, 1912.

The summary of work of conduits, manholes, house and pole connections, and cables placed during the year is as follows:—

Poles.

Application from the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for locations for six poles on Ackers avenue was received, but this request was not granted.

The location of one pole on Woodland road was changed upon request of abutters; two poles for the company, one where a new street was opened into Pleasant street.

Attachments to Poles.

The New England Telephone & Telegraph Company petitioned for permission to attach their wires to ten poles of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company.

The Edison Electric Illuminating Company have sent petitions asking for permission to attach to seventeen poles of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company.

Aerial Cables.

Request was received from the Telephone & Telegraph Company to change the size of cable on Clyde street from Warren street, near the Country Club.

Cable was removed from poles on Freeman street and replaced by underground.

Interior Wiring of Buildings.

The number of notices received for wiring this year was 998, showing a slight decrease of the previous year.

The Number of Lights Connected Was Increased.

Careful inspection has been given all work reported installed and some work has been found for which no notice had been sent, and the parties did not intend doing so, other places have been called to my attention but the parties complaining would not give any further information.

Inspection of Gas Piping and Gas Fixtures.

This work has been increased this past year and has required much attention. There were one or two cases where the contractor thought that work, such as he did in other places, would pass here, and where we found a direct violation of the law the changes were made.

Superintendent of Wires and Lights.

Sewers and Drains.

In the appended table is given the sewers and drains built during the year.

The most important work has been the building of the sewer and drain in the valley east of Clyde street, in the location of Lee street, the building of which has been deferred by agreement with the abutting land owners. It will furnish drainage to a district some 300 acres in extent, a considerable part of which is wet and swampy and therefore much in need of surface drainage. Sewerage is also much needed and the demand for it is likely to be increased judging from the recent improvements.

For the present the surface water from the district will discharge into the open water course in Reservoir Park, but it is probable that the time has come to study the question of the permanent disposition of it. The question of lateral sewers in Clyde street, and in some of the proposed streets between Clyde street and Lee street should be studied forthwith and some of the work done during the coming season.

The following is a list of sewer and drain connections inspected during the year:

Electric conduit manholes	14
Connections with drains	59
Connections with sewers	177
Total	250

The practice has been followed of inspecting the complete drain or sewer connection, as the case may be, and of seeing that the private sewers and drains are connected with the corresponding public ones. The importance of this is evident when it is known that the sewage is discharged well down in Boston Harbor, while the storm water is discharged either into Muddy River or Charles River. While the sending of some extra storm water into Boston Harbor would not be a menace to health, the effect of sewage in the Parkway, especially during the season of small flow, should be avoided at any cost, and once done would be very difficult to locate its origin.

The inspectors must be familiar with our plans and be willing to follow up every individual case until he knows that it has been treated properly.

Streets and Ways.

Construction work has been in progress on all the streets accepted at the last annual town meeting, excepting in the case of Lee street, leading from Warren street to Clyde street, the building of which was deferred for four years by agreement with the abutting property owners.

Hurd road, extending from Linden Place to Brook street, was graded, curbstones set, and surfaced with macadam 8 inches in thickness with a wearing coat of tarite asphalt. The sewer in the private way was converted into a surface water drain, all the drainage diverted from the surface water drain into a new sewer, a new gas main laid, and as all the abutting property is improved excepting that on the westerly side, there should be very little occasion to disturb the street surface for a long time. The estimated cost was $2,500 and the actual cost $2,879.49.

In the case of the part of Freeman street laid out at this time, extending from Pleasant street to Amory street, all the usual underground structures have been laid, the superfluous trees and a considerable number of dead ones removed, the permanent walks replaced so far as they were disturbed, and the wall opposite the land of Grace W. Rives set back on the new street line. The road has been surfaced with tarite asphalt macadam. The estimated cost was $6,500, and the actual cost $6,771.68.

Ackers avenue, leading from Chestnut Hill avenue to Elliot street.—The sewer and surface water, drain water and gas mains have been laid throughout, and the street surfaced with tarite asphalt macadam. The estimated cost was $4,400, and the actual cost $4,201.19.

Eliot street between Boylston street and Dean road.—Contracts for a sewer and surface water drain were placed early in the season, and since they were completed the street location has been practically worked to sub-grade. Since that work was done, water and gas mains have been laid and arrangements have been made to lay ducts for telephone and the Edison Electric Light Service; a part of the latter has already been laid, and both, it is expected, will be completed in the early spring.

Stone for the Telford macadam base, and most of the paving blocks for the gutter on the northerly side of the street have been delivered from the Boylston street work, and it is expected that they will be used in the spring. Although laid out of a width of 80 feet, it is thought that the full width will not be needed until the street is extended to Cleveland Circle. present time it is only being graded to a width of 42 feet. The cost has been $8,659.37 and the estimated cost of $20,000 will probably be sufficient to complete the work.

Boylston street was widened to 80 feet between High street and Cypress street, and the plan adopted provides for a walk 11 feet wide on the southerly side, one 15 feet wide on the northerly side, and a roadway 54 feet wide, including the double car track location along its axis line. The plan also provides for a sewer, a surface water drain, gas and a telephone duct under the southerly walk, and a sewer, surface water drain, gas and an Edison Electric Illuminating Co. duct under the northerly walk, with several cross-overs to the southerly walk. In both cases the water pipe has been laid 4 feet outside of the curbing, and a contract made for paving the road bed with Hassam granite blocks.

In the laying out, the entire widening was on the northerly side from High street to Walnut path, and on the southerly side from Cypress street to the easterly end of Cameron street. This was done in order to make the best possible connection with Village square at the easterly end, and with the part of Boylston street west of Cypress street, which has already been widened to 75 feet. In the matter of land damages also, this plan was much less injurious to property than any other. As the street was practically straight before the widening took place, a reverse curve was introduced into the plan between Walnut path and Cameron street, which has worked out well in construction.

By the terms of the laying out, private property could not be entered upon until July 1st, but early in the season contracts were made for such portions of the underground work as were to remain permanently within the limits of the old street. Since July 1st work has been in progress as rapidly as possible considering the large number of private interests which had to be considered.

In the course of the widening, the various buildings affected have either been cut off, set back, destroyed, otherwise adapted to the new grade as appears in the following table:

Buildings cut off	7
Buildings moved back	19
Buildings destroyed	4
Buildings raised only	4

At the date of this report, one building only remains to be raised. All the underground work beneath the southerly walk has been laid, also all of that beneath the northerly one from Cypress street to Walnut path. It has been necessary to delay the laying of the gas main and the electric conduit between Walnut path and High street under the northerly walk, because the filling of the cellars has been done too recently to render it safe to do so.

The rock excavation west of the Lincoln Primary School is nearly finished, and the stone from it either has been delivered at Eliot street, where it will be used for street surfacing, or at the Lincoln Primary School, where it will be used for the wall along the railroad which has been authorized by the town.

The entire southerly roadway has been paved, excepting about 300 feet opposite the ledge and the northerly roadway from Cypress street to Walnut path, curbstone has been laid so far as the roadway has been paved, and the walks graded with 12 inches of cinders preparatory to laying a brick pavement in the spring. It has been decided to use brick for this paving in order to facilitate repairs and ease of replacing whenever the owners of the abutting property need access to either of the structures laid beneath the walk.

The cost of the construction work to date, exclusive of sewers, surface water drains and water mains, which have been paid for from other appropriations, has been $51,274.94. The estimated cost of $88,000 will doubtless be sufficient to finish the work.

During the year 80 granite monuments have been set, marking street lines and public property boundaries, and 29 reset because of changes in grade.

Bridges.

No repair work has been done and they are all in fairly good condition, excepting in the case of the coping on the southeasterly wing of the Dean road bridge of the B. & A. R.R. some 30 feet in length, which has been disturbed by the frost and should be relaid.

Parks.

A contract has been made for building about 335 feet of very substantial iron fencing, 5 feet in height, along the westerly boundaries of the Beacon street playground. The only work remaining to be done is a small amount of painting. A part of the fence would naturally cross a narrow tongue of land belonging to the Leyden Congregational Church, and projecting into the playground area. There has been much correspondence and discussion on the subject of the town acquiring this small area of about 300 square feet, but nothing has come of it.

The land on which the Longwood Tennis Courts have been graded had been filled with waste material containing a very large proportion of organic matter, care being taken to remove all perishable material. All of this filling, much of it, as much as 5 feet in depth, has been trenched over and the good material deposited in horizontal layers about 8 inches in thickness, and each layer well rolled with a steam roller. The balance of the filling needed has been mainly obtained from other public work and without cost to this appropriation. For drainage purposes the courts have been surfaced with about 12 inches of cinders. A contract has been made for an unusually heavy type of wire fencing and the work is about 80 per cent. completed. Three double courts are to be provided.

The walks and drives between the police station and the public library have been rearranged. The rear drive from the library and the Pierce Grammar School are connected with Prospect street instead of Washington street, as formerly, and a paved brick wall laid practically in the location of the old drive. This walk will be a great convenience to many people. A broken ashlar wall with North River stone coping has been built opposite the gap between the easterly entrance to the library and the police station.

About one-half the area of Mason square has been graded, the depth of loam increased, fertilized and seeded.

Revised plans have been made for a locker building on the Beacon street playground. The ground is much used during the summer for tennis, so much so, in fact, that every one of the four double courts are in constant use during good weather every weakday. The part of the ground on which the gymnastic apparatus is located is also popular. Baseball, football and coasting are each popular in their season, and this winter provision has been made for skating by spraying quite a large area. If the popularity of these sports at the Cypress street playground is any criterion, an attendance of at least five hundred, or possibly a thousand, may be expected in good weather. Notwithstanding the great popularity of this playground for the purposes for which it was designed, no provision whatever has been made for a locker building, which should contain facilities for checking outer clothing, dressing rooms for changing same and toilet conveniences. In the plans, space is provided for lockers but none are included in the cost of the building designed. An approximate estimate of the cost of the building is $7,500.

A locker building should be provided at the Longwood Tennis Courts in the near future, but in my judgment it is less urgent than at the Beacon street playground, for the reason that the adjoining playground is much smaller and much less likely to attract a large number of children.

Miscellaneous.

A Topographical Town Map on a scale of 400 feet to an inch has been published and it is expected that it will prove valuable in street laying out and drainage questions.

An inventory of the property of the town in the possession of this department is about being made.

Assistants.

The following is a list of assistants connected with the department: H. A. Varney, F. A. Leavitt, C. J. Wallace, G. S. Whitehead, E. L. Barrows, R. A. Doane, W. A. Devine, H. B. Collins, T. J. Moran, A. A. Osborn, S. C. Quinn, J. E. O'Neil, John Turner, J. W. King and M. A. Niver.

For further details of this expenditure reference is made to the reports of the Accountant and the Treasurer.

Two new wheels were bought for the Buffalo Steam Roller, bought in 1900. The original wheels for this roller lasted for seven years, and the next pair lasted for five years.

A part of the wall at the foot of the slope which separates the two roadways on Boylston street at Wright's Hill was rebuilt.

The tarvia surface on Longwood avenue, Winchester street and Aspinwall avenue, and the bitulithic surface on Harvard street, which were destroyed by the operations of the Boston Elevated Railway, the Telephone Company and the Gas Company in 1910-11 were restored, and bills for the cost have been sent to the various companies responsible for their condition.

Longwood avenue, from St. Paul street to Harvard street, Brookline avenue on the westerly side of the railway tracks, Walter avenue, Juniper street and Flora street have been resurfaced, tarvia X being used as a binder with very good results. Tarvia B was used for a flush coat and as a dust layer in School street, the easterly side of Brookline avenue and a part of Cypress street.

The oiled surface laid three years ago on Beacon street, from St. Mary's street to Essex street extended, proving inadequate for the enormous traffic, was removed and the material was used in resurfacing St. Mary's street, Monmouth street, Beech road and Sewall avenue from Kent street to St. Paul street. A new surface, two inches thick after consolidation, was laid on Beacon street, tarite and tarite asphalt being used in the work. The material has proved very satisfactory in other places, notably on Chestnut street, but whether it will be sufficient for the traffic on Beacon street remains to be seen. The present indications are that with another asphaltic flush coat early in the coming season it will meet our requirements. Similar work was done on the northerly roadway between Williston road and Winthrop road, and an additional flush coat is also needed here.

Webster street and Downing road were resurfaced with tarite asphalt, and the same material was used in the new construction on Hurd road, Freeman street and Ackers avenue, and for a flush coat on Davis avenue and a part of Cypress street.

Prospect street, from Washington street to Pierce street, Pierce street, Holden street and a part of Washington street, in front of the Police Station, were resurfaced with Pioneer asphalt for a binder. Excellent results are confidently expected on the first three mentioned streets, while on account of the heavy traffic the work on Washington street must be regarded as experimental.

In view of the constantly increasing use of automobiles, the use of these various bituminous preparations seems to be an absolute necessity, unless a much more expensive method of construction and maintenance is adopted. Where these materials have been used the roads have proved very satisfactory to the automobilists, but they are not so highly regarded by the drivers of horses, whose complaints of their hardness and slipperiness have been vigorous and persistent. On the untreated roads the fine covering is ground into dust and most of it is thrown off by the automobiles; what remains is washed off by the heavy showers of the summer season. The very heavy rain of July 18 last, for instance, one of the heaviest in the records of the Weather Bureau, washed the fine covering off the surface of almost every macadam road in the town. The bare stone of the macadam thus exposed becomes very slippery when treated with the lighter oils, which require no sand covering. The only remedy seems to be the plentiful use of plain sand on the tarred roads and on the oiled roads which have a good but slippery surface, and sand mixed with an asphaltic oil on the roads where the stone is exposed, and this method was largely followed during the past year. It must be remembered that the use of plain sand will necessarily result in an increase of the dust nuisance. The ideal surface for the combined automobile and horse drawn traffic has not yet been discovered, and except in very few instances our roads are not wide enough to afford a separate roadway for each class.

The use of very large and heavy motor trucks is rapidly increasing, and they are frequently driven at a dangerous speed. For the safety of the general public, as well as for the preservation of the roads, stringent measures for limiting the speed at which these trucks may be driven should be adopted immediately and be rigidly enforced. It would be well also to prohibit such reckless exhibitions of speed of the ordinary automobile as are seen daily on our streets.

Bridges.

No work of any considerable amount was necessary on the bridges this year. The iron fences on the Washington street railroad bridge are somewhat dilapidated, and apparently insecure, but a careful examination shows that they are sufficiently strong for the present. In the report of 1910 the Town Engineer called attention to the need of rebuilding this bridge. Unless this is done in the near future new fences should be provided.

During the year 1912 the following permits were issued:

Pensions.

Chapter 60 of the Acts of the Legislature for 1912 authorized the payment of an annuity of three hundred dollars, for a period not exceeding ten years, to the widow of Joseph W. Donovan, who lost his life in a sewer manhole August 13, 1910. Under this authority twenty-five dollars has been paid monthly to Mrs. Donovan, beginning in February, 1912.

Under the provisions of Chapter 447, Acts of 1912, one veteran of the Civil War was retired November 18, 1912.

Under the provisions of Chapter 503, Acts of 1912, one laborer being over sixty-five years of age, and employed in the Highway Department for a period exceeding twenty-five years, was retired December 9, 1912.

Traffic Census.

In June last a census traffic was taken at four principal points to ascertain the amount of travel on our roads and the relative proportions of horse-drawn and automobile traffic. The count was made at each place for six successive days, Sundays excepted, and continued from 8.00 A. M. to 6.00 P. M., a period of ten hours; it is to be regretted that a period of fourteen hours, from 7.00 A. M. to 9.00 P. M., was not adopted as the counts made by the Massachusetts Highway Commission, the Metropolitan and Boston Park Commissions and the City of Newton included these hours. The count was made separately for each two hours of each day, but only the averages for the six days are here given.

The largest number of automobiles was on Saturday, June 8, when 308 runabouts, 2253 touring cars and 139 commercial cars, a total of 2700; were counted on Beacon street, at Carl-ton street. On that day the horse-drawn vehicles at this station numbered 534, divided as follows: light one-horse vehicles, 134; heavy one-horse vehicles, 260; light two-horse vehicles, 11, and heavy two-horse vehicles 129, a total of 534 horse-drawn vehicles as against 2700 automobiles. The largest number counted on any day in the week at the same station was:

Wednesday—Single horse, light vehicles.....	164
Tuesday—Single horse, heavy vehicles.....	403
Friday—Two or more horses, light vehicles.....	33
Tuesday—Two or more horses, heavy vehicles.....	244
Saturday—Automobiles of all kinds.....	2,700
Tuesday—Electric cars	660

If similar counts are to be made hereafter it will be well to make them simultaneously on the principal roads, and preferably on the days when it is done in other places.

Paving Washington Square.

A special appropriation of $8500* was made for paving one side of Washington square and a part of Washington street immediately adjoining. Granite block paving, with cement grouting, was adopted, and the contract was awarded to the Simpson Bros. Corporation. The material excavated was used in surfacing Bartlett Crescent and Westbourne terrace. There is a balance unexpended of $564.92, which should be carried forward for extending the pavement easterly in Washington street so as to cover the car stop.

The roadways on either side of the car tracks in Washington street are only about fifteen feet wide; the gutters and eighteen inches outside the rails are paved with rather poor granite blocks, which reduces the width of the macadam to about 10.5 feet, on which most of the traffic is concentrated. With such traffic as that on Washington street it is impossible to keep these narrow roadways in good condition with ordinary macadam; a durable pavement of some sort is needed. In my opinion a wood block pavement would be the best, especially as the grade is so level. If, however, the objections to this pavement on account of slipperiness and cost are insuperable, granite blocks or bricks should be considered. If it shall be decided to lay any durable pavement all underground structures necessary for a term of years should first be laid, and connections with such structures should be carried in as far at least as the curbstone.

Building Lines.

Pleasant street. Building lines ten feet distant from and parallel to the present side lines of Pleasant street were adopted at the annual meeting.

New Streets and Street Widening.

Boylston street. An alteration and widening of Boylston street, between High street and Cypress street, to eighty feet, was accepted by the town at the annual meeting. Most of the work is being done by contract under the direction of the Town Engineer, to whose report reference is made for details.

Eliot street, from Boylston street to Dean road, was accepted as a public way at the annual meeting. The street is laid out eighty feet wide, but it is proposed to construct only forty-one feet on the easterly side, which will provide for a sidewalk eight feet wide, a tree planting space five feet wide, and a roadway twenty-eight feet wide. Most of the sub-grading is done, and there is sufficient stone on the ground, furnished from the Boylston street widening, for the foundation of the roadway. The work is under the direction of the Town Engineer.

Ackers avenue, from Chestnut Hill avenue to Eliot street, was accepted as a public way at the annual meeting. The street is forty feet wide, and was built by contract under the supervision of the Engineering Department. The street is finished with five-foot sidewalks, three-foot tree lawns, and a roadway twenty-four feet wide made with tarite asphalt. Building lines eight feet distant from and parallel to the side lines were established, all existing projections being allowed to remain.

Freeman street, from Pleasant street to Amory street, was accepted as a public way at the annual meeting. It is fifty feet wide, and was built by contract, with a macadam roadway treated with tarite asphalt. The work was in charge of the Engineering Department. Building lines ten feet from the side lines were established.

Hurd road, from Linden place to Brook street, was accepted as a public way at the annual meeting. It is thirty feet wide and was finished with edgestones and sidewalks five feet wide, and a twenty-foot roadway with tartite asphalt for a binder. A coal tar concrete sidewalk was laid on the easterly side. Building lines five feet from the side lines were established, from which existing projections were excepted.

Lee street, from Warren street to Clyde street, was accepted as a public way at the annual meeting. This street was laid out eighty feet in width, and the town has four years from the date of its acceptance in which to build it. Meanwhile a sewer and surface water drain, for both of which there is urgent need, are being constructed within the street location. Building lines ten feet from the side lines were established.

Russell street, from Harvard street to Columbia street, was accepted as a public way December 30, 1912, and $1800.00 was appropriated for its construction. The date of its acceptance is so recent no work has yet been done.

Laying Dust.

The amount appropriated at the annual meeting for watering streets and laying dust was $40,000, of which $37,641.22 was expended for the following:

Watering streets	$14,296.50
Calcium Chloride	4,787.69
Dustoline	4,478.07
Liquid Asphalt, Asphaltoilene, and Oiled sand.....	3,579.82
Tasscoil	2,135.98

Miscellaneous	35.10
Total	$37,641 22

No contracts were made with the owners of watering carts this year for street watering, oil being more generally used than ever before. Eighteen double teams were hired by the day in the early part of the season, and as fast as the oiling was extended one team after another was dropped, until in the autumn only ten were employed whenever needed.

Sidewalks.

In addition to a very considerable amount of resetting edgestones and repaving gutters in connection with the building and repair of sidewalks, the following was done:

New edgestones furnished and set (straight).....	1110 lin. feet
New edgestones furnished and set (circular).....	355 " "
Coal tar concrete laid (new).....	4544 sq. yds.
Coal tar concrete laid (renewals and repairs).....	5827 " "
Granolithic sidewalks laid	5319 " "
Brick sidewalks repaved.....	459 " "

The appropriation for sidewalks was $19,000.00, and the expenditure given in detail in the Accountant's and the Treasurer's reports was as follows:

Edgestones	$2,886.06
New coal tar concrete walks	3,308.66
Repairs and renewals of coal tar concrete.....	2,647.85
Gravel walks, grading, etc.....	1,268.64

Sundries	234.88

Care of Sewers.

The appropriation for the care and maintenance of sewers and drains was $6,000.00, and $4,576.26 was expended for the following purposes, viz.:

Cleaning catch-basins	$3,340.42
Cleaning and repairing sewers and surface water drains	231.53
Inspection of sewers	261.87
Rebuilding and repairing catch-basins and manholes....	175.70
New tools and repairs of equipment.....	308.45

Holidays:

Legal	$80.36
Half holidays. Saturdays, 4 months.....	177.93	258.29

Surface Drainage.

Practically all the work of constructing new drains and catch-basins, as well as sewers, is done by contract under the direction of the Town Engineer. Fourteen new catch-basins and connections were built by this department. Three culverts were rebuilt, and about 1,200 feet of underdrain were laid in Newton street.

Collecting Ashes and Waste Material.

The cost of collecting ashes and refuse matter was $30,987.06, which sum included $5,258.75 credited to the Highway Department for use of horses, and $971.30 paid for new equipment.

• The expenditure was for the following:

Collecting ashes	$16,602.99
Collecting paper and rubbish	9,424.53
Care of dumps and stripping loam.....	2,172.29
Cash paid for privilege of dumping.....	652.55
Repairs of equipment	167.30
New equipment, viz.:
One new horse	$300.00
One double sled	90.00
Six single sleds	360.00
Posts and paint	54.00
Holidays:
Legal	$675.47
Saturdays for four months.....	487.93
		<hr/>
		1,163.40
Total		$30,987.06

Twenty-four thousand one hundred and sixteen loads of ashes and 13,305 loads of paper and other waste were collected; last year the numbers were 22,603 and 12,012, respectively.

Your attention is called to the urgent need of securing other dumping places, or making other arrangements for disposing of the ashes and non-combustible waste. It was thought a year ago that the appropriation recommended for this work might prove insufficient, and it was only by availing ourselves of every possible opportunity to secure dumping places within reasonable hauling distance that we have been able to keep within the appropriation, and even to return an unexpended balance. Such a condition cannot be expected this year, however, as the places which we are now using will be completely filled within a few months.

I am still of the opinion that the use of an automobile truck for hauling the rubbish carts from the point of collection to the place of disposal would result in increased efficiency and probably in lessened cost, and I would suggest that this matter also receive early attention.

Sundries.

Sundry work, amounting to $536.72, was done, and the cost was charged to the various departments to which it belonged.

The inventory of property belonging to the department is filed with the Town Accountant.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL DRISCOLL,

Superintendent of Streets and Sewers.

REPORT OF BUILDING COMMISSIONER

Brookline, Mass., December 31, 1912.

To the Board of Selectmen, Brookline, Mass.:—

Gentlemen,—Enclosed please find report of the Building Department for the year ending December 31, 1912, a year of great activity in the building line, there having been permits issued for new work and alterations of an estimate value of $3,822,540, a far greater amount than was ever before issued for a single year in the history of this department.

I would say, however, that quite a number of permits were issued to people who evidently took them out to build under the Old Law, especially the wooden three deckers, which under the New Law have to be ten feet apart instead of six feet as previously, and must have roofs covered with fireproof material instead of wooden shingles.

Whether these permits, which are good for a year, will ever be used only time will tell.

The widening of Boylston street was the cause of a number of buildings being torn down, and many others moved back and repaired, so that they are in better condition than they had been for years.

The building of apartment houses increases annually, every year brings a large number of builders from Boston, who specialize in this class of buildings, who see a very lucrative field for their operations. It would seem as though the time was near when this would be very much overdone in spite of our very stringent laws which are being strictly enforced. The increased rent which these operators are able to get in Brookline over neighboring cities and towns seems to more than offset the greater cost of building here.

It was found necessary the first of the year to have assistance in the inspection department, and Arthur Finnegan, a man who had spent many years working at his trade, that of a mason, was appointed to the position. His work has been very efficient and thorough and he has been of great assistance, as he spends practically the whole of his time on the brick apartments with very gratifying results.

The material, especially brick, has been getting poorer each year owing to increased demand in Boston and suburbs, and I was compelled to issue an order that no more light, hard brick could be used in second class buildings, and this has been strictly carried out, only, however, with the most persistent inspection, and I will venture to say that not a half dozen loads have been used since the order was issued, although at first many thousand were condemned.

We have followed the inspection of elevators very carefully in the usual manner, and have had little trouble.

The number of garages increases rapidly, although we have had many protests against the law which compells the erection of a first-class building, when erected nearer than ten feet to the lot line.

The following summary shows a comparison of the year 1911 with the year 1912:—

Summary—1911.

	No. of permits	No. of families	Estimated cost
Wood and frame.....	123	145	$827,570 00
Brick and stone, etc.....	111	133	1,185,560 00
Alterations	104	...	166,700 00
Heating	125	...	71,800 00
Total	463	278	$2,251,630 00

Summary—1912.

	No. of permits	No. of families	Estimated cost
Wood and frame	175	355	$1,537,875 00
Brick and stone, etc.	131	317	1,984,270 00
Alterations	138	...	167,555 00
Heating	186	...	132,840 00
Total	630	672	$3,822,540 00

Plumbing.

The report of the Inspector of Plumbing is as follows:—

Mr. Ernest Lyon, Building Commissioner:

Dear Sir,—I herewith submit my twentieth annual report for the year ending December 31, 1912.

The whole number of permits issued to do plumbing was 342, or 24 more than last year. Of this number, 74 were for new brick and stone buildings, 88 were for new wood and frame buildings, 164 were for additions and repairs to existing plumbing and 16 were for improving the drainage.

The total cost of the above plumbing was $218,644 as against $168,299 in 1911, a gain of $50,345 and an excess of $6,715 over 1903, the former record year.

The following is a summary of the number of water fixtures installed in the different buildings during the year:—

Water closets	948
Baths	660
Bowls	732
Sinks	721
Trays	406
Other fixtures	31
<hr/>
Total	3,498
Water tests	464
Peppermint tests	45
Others
Inspections	1,726

As may be seen from the above statement, the past year has been an exceedingly busy one for this division of the Building Department. The demands of contractors and others for information, inspections and tests have been so numerous that it has required our best efforts to keep up with them. Recognizing the importance of the labor item in the cost of building construction we have endeavored to be prompt in responding to all calls for inspections and tests.

Although the regulations give the inspector two days after notice in which to examine or test piping, it can be said that instances where a test has been put over to the next day have been very few.

As alluded to above, never before, in point of cost, has a year's work reached the present highwater mark, the nearest approach being the year 1903, with a grand total of 211,929.

As there were practically no high cost installations during the year the increase noted is believed to be due partly to general prosperity in the building line and partly to the growing demand for greater bathing and washing facilities, especially in apartment houses.

Not so long ago one bathroom consisting of the usual three fixtures was thought sufficient for most any suite; now almost every fairly pretentious suite has at least two complete bathrooms, and very often a seat and a wash bowl for servant's use besides.

The new regulations which are in effect since the summer of 1911, long enough it would seem to give them a fair trial, appear to be giving general satisfaction. Aside from the fact that it has been difficult at times to get the carpenters to leave pockets in floors and ceilings for the clean-outs, little difficulty has been found in enforcing them.

As during other years, most of the work in new buildings was done by persons from other cities and towns, no opposition was met with from any of these people. They appeared to be doing their best to keep within our rules, and any infringement called to their attention was willingly corrected.

Barring about the usual number of cunningly disguised cracked and broken pipes and fittings detected every year by means of the water test, there were few intentional violations of the rules.

Most of those which have occurred were of a minor nature, which, as well as the more serious ones, were corrected by the delinquents upon notification.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL DUFFY,
Inspector of Plumbing.

Gasfitting.

There has been a slight increase in the work of the gas inspection branch of this department over the previous year.

Permits were issued on 909 applications, of which number 8 were cancelled before work was commenced.

The work of inspection and testing has been carried on as in previous years and, with minor exceptions, a willingness on the part of contractors to comply with the regulations.

The applications were divided as follows:—

New buildings piped.....	165
Old buildings piped.....	61
Instantaneous heaters	41
Incinerators	3
Washing machines and mangles	2
Buildings in which fixtures were hung.....	194
Changes and alterations	170
Miscellaneous work	265

On the above work, which includes the connecting of 686 gas ranges and 572 gas meters, 2576 visits of inspection were made.

The Examining Board of Gasfitters certified to me two persons for master fitter's licenses, and the license fees were turned over to the Town Treasurer. The expenses of the Board were $10, paid over to the third member, the clerk, as required by law.

Report of the Examiners of Gasfitters.

The following report of the Examiners of Gasfitters for the year ending December 31, 1912, is respectfully submitted:—

The Board organized with the choice of the late Horace James as chairman and Alfred G. Sanborn as clerk.

James F. Quinn was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Horace James and was chosen as its chairman.

Two meetings were held for the examination of applicants for licenses on June 3 and July 2, 1912. James P. McGuinness and Alger E. Gibbons were certified to the Building Commissioner to be licensed as master gasfitters.

JAMES V. QUINN,
ERNEST LYON,
ALFRED G. SANBORN.

Respectfully submitted,

ERNEST LYON,
Building Commissioner.

General Comment.

New laws and amendments, rulings of the State Commissioner, and decisions of the Massachusetts Supreme Court have contributed in making the past year a very busy one. This branch of public service is now beginning to receive proper attention at the hands of our lawmakers and leaders in our civic and commercial growth. The elimination of improper and dishonest methods of selling merchandise is a service which I feel certain is an unmistakable asset in the proper growth of a community.

The smaller number of complaints received during the year and the decrease in the number of weighed-out packages found short is gratifying, for it emphasizes in some small degree, at least, the efficiency which it is desired this department attain.

The work of the two Deputies has been rearranged so that each is responsible for a definite part. Their efficiency and the co-operation which I have received from the State Commissioner's office are factors worthy of mention.

New Legislation.

Chapter 246, Section 21, and Chapter 284, Section 4, of the Acts of 1912, effective April 13th, were the two most important laws passed during the year. The former provides that all vegetables, fruits and nuts for which a legal weight has been established shall be sold at retail only by weight or numerical count, while the latter prescribes the legal weight for such commodities as have been heretofore unprovided for. The enforcement of these laws has done much toward eliminating careless and dishonest practices among certain dealers and peddlars, but as they do not apply to the sale of the commodities mentioned, at wholesale, they have proven a source of quite serious inconvenience to certain large dealers. It is therefore hoped that the efforts now being made to amend them will not result in a deflection of their benefits from the consumer.

Merchants.

It has been difficult to make our merchants realize their own responsibility in the matter of proper care of scales and weights, and in many cases this apathy is due to misconception of the law, namely, they feel that because they give good weight and sell goods just as they buy them they are doing all the law intends and often resent any advice. They fail to realize that many commodities may be sold at wholesale either by weight, measure, or crate, but must be sold at retail only by weight; also, that the use of an illegal scale, weight or measure is a criminal offence, even though they may in every case give all that the purchaser pays for. As an example of this, a one-pound weight from a provision store was brought to the office and adjusted to less than one grain; after being used six days it was tested and showed an increase in weight of ten grains, which is far above the allowable tolerance. This difference was due to an accumulation of dirt, as the weight had not received proper care, and although the variance was in favor of the purchaser, the weight was nevertheless illegal, and the dealer was liable to prosecution for its use. In the case of spring scales and balances the variance is always materially against the purchaser.

Pedlars.

The new laws previously referred to, have proven a serious hardship to hawkers and pedlars, for in addition to the inconvenience in having to weigh all vegetables and certain fruits, it is very hard for them to keep even the better grade of scales in adjustment owing to the constant jolting to which they are subjected. The enforcing of these laws entailed a great deal of additional work, as many of the peddlars are foreigners, and it was difficult to explain the many different weights for vegetables and fruits. It was found necessary to employ an interpreter to assist in the work.

The so-called household scales were found to be unsuitable for outdoor work, and their use by pedlars was prohibited. Although every pedlar was warned either verbally or by letter, subsequent inspection revealed twenty-seven of these scales in use, which were seized and destroyed.

The policy of the Chief of Police in re-issuing all licenses monthly and refusing to license any pedlar known to have been dishonest is highly commendable, and in my opinion is a most practical way to deal with a dishonest vendor.

Ice.

An investigation of the weight of ice delivered to consumers was made during the fall, and such investigation showed that the ice company was not doing its duty in protecting its customers against dishonest and careless drivers. While the officials of the company were amenable to prosecution under Chapter 57, Section 45 of the Revised Laws, I was convinced that the drivers were the only ones to profit in cases where short weight was given. The system employed by the ice company's local manager in allowing each wagon a surplus of several hundred pounds of ice, and in promptly discharging drivers who were found to be careless or dishonest, while commendable is by no means a satisfactory protection to the public. The company must exercise a closer supervision over its employees or be answerable to the Court. However, the prompt action which its officials have taken to eliminate any carelessness or dishonesty, and the closer attention which this department will give to the matter assures our citizens of ample protection in the future.

Gasolene Pumps.

The attaching of a hose to gasolene measuring pumps for the filling of automobile tanks is another matter which has been given considerable attention. As such pumps, when sealed, must be adjusted so as to throw the correct measure at the faucet connection, it is obvious that unless care is taken to drain the hose at each operation it is impossible to give correct measure. In consequence of the careless handling of these pump hose I have received several complaints. In the course of my investigation I found that the dealer was not the one to profit when short measure was given. The amount of shortage would either remain in the hose and go to another customer or run to waste after the hose was lowered from the car tank. As I felt that the use of a hose should not be permitted, I took the matter up with a representative of the pump manufacturers and we both appeared before the State Commissioner. He ruled that if such pumps would seal by a faucet test, the use of a hose could not be stopped, as it was a carrier and did not form a part of the measuring device. He pointed out, however, that if through the use of such attachment, insufficient measure was given, the seller would be just as liable under the law as though he deliberately gave short measure. The State Inspectors are now looking into this matter and making frequent prosecutions, for it is quite impossible for a local sealer to obtain evidence or to accurately measure gasolene after it has been pumped into an automobile tank.

Miscellaneous.

Other matters receiving special attention during the year include insistence upon the filling of milk and cream jars, berry baskets, ice cream boxes, proper weight of print butter, and net weight upon all commodities sold in packages. Letters of advice and instructions have been sent to merchants and pedlars when occasion required, all complaints have been investigated, verifications and re-weighings certified to, and attention given to such other matters as have come before me.

Coal Inspection.

Loads in transit examined for certificate of weight.....	251
Loads not properly certified to.....	2
Loads in transit reweighed.....	23
Loads reweighed after delivery (on complaint).....	2
Bags of coal reweighed.....	37
Weighings made at wharf (town's coal).....	22

The loads re-weighed did not show any unusual variance, the largest shortage being 25 lbs. on a three-ton load and 50 lbs. overweight on a three and one-half-ton load. Two of the bagged coal were 2 lbs. light. The two loads re-weighed on complaint after delivery both proved correct.

Several requests have been made by citizens to have coal re-weighed after its delivery, and while I am always glad to look into any instance wherein short weight is suspected, I cannot make any accurate determination unless the coal has been stored by itself and not drawn from. Owing to the amount of labor involved, I feel that the Sealer should not be expected to make such re-weighings except at his own discretion, for unless the coal is unevenly broken or mixed, a very close estimate of its weight can be made by taking its cubical content. However, I shall not hesitate to make such re-weighings when there is any question of an injustice being done the purchaser.

It should be explained that while the ash value in anthracite and the B. T. U. in bituminous coal are very essential factors in determining their commercial values, the mechanical analysis showing the action of coals under different degrees of heat should be carefully considered.

A non-fusible anthracite coal with a seemingly high ash value may maintain a greater and more even heat efficiency under rapid combustion than a higher grade low ash coal which contained the proper proportion of silica and lime to fuse under extreme heat. It would, however, require more high ash coal to maintain the efficiency, while the fusible coal would require more attention in burning. In the case of bituminous coal while the B. T. U., together with the ash and volatile content more accurately indicate its true value under combustion, some types of boilers will show greater efficiency if the proper proportion of anthracite coal in buckwheat size is added. Thus, in addition to the chemical and mechanical analysis, the types of boilers must also be considered.

The mechanical analysis of both the bituminous and anthracite coal gave very satisfactory results. In the case of the bituminous, the volatile matter was somewhat above normal, but it showed no waste in burning, on account of the stability of the carbon. This coal was desirable for use at the heating and lighting plant, where it is mixed with buckwheat coal, and the premiums were consequently allowed when the analysis was otherwise satisfactory. No premiums were allowed on high volatile coal for use by other departments.

I have endeavored to use proper judgment in these matters, and feel that this work has resulted in a material pecuniary saving to the town, in addition to the greater satisfaction which a good coal supply gives to the occupants and janitors of our public buildings.

Inspection of Petroleum.

As Inspector of Petroleum I have had but four samples of petroleum products submitted for testing during the year. Three of gasolene were of the required test, while one of kerosene proved to be of inferior quality, and the shipment was returned to the distributor.

Measurer of Wood and Bark.

In this capacity I have measured six lots of kindling wood, two of sawed wood, one of cord wood, one of manure, and two of loam. I also made determinations upon various other articles to ascertain if sufficient measure were being given. I found no discrepancies. As in former years, I have applied such corrective measures as were necessary to prevent the improper and careless storing of petroleum products.

Expenditures and Receipts.

The total appropriation for the year beginning January 1, 1912, and ending December 31, 1912, was $26,453.00. Of this amount $24,179.04 was expended, leaving an unexpended balance of $2,273.96. The total receipts were $6,363.83, and crediting $700.56, which represents the laundry work done for the town, we get a total of $7,064.39. Deducting this amount from $24,179.04 we find the net cost to the town, exclusive of heating and lighting, was $17,114.65.

Sunday Attendance at the Bath House.

The Bath House was opened as usual Sunday mornings in July and August, with a total attendance of 289, or an average of 36.

General Remarks.

The Committee feels that the results accomplished this year as shown by the preceding tables are fairly gratifying save that perhaps of attendance. In both the Baths and Gymnasium the attendance has not been up to the expectations or desires of the Committee. There are literally hundreds of residents in Brookline who are daily failing to appreciate the opportunities offered by these institutions, finely appointed and equipped as they are, and maintained at the highest state of efficiency for the bodily development and physical welfare of the citizens of Brookline.

The Committee extends a most hearty invitation not only to those who are using the Baths and Gymnasium, to continue to do so, but to those residents, both young and old, not only to acquaint themselves with these institutions, but to make use of the facilities there offered.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT

The Almshouse.

The expense of maintaining the Almshouse has been less than last year, largely owing to the fact that last year extensive repairs and improvements were made on the building and this year only a small amount has been expended for that purpose. A larger number of inmates has made the expenditure for food a serious item and a new horse, a necessary part of the equipment there, has added to the expense materially.

There have been twenty inmates at different times during the year and at present there are fourteen, ten men and four women. Of the six men discharged, one has been sent, on account of serious illness, to the McDonald Hospital. With the exception of this one case there has been less illness than usual among the inmates and no deaths have occurred.

The Warden, Mr. Pulley, succeeds in finding employment for the men about the place and in the garden, with good results in every way.

The women are all able to do some small part of the housework in their own department.

The average daily attendance for the year has been 15.71, making the average expense per week for each inmate, $6.02.

Sick.

Last year thirty-four persons were aided on account of sickness. This year fifty-four. Several of these have been taken care of in the McDonald Hospital, where they are maintained at the expense of the town, but by far the larger number are persons who live in other towns, to whom hospital care has been furnished for which the bills must be paid by the Overseers of the Poor of Brookline.

Outdoor Relief.

The amount expended for outdoor relief is considerably greater than last year. The number of families living in Brookline who have received aid regularly is smaller than formerly, but there have been many applications for relief for families with a Brookline settlement now living elsewhere. To such cases aid must be furnished according to the judgment and methods of the Overseers of the Poor in charge.

Children.

One child has been supported by the town during the year.

District Nurse.

A part of the salary of the District Nurse has been paid by the Overseers of the Poor.

McDonald Hospital.

The arrangement made by the Overseers of the Poor with the management of the McDonald Hospital by which persons requiring hospital care can receive it there at a reasonable expense to the town has proved to be very satisfactory. The hospital is well situated on Corey Hill, is accessible from all parts of the town and the patients sent there are suitably cared for.

REPORT

January 1, 1913.

The Board of Park Commissioners submits the following report for the year ending December 31, 1912:—

Maintenance.

Insect Pests. While it is unfortunately true that insect pests, which have been the source of so much trouble in Brookline, are still spreading over the country, they have been kept well under control in the town and, during the past year on the park property, were not much more than half as numerous as in the previous year. Effective spraying has not only kept them in check, but diminished their numbers. The Department is well equipped with two powerful sprayers and excellent men to run them.

A new enemy to vegetation has recently been added to the gypsy and brown-tail moths, the elm tree beetle and the San Jose Scale, viz., the leopard moth, which, in the caterpillar state burrows under the bark near the ends of the branches and eats the wood until the branches break off and fall to the ground. No adequate remedy has been found for this new foe and the insects are beyond the reach of spraying.

The total cost of moth suppression during the year was $1,998.36, of which a very small amount, $61.21, was done on private property and has been returned into the Treasury, though not credited to the Park appropriations. The spraying of Brookline Cemetery was done by the Park force and amounted to $35.88, and for other work done on the maintenance of the cemetery there will be a transfer of $138.09. The work of spraying is practically confined to the month of June, but many egg clusters have been creosoted at other times in the year.

It was not found necessary to spray any of the trees in the Putterham woods during the year, and it is hoped that once in two years will be found to be sufficient in the future.

Amory Playground. The old pond hole near Beacon Street which was filled in recent years, again appeared and has again been filled with ashes.

Skating. The sum of $2,613.87 was expended in winter sports, principally skating, for which ice was artificially produced in the manner described fully in the last annual report. This healthy and invigorating sport was provided on Brookline avenue and Cypress street playgrounds and on the Devotion School playground, and was enjoyed thoroughly by a very large number of persons. So successful and safe is the artificial ice that skating on Brookline Reservoir was practically abandoned, an effect perhaps influenced somewhat by unfavorable snow storms.

Preparations were made during the year to equip Beacon street playground with the necessary facilities for skating during the coming year, and there is no doubt that this sport will be appreciated by citizens in that neighborhood.

Planting. A considerable amount of planting has been carried out both under the heads of maintenance and construction. At the Fire Department house on Heath street the grounds were graded and a few trees planted; changes were made in the shrubbery in the Park and around Emerson Garden, and some planting done on Dean road on Beacon street playground. A new drain was built on the latter playground for the purpose of intercepting surface water.

A fence eight feet in height was erected on the Aspinwall avenue boundary of Brookline avenue playground and another fence built along the railroad in the rear of the Gymnasium and bath houses. A temporary fence was also built across the Heath school grounds, to prevent the formation of paths in various directions. Many complaints have been received by the Board in regard to the crossing of the public grounds by thoughtless persons who desire to take short cuts through shrubbery and other planting spaces or across the small triangles in the streets which are laid out as grass plots. Many even go so far as to claim a right as taxpayers to make such a use of these spaces. As far as possible the Board have endeavored to lay out definite walks and paths where such a treatment is practicable, and it is hoped that all citizens will appreciate the necessity of aiding the Board in its efforts to keep the public grounds in such condition as to be an honor to the town.

Appropriation. For the maintenance of all the Parks and public grounds owned by the town the Board has estimated that $25,300.00 will be required during the coming year, an increase of about $1,800.00 over the sum appropriated last year. A new item in the appropriation for 1913 is $1,800.00 for policing the parks and public grounds. The necessity of providing two men for this work and who should give their whole time to the department has become more and more apparent with the growth of the town. A few years ago the Board employed a single policeman to protect all the public grounds, and his services in maintaining order were of great value. The recent expansion of playground facilities has attracted a larger number of persons to them, and the services of someone vested with authority has been frequently requested. Another increase in the estimates for maintenance arises from the proposed purchase of a gasolene lawn mower. With a machine of this type it is anticipated that the grass spaces can be kept in better condition than by hand mowing, principally on account of the fact that a heavy roller is a part of the machine, tending to keep the surface of the playgrounds in smoother condition. The department now has a number of large areas where such a machine could be used to good advantage, among them being the Brookline avenue, Cypress street, Beacon, Washington, Driscoll, Lowell and Devotion playgrounds and parts of the Park system.

In response to the growing needs of the town, the Beacon street playground has been equipped for skating, making an additional area to be cared for under the sub-division "Winter Sports."

Recently an automobile has been purchased for the uses of the department. With the use of an automobile it is expected that greater efficiency will result in administration over the widely-separated areas comprising the department's work. The cost of maintaining the automobile will be provided for in the proposed new appropriation, "Garage and Automobiles." A considerable expenditure must be made this year for the repairs of the driveways in the Park, which are in bad condition.

Construction.

Driscoll School Playground. At the end of the preceding year there was a balance of $1,161.01 remaining in the Treasury. Of this sum $533.69 has been expended for planting, leaving a balance of $627.32, which has been returned to the Treasury. In order to complete this attractive playground and to widen the space available for play, it will be necessary to build a retaining wall along the lower side and to erect thereon a durable iron fence. Owing to urgent demands in other directions the Board is obliged to postpone a recommendation for an appropriation of money for this purpose.

Public Library Grounds. During the past year the Washington street front has been much improved by the construction of a low stone wall between the Police Station and the driveway leading to the front doors of the Library. In order to accomplish this result it was necessary to abolish the old driveway which paralleled the westerly side of the Police Station and to change the path leading to Prospect street into a driveway. A new brick path was built across the lawn for the convenience of persons approaching the library from a northeasterly direction.

This work, particularly the wall and its posts at the entrance of the driveway, has added very much to the finished appearance of the Library grounds, and has been much commended by citizens. The cost was $1,820.07. The continuance of this policy on School street may be appropriately deferred until the Soldiers' Monument plans are fully decided upon.

Longwood Tennis Courts. The sum of $4,310.46 was expended upon the construction of these three courts in accordance with the plans of the Town Engineer. The site was known to be partly upon an old dump which turned out to be more extensive than the borings had indicated. The materials had to be sorted, the organic matter burned and replaced with imperishable filling. The construction overran the estimate and to complete the work the Board asks for a further expenditure of one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars.

If the popularity of the tennis courts on Beacon street playground is any criterion the success of the Longwood Courts may be considered as assured. It is highly probable that the latter, as in the former case, will prove wholly inadequate for the requirements of the neighboring residents. To render their use effective a small building must be erected to contain sanitary facilities and lockers. The basement of the Longwood School is so fully occupied with gymnastic apparatus and class rooms that there seems to be no opportunity to make use of that building for this purpose. The Board therefore asks for an appropriation of $3,500.00 for the erection of a suitable sanitary building on the town land.

Longwood Playground was originally built upon a bog composed of mud of great depth which has settled several feet and has rendered the regrading of the surface necessary. As the Street Department is badly in need of dumping places for ashes an arrangement has been made for stripping the surface and bringing the playground to its former level with ashes. This work has been carried out on a small portion of the grounds. To aid in carrying forward during the coming year the Board asks for an appropriation of $1,000.00.

Beacon Street Playground. Last year the Board was authorized to expend $1,000.00 for a permanent fence on the westerly end of the playground. The boundary between the property of the Lyden Church and the town is very crooked and complicated by a number of legal provisions. The Board has endeavored unsuccessfully to arrive at an arrangement with the trustees of the church, although negotiations have covered nearly the whole year. A portion of this fence is therefore unbuilt, although the material is on hand. It is desirable that the building of this fence should be carried in an easterly direction to the property of All Saints' Church, and the appropriation of $1,800.00 is asked for this purpose. The Board also asks for a further sum of $7,500.00 for the erection of a sanitary building upon this playground, suitable for the use of the large number of citizens who use the tennis courts. It is an urgent necessity, as the houses which adjoin the courts can hardly be expected to furnish the sanitary and other conveniences required.

The Commission now engaged in the supervision of play has asked the Park Commissioners to enclose Sewall and Parsons School grounds with high wire fences, in order that small children may be properly protected during their hours of instruction. The Park Commissioners recommend the appropriation of $1,800.00 for the purpose of accomplishing the above result.

Gymnastic Apparatus. The Commission for supervision of play has also asked the Park Commissioners to include in their list of appropriations required for the ensuing year the sum of $2,500.00 to install gymnastic apparatus upon the playgrounds, such as swings, slides, tilts, sand gardens, and temporary fences. This sum has therefore been included in the Park appropriations.

Mason Square. The sum of $1,500.00 was appropriated last year for the improvement of this square, owing to the rapid development of building in the neighborhood. The sum of $985.88 was expended; the existing trees were removed where in a dying condition and new trees planted, a sidewalk was graded and one-half of the square ploughed and covered with four inches of loam. To complete this work will require a further expenditure of $1,000.00, which is included in this year's appropriations.

School Grounds and Miscellaneous. Last year the usual provision of $1,000.00 for this item was made and $766.74 was expended. A similar sum, $1,000.00 is asked for this year.

Corey Hill Land. The town now owns about an acre of land upon the summit of Corey Hill which is much enjoyed by visitors who seek the spot for the sake of the extensive and beautiful view of the city. The present piece is on the easterly side of the avenue. The views to the south and west, however, are as fine as those in the opposite direction, commanding the Blue Hills and the setting sun. Fortunately, there are six lots of land on that side of the avenue which may be secured now on favorable terms. They comprise about two acres. It is doubtful whether the opportunity to acquire this land will long remain open, as there have been developments upon this property quite recently. In the opinion of the Park Commissioners it is important that this land should be controlled by the town. If the town can secure this property it will complete its holdings on the summit of the hill in such a way as to make this spot exceedingly attractive, especially when buildings cover all the adjoining ground, as is certain to occur. The sum of $17,200.00 is added as a special appropriation for the purpose of acquiring 85,982 square feet of land.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PLANTING TREES

The work of pruning, taking out dead trees and planting new trees in their places has been carried on during the year.

In connection with the pruning and out of the appropriation for the care of trees, the fight against the leopard moth has been carried on. He appeared first in 1909, and we have been fighting him ever since. He does not multiply as rapidly as the gypsy moth, but owing to the fact that he is a borer and so secretive he is hard to find and much time has to be spent in probing for him.

The fight against the gypsy moth has been carried on in the way outlined some years ago. The townspeople have taken an interest in this work and the hearty support they have given it has helped remarkably. Thanks to this support, we are able to report the Longwood section of the town so clean that practically no creosoting was necessary this fall.

In the southern part of the town many of the large estates are cared for by the town and the pest is well under control. There are, however, some unimproved sections in this part of the town where the infestation is serious. Our budget for the ensuing year provides for creosoting and spraying these sections.

We wish to call attention again to the importance of attracting and protecting birds. They are the most effectual enemies of our insect pests, and of course the least expensive. Birds are easily attracted by food in the winter and proper boxes for their nests in the spring. Our superintendent saw a downy wood-pecker find in an old elm tree five leopard moths and eat them; it would have taken two men a day to try to do what this bird did in two hours, and they might not have succeeded in getting all of them. Every citizen who owns any trees should send to the State Ornithologist, Edward H. Forbush, at the State House, for his annual reports about how to attract birds and of the resulting decrease in insect pests.

The wilt disease has been planted in various infested sections of the town, but the results have not equalled our hopes of last year.

Two cases of culpable neglect in injuring roadside trees have occurred during the past year. In one case the offender was fined in the lower court and again in the upper court to which he appealed. The other case will probably be settled out of court by the payment of a substantial amount.

We enclose a copy of our superintendent's annual report which describes in detail the work of the past year with its expenses as compared with the appropriation recommended for the ensuing year.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT.

Town Hall, Brookline, January 1, 1913.

To the Committee on Planting Trees:—

The following is the annual report of the work done and the expenditures for the fiscal year ending Tuesday, December 31, 1912.

The work of pruning roadside trees this past season was confined to the streets in the southerly part of the town.

The acceptance of many new streets during the past ten years and the desire of the abutters on these streets to have trees in front of their property has resulted in planting several thousand trees and considerably increasing the work.

In the annual report of 1909, attention was called to the appearance of the leopard moth in the trees throughout the town. This borer has increased in alarming proportions and provision is made in the estimate of the coming year for a vigorous campaign towards exterminating them.

The egg of the leopard moth is found under crevices in the bark and never in exposed places. They are laid in June and July, and hatch out in about ten days.

The young larva crawls out to the tip of the twig where they burrow in about the third leaf from the tip. In a short time they grow too large for this twig, come out and go farther back on the same branch or to another one nearby. Through August, September and October they are active, and at this time are about one inch in length. Through the winter they are dormant until April. Then they become active, grow rapidly, and at the end of the second fall they migrate to the large branches or trunk. Here they burrow in deep and pass the second winter well protected from the cold and moisture. In April of the next year they feed for a short time and pupate; the pupal stage lasts from four to six weeks, and shortly after this the moth emerges and lays its eggs within forty-eight hours and dies.

The plainest indication of the leopard moth is the broken twig or branch. The borer rarely girdles the entire limb, but leaves about one-eighth of live tissue, and it is this live tissue which holds the limb on the tree until a severe storm.

The very small larva works at the tips of the twigs, generally going in at the axis of the second or third leaf. The leaves become withered in appearance but differ in color from the usual dead leaf.

A sure indication of the leopard moth is the small web-like covering with which the larva seals up the opening. These are perfectly round and are found only on the under side of a limb. They are hard to distinguish unless one is close to them. The openings are always sealed unless the larva has either emerged or is expelling the frass.

The last indication of the moth in a tree is the pupal case protruding out of the opening. This case is brown in color and very brittle, crumbling to pieces in the fingers.

Up to the present the only applicable remedy is a mechanical process of pushing a wire with a hooked end into the hole and drawing out the larva and killing him. A carbon bisulfied injection has been tried, but the gas is injurious to the tree.

During the past summer two men were assigned to this work and the four rows of trees on Beacon street and the various street trees on the north side of Beacon street from Winchester street to the town line at the Reservoir were carefully examined. Leopard moth larva was found in nearly every tree.

In the estimate for the ensuing year I recommend the sum of $3,000 for leopard moth work. The work to be done during pruning operations.

In the early part of the summer numerous complaints were received regarding a plant lice on the leaves of maples and other common street trees.

The eggs of this lice hatch in the spring and the tiny aphids begin sucking the juices from the leaves and twigs. The aphids become adult in a few days and produce young at the rate of three or four a day. They produce a sticky fluid which was very noticeable this year on our trees.

The best treatment is spraying with lime sulphur. Care must be taken not to get this spray too strong as it will burn the foliage. The spraying should be done on a dull, cloudy day when the sun is not strong.

The work of spraying for the elm leaf beetle was done in conjunction with the spraying operations for the gypsy and brown tail moth and with very gratifying results. There were no elm trees that showed any effect from the "slug" of the elm leaf beetle this summer.

The question of wires running through roadside trees still continues to be a serious menace to the symmetry of the trees. The Edison Electric Illuminating Company have co-operated with us in a very satisfactory manner, and the work of putting on insulators, locating wires and trimming to meet the existing conditions has been done to the satisfaction of the department, and the work paid for by the Edison Company.

In the estimate for the ensuing year, provision has again been made for watering the young trees. The amount set apart last year was not all expended. The experiment proved to be very beneficial to the trees and should be continued each year.

A new horse, wagon and harness has been added to the equipment of the department.

Suppression of Gypsy and Brown Tail Moths.

The campaign against the gypsy and brown tail moths was carried on this past year along the lines outlined in 1909, excepting much more territory in the woodland part of the town was covered.

The condition of the residential section this year is very gratifying, both for gypsy and brown tail moths. The amount expended in the residential section was considerably less than heretofore.

At the town meeting held December 29, 1911, it was voted to authorize the department to contract to the amount of $4,000 for the purchase of five spraying machines.

During the winter months the parts were purchased and the five machines were assembled by the department. They were equipped with a 20 h.p. gasoline engine, a specially designed pump and a 600-gallon tank. The machines cost $3,982.62, which is considerably less than we could purchase them for in the market. They proved to be very satisfactory in the field and enabled us to do spraying work more efficiently and at a less cost per acre than heretofore.

A strip 200 feet wide was sprayed around the woodland west of Hammond street between Woodland road and Newton street, adjoining Newton boundary line. There is considerable horse-back riding through portions of this wood, and the paths were widened out to permit driving a machine through them, and we also sprayed a strip 200 feet each side of this bridle path. After this was done an examination showed the remaining sections to be seriously infested and this also was sprayed and paid for by a private individual at a cost of $600.

In the estimate for the ensuing year the item of spraying has been increased sufficiently to pay for spraying this large area, and also creosoting and the spraying of the large acreage of woodland which is badly infested south of Newton street, adjoining the West Roxbury and Jamaica Plain line as far east as Allandale road.

The work of keeping in check the gypsy moth by parasites is still being directed by the federal service. This past season they furnished us with a large amount of "wilt disease," which has been "planted" throughout the woodland parts of the town.

The results have been fairly satisfactory, but the percentage killed is not sufficient to withdraw hand extermination methods.

The automobile furnished the department in 1909 was disposed of in July for the sum of $350. A new model has been purchased which is the personal property of the superintendent.

The amount appropriated for the suppression of the gypsy and brown tail moths was $27,600.

A comparison of the expenditures of the past year follows, with an estimate for the ensuing year:—

	<hr/> $30,000 00	<hr/> $27,573 42

The amount of the bills rendered for work done on private estates during the past year was $13,657.59, and the amount paid up to January 1, 1913, was $11,012.68.

There is a balance due the town from property owners amounting to $2,644.91, and work has been done on private property for the past two months, bills for which will be rendered July 1, 1913.

The inventory of the property belonging to the department will be filed with the Town Accountant.

REPORT

The Brookline Water Board herewith submits its thirty-seventh annual report, it being for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1912.

As in former years, the report of the superintendent of the works and the engineers at the pumping stations, with pumping statistics, are appended.

At the town meeting held March 5th, 1912, Mr. Nathaniel U. Walker was elected a member of the Board for three years.

The Board organized with the choice of Mr. Timothy J. Burke as Chairman. Z. R. Forbes was appointed Registrar and Clerk, and F. F. Forbes, Superintendent of the Works.

Extension.

Street mains have been extended in all new streets where a water supply was required, and in no instance has the development of property been retarded on account of the lack of water. A large amount of special work in connection with municipal improvements has also been done, a greater portion of which was due to the widening of Boylston street.

The widening of this street, between Village square and Cypress street, necessitated the relaying of the street mains and service pipes throughout this entire section. This work was carried on in conjunction with the widening and at the close of the season all of the street main and the service pipes, excepting those between Village square and Kerrigan place, had been relaid. This work will be finished the coming spring.

The six-inch main in Ackers avenue was relaid in a new location, as this street was widened and rebuilt.

The street main in St. Paul street, between Beacon and Brown streets, was relaid for a distance of 248 feet on account of the close proximity of an electric conduit installed by the Boston Elevated Railway Co. Inasmuch as this conduit was laid outside the given location the entire cost of the change was assumed by said company.

A detailed account of the various extensions will be found in the report of the Superintendent hereto annexed.

Maintenance.

The question of forest development on lands owned by the town in the vicinity of the low service pumping station has been carefully considered during the past year and an examination of the said lands was made by the Board, in company with a representative from the State Forester's office. At this time it was decided that the work of the department relative to this matter should, for the present, be confined to the preservation of the present growth. A beginning of this work has been made, and it has been found that the entire wooded areas on the land owned by the town in the vicinity of the low service pumping station are, notwithstanding the past work of suppression, seriously infected by gypsy and brown tail moths. In order to preserve this growth, which is greatly desired, it must be sprayed and creosoted and the undesirable trees removed. The estimated cost of this work is $2,000.

The force mains from the low service pumping station, between La Grange street, West Roxbury, and South street, Brookline, are laid through private lands over which a right of way has been secured. A portion of this distance is through what was formerly known as the Cedar Swamps; here the mains were laid on piling and until these swamps were drained by the Metropolitan sewer, no trouble was experienced. With the drainage of these swamps the original surface subsided to such an extent that the mains and supporting piling were visible in certain places.

A temporary filling has been placed about the pipes, but owing to forest and peat fires which occur during the dry periods it will be necessary to lower these mains throughout the entire swamp. As such changes will be expensive it has been decided to postpone this matter until plans for an additional water supply, which the Board now have under consideration, are definitely settled.

All buildings connected with this department are in excellent repair. Two new dormer windows have been made in the engine room at the high service pumping station as the lighting of this room was considerably impaired by the erection of the new high duty pumping engine. Minor repairs to other buildings have been made as required.

New Engine for the High Service System.

The new high duty engine, which was contracted for on January 26, 1911, was delivered and erected during the winter months of 1912. It was tested on June 5, 1912, and exceeded the terms of the contract by nearly 10 per cent. On its acceptance by the Board it was placed in immediate service and has been in daily use since that time. Excellent results have been obtained by the use of this engine; a saving of nearly 50 per cent alone having been made in fuel.

Additional Water Supply.

During the excessively hot and dry weather last July the amount of water consumed some days nearly equalled the amount the town now has the right by law to take, namely, 5,000,000 gallons daily. As in the near future there may be certain days in dry weather when that limit will be exceeded, the Board recommended to the town, at a special meeting held December 30, 1912, that application be made to the Legislature for authority to take an additional amount of water from the lands now owned by the town near our present source of supply.

This authority was secured and a formal petition will be presented to the Legislature in due season and favorable action thereon is expected.

An appropriation of $9,600 was made by the town at the December meeting for the purpose of extending the filtering galleries and driven well system. These extensions when completed will afford temporary relief, but should the consumption of the town continue to increase in the same ratio as that of the past, large extensions to our water supply system will have to be made.

The question of a future water supply of the town has been before the Board for several years and general plans relating thereto have been formulated. Until the Legislature grants the town the right to take an additional amount of water from our source of supply these plans, however, cannot be definitely settled. Further mention of this matter will be made in our next annual report.

A brief summary of the work done the past season is as follows:—

The length of street mains laid was greater than for any one of the several years preceeding.

The widening and paving of Boylston street, from Village square to Cypress street, necessitated changing all the mains and services in this part of the street.

The 10-inch pipe on the southerly side was moved for about half the way and relaid the remaining distance. The 6-inch pipe in the northerly side was abandoned and a 12-inch pipe laid in a new location four feet from the curb. This main was increased in size to give a better fire protetion. The only work remaining to be done is that of relaying the service pipes from Kerrigan place, easterly. Mains were laid in seventeen other streets varying in size from twelve to six inches.

One hundred and seventy-eight service pipes were laid to new buildings and fourteen others relaid or put in for temporary uses. Of these, three were four inches in diameter, five two inches, four one and one-half inches, and the remainder the usual size.

The number of services, however, is less than the number of new buildings erected, as for instance, one two-inch pipe supplies twelve large stores with offices on the second floor. The number of new meters set is in consequence much in excess of services added.

The work left undone in connection with building the High Service reservoir has been finished. This consisted of grading and seeding the grounds beyond the embankment, constructing a gateway at the entrance at Boylston street, and repairing the road from this point to the reservoir.

At the time of the closing of the last annual report, work was in progress on the foundation for the new High Service pumping engine. The foundation was completed early in January and the connection with the main was finished by April 1st. A new steam pipe was run from the boilers to the new engine and the steam piping changed so that each engine can be run from either boiler.

The new pump was first started on April 3, and used intermittently while adjustment was being made until June 6, since which time nearly all the water consumed by the High Service has been pumped by this engine.

This engine has proved to be more satisfactory in every way than was expected. The coal required has been reduced considerably more than one half, and, as the engine has a much larger capacity than the old machine, the hours of pumping have been lessened. The shock to the mains, which was quite apparent when the old pump was in service, has been eliminated.

Two large windows were cut in the roof of the engine room to provide additional light. The new engine, engine and boiler rooms have been wired for electric lights.

The High Service System is now in a high state of efficiency and no large outlay will be required for years unless an accident should occur.

As the works grow older and larger, the maintenance must necessarily increase. In fact, every branch of the department calls for more attention each year.

The past season has not been marked by much which was out of the usual and was largely of the routine character. The customary care has been taken of the hydrants, gates and grounds. All the buildings connected with the Low and High Service pumping stations were given two coats of paint on the outside. This work was done by contract. The High Service standpipe was painted on the inside with one coat of red lead, followed by a heavy coat of Gilsonite. Previous to the painting the surfaces were carefully cleaned by the use of wire brushes and scrapers.

The tank showed some deterioration from its long use, but undoubtedly can be retained in service with safety for many years.

The reservoirs proper have needed no repairs and so far as can be seen are perfectly tight.

Leaks in service pipes were few. The only leak in the mains occurred at the corner of White place and Washington street, where a six-inch pipe was broken by the settlement of the street.

The number of meters repaired was 740, 110 more than was repaired the year before, and 1,338 meters were tested. A large part of the work was done by the permanent men of the department during the winter months.

Although the total consumption for the year shows an increase of only one and one-half per cent. when compared with the previous year, the amount used on some of the hot days of the protracted dry period in July was nearly equal to the amount the town has a right to pump. It is hoped that the present Legislature will give the town a right to take more water from the land it now owns, otherwise the use of hose must be greatly lessened during excessively dry periods.

Early in the spring the gypsy moths nests were creosoted, and the brown tail moths nests removed and burned quite generally in the wooded area owned by the town at its source of water supply, but in spite of this precaution many of the trees were nearly denuded. If the town wishes to save its woodlands, considerable money must be spent.

A third man has been employed in the stable, as the present law does not allow an employee to work more than eight hours in any one day, except in cases of great urgency. For a large part of the past year only two men have been employed, but there were so many emergency calls when no one was at the stable and consequent delay in responding to such calls, that a third man was thought to be absolutely necessary.

The reports of the engineers show that all the pumping machinery is in good order.

I subjoin the following tables, etc, all of which is respectfully submitted.

FAYETTE F. FORBES,

Superintendent of Water Works.

LOW SERVICE ENGINEER'S REPORT.

Low Service Pumping Station,
Brookline Water Works,
West Roxbury, Mass., January 1, 1913.

To the Brookline Water Board:—

Gentlemen,—I have the honor to present the thirty-seventh annual report of the Engineer for the year ending December 31st, 1912.

The amount of water pumped during the year was 936,165,-651 gallons, over 12,000,000 gallons more than last year. Owing to a greater flow of water to the pumps from the filter galleries, and an increased speed of the engines, the pumping time was reduced 808 hours. The coal consumption was 27,- 742 lbs. more, and the duty slightly less than last year, on account of the greater number of hours in which engine No.
6 was in operation. The duty can be increased by connecting the exhaust pipe of engine No. 6 to the condenser, or to one of the receivers of the main engine.

Boilers.

The boilers are in good condition. They have been regularly inspected by the Station engineers, and by the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance Co. New nickel seats have been fitted to the safety valves of the boilers, and the valves tested. The furnace of boiler No. 1 has been re-lined. Several improvements have been made in the feed and blow-off pipes. These pipes and the steam pipes to engines No. 5 and No. 6 should be covered with non-conducting material.

Engines.

All the engines are in good working order and have needed only ordinary repairs. One valve cage in the h. p. discharge valve chamber of engine No. 4 was fitted with Hill valves last

May. The valves work well and cost less for renewal than the ordinary pump valve. The cracks in the valve chambers, which were repaired last year, remain perfectly tight.

The electric lighting apparatus is in good order. Five additional lights have been placed in the boiler room extension. Sanitary steel lockers are needed in the boiler room for the firemen's working clothes. A machine for washing and extracting oil from the cotton waste used for wiping the machinery has been installed and tested with satisfactory results.

I subjoin tables showing the record of the pumping engines, all of which is respectfully submitted.

RICHARD J. FLYNN,
Engineer.

Boiler No. 2 is in fair condition. Some minor repairs will be needed on brick work in fire box before the season is over.

Engines.

Engine No. 1, which was installed in 1885, can be safely used for a relief engine for years to come.

A new triple expansion engine was installed in this station in the early months of 1912, and was put in operation the 15th of May. This engine has pumped nearly all the water for the High Service from the date above mentioned. On June 4th the official test was made by the contractor and the Superintendent of this department and proved to be satisfactory in every way.

Buildings.

Two dormer windows were put in the roof of engine room in September, which gives much better light and ventilation. The exterior of the buildings have been painted and are now in good state of repair.

The following table shows the record of this station for the year just past.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM B. WEBBER,
Engineer.

We refer to the reports of the officers and agents of the Board for specific information as to the various activities carried on in the different branches of the Health Department. Some of these reports follow in this volume, but the attention of citizens is also called to the reports which appear in the Reprint of Health Reports, which do not appear here for lack of space. The information contained in them is interesting and important for citizens to read.

The mortality rate of the town for the year 1912 was 11.07 a thousand, a low rate for a municipality of the size of Brookline. The number of deaths from so-called preventable diseases was sixteen, two from typhoid and fourteen from tuberculosis.

In last year's report we referred to precautionary measures to be undertaken by the Board of Health in relation to tuberculosis. A dispensary has been established in a room in the Town Hall, and a dispensary nurse has been appointed to assist in the clinics there, to visit patients in their homes when desired, and to investigate other cases for the Board of Health. The nurse also visits cases for the Overseers of the Poor, when persons require medical assistance. Full details of the tuberculosis work are given in the report of the dispensary in the Reprint.

The accommodations at the contagious hospital for the treatment of tuberculosis patients are very inadequate, and the time is approaching when the town must erect a building for this purpose. Plans are now being studied and developed for such a building on the same grounds as the hospital and will be presented before long to the citizens of the town for their consideration.

Much work has been done by the sanitary agent and sanitary inspector in abating nuisances and in keeping the town in a clean and healthful condition. They do a great deal of investigating on their own initiative and are always glad to have their attention called to nuisances which should be abated or other unsanitary conditions in the town which should be remedied. Land owners can co-operate in this work in a much more extensive manner than at present.

The work of exterminating flies and mosquitoes has been carried on in a vigorous manner by the department having it in charge. It has been demonstrated that much can be done to help in this work by the owners of real estate where conditions exist which cause the breeding of flies and mosquitoes. While our work has been useful in its direct results, it is also hoped that it has had some educational value in making citizens see for themselves the importance of it and of individual effort tending to assist in the elimination of this nuisance. An examination of the report of this work in the reprint will show what has been accomplished.

There are new kinds of work relating to the health of the community constantly arising and pressed with more or less urgency upon the Board of Health for its undertaking. Our policy has been to proceed slowly in such matters and to let the need of the suggested work be demonstrated by private effort, before it is taken over by the public authorities. We might refer as a specific instance of this to the dental work in connection with inspection in schools. This inspection shows that there are many children whose teeth need attention, but at the present time there are no places available where such attention can be given. Through the efforts of certain interested citizens this matter is to be investigated, and a remedy provided, if it is expedient to undertake the work. Its usefulness should be clearly established and its justification demonstrated before it is undertaken by the Board of Health. Anyone examining the different reports of the health work carried on in the town must receive the impression that the different departments are active in the lines of work submitted to their care, and the Board of Health itself, having a general oversight of all these departments, can point only to the general good health of the town and to the healthful conditions which exist in it, to show whether the work done is successful.

The table at the beginning of this report shows the appropriation necessary for the various divisions of the Health Department for the coming year.

Article 1. Communicable Diseases.

Sect. 1. a. No child shall be allowed to attend school from any household in which there is or has been a case of SCARLET FEVER, for a period of six weeks from the commencement of the last case in the household and until a certificate has been presented from the attending physician, the Board of Health or its Agent, that all danger of conveying the disease by such child is passed.—(See Section D.)

b. No child who has visited a house in which there was at the time a case of SCARLET FEVER shall attend school until the expiration of two weeks following exposure, unless he has already had that disease, except by special permit from the Agent of the Board of Health.—(See Section D.)

c. No child who has DIPHTHERIA shall be allowed to attend school for a period of one week from the date of the second successive negative bacteriological culture from both nose and throat and until a certificate has been presented from the attending physician that all danger of conveying the disease by such child is passed; and that no well child be allowed to attend school from any household in which there is or has been a case of DIPHTHERIA until the same precautions have been taken, with the exception that but one negative bacteriological culture, from both nose and throat, is required.—(See Section D.)

d. The Agent of the Board of Health may, if circumstances warrant (for example, removal of a patient to hospital), give to children not infected in a household in which there is or has been SCARLET FEVER or DIPHTHERIA, a special permit to return to school as soon as he considers it safe for them to do so.

e. No child from any house where there is a case of SCARLET FEVER or DIPHTHERIA shall be allowed to mingle with persons from any other house until after the removal, recovery, or death of the patient and the disinfection of the premises.

f. Every house infected with DIPHTHERIA, SCARLET FEVER, or SMALLPOX shall have affixed on or near the front and rear doors a card, furnished by the Board of Health, stating the disease to be avoided; and any unauthorized person removing such a card shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

Sect. 2. No child who has CHICKEN-POX shall be allowed to attend school until a period of two weeks has elapsed from the first appearance of the eruption and all scabs have disappeared.

Sect. 3. No child who has GERMAN MEASLES shall be allowed to attend school until a period of one week has elapsed from the first appearance of the eruption.

Sect. 4. a. No child ill with TUBERCULOSIS, who is a menace to the health of others, shall be allowed to continue in school.

b. Whenever a person with TUBERCULOSIS moves out of a house or an apartment, the attending physician, if there be one, or the active head of the family shall so notify the Board of Health within twenty-four hours, and both of the above-mentioned persons shall be held legally responsible for violation of this order.

Sect. 5. No child who has MUMPS shall be allowed to attend school until a period of three weeks has elapsed from the first signs or symptoms of the disease.

Sect. 7. No child with WHOOPING-COUGH and no child, who has not had the disease, in a household in which there is a case of WHOOPING-COUGH shall be allowed to attend school within eight weeks from the beginning of the cough and until the cough characteristic of the disease has ceased in the last case in such household.

Such rooms and such articles in any house, as in the opinion of the Board of Health have been subjected to infection or contagion from SMALLPOX, SCARLET FEVER, DIPHTHERIA, CEREBRO-SPINAL MENINGITIS, INFANTILE PARALYSIS, or TUBERCULOSIS, shall be disinfected by the Board. The attending physician or the Agent of the Board of Health shall decide in each case as to the proper time for disinfecting, and shall then notify the Board; but in no case of SCARLET FEVER shall disinfection be done in less than four weeks from the commencement of the last case in the household (except by special permit of the Agent of the Board); and in DIPHTHERIA disinfection shall not be done until after at least two successive negative bacteriological cultures from both nose and throat have been obtained.

Sect. 2. Articles which have been exposed to infection, or those which have been in contact with a patient within 10 days prior to the diagnosis of any of the above-named diseases, shall not be sent to any laundry or other workshop unless they have been first disinfected by the Board of Health.

Sect. 3. Milk cans or jars of milk dealers shall not be left at any house in which there is a case of DIPHTHERIA, SCARLET FEVER, TYPHOID FEVER, or SMALLPOX, but the milk shall be poured into receptacles furnished by the customer.

The remains of any person who has died from any of said diseases shall at once be place in a tight or sealed coffin, and shall not thereafter be exposed to view or disturbed except for burial.

REPORT OF AGENT OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Brookline, Mass., December 31, 1912.

To the Honorable Board of Health:—

GENTLEMEN—I have the honor to submit my twenty-second annual report which covers the year ending December 31, 1912.

Mortality.

During the year there were two deaths from typhoid fever, none from diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough, small-pox nor measles. There were fourteen deaths from tuberculosis, one more than in 1911, and constituting seven-eighths of all our deaths the past year from the infectious or so-called preventible diseases. Among deaths from other causes forty-six were reported from cancer, as against forty-two in 1911.

The number of deaths in Brookline from all causes the past year was 325, which includes fifty-eight deaths of persons temporarily sojourning here, e. g., non-resident patients in various Brookline hospitals. The number of Brookline residents who died away from home the past year was ninety-four, some of whom died in the hospitals of Boston and other cities. Adding the latter number, ninety-four, to the whole number of deaths (325) that occurred within the town, and deducting the number of still births (9) and the number of deaths of non-residents above referred to (58), we have a total of 352 as against 349 during 1911.

This number of deaths, with a population of 30,000, as estimated by the Town Clerk, gives a mortality of 11.73 per 1,000 inhabitants.

Infectious Diseases.

During the year there were reported to the Board eighty-three cases of diphtheria, twenty-eight cases of scarlet fever, nineteen cases of typhoid fever, four cases of malarial fever, two hundred and one cases of measles, forty-three cases of chickenpox, twenty-four cases of whooping cough, two cases of ophthalmia of the new-born and forty-five cases of tuberculosis. No cases of smallpox, infantile paralysis nor of cerebro-spinal meningitis were reported.

The cases of reportable infectious diseases occurred as follows:—

	Diphtheria	Scarlet Fever	Typhoid Fever	Malarial Fever	Measles	Tuberculosis	Chicken Pox	Whooping Cough	Ophthalmia Neonatorum
January	16	3	2	0	5	2	13	0	1

The following table shows the number of cases of diphtheria, scarlet fever and of typhoid fever reported during the last thirteen years and the number of cases of tuberculosis since reporting of that disease was first required in March, 1902. From 1902 to 1906, inclusive, only pulmonary and laryngeal forms of tuberculosis were required to be reported. Since 1907 the other forms, e. g., tuberculosis of the bones, glands and other organs, are also required by the public statutes to be reported.

	Diphtheria	Scarlet Fever	Typhoid Fever	Tuberculosis
1900	247	29	16
1901	158	27	26
1902	64	61	20	20

Diphtheria.

Diphtheria was more prevalent than usual the past year, eighty-three cases being reported. The months of its greatest prevalence were January, October, November and December, when special precautions were taken in the schools to prevent a threatened epidemic. Fortunately, through the better realization of the wisdom of calling a physician early in all cases of sore throat and of making an early and correct diagnosis by means of a free bacteriological culture in such cases, effective and timely treatment is now more common, and of the eighty-three cases of diphtheria reported not one ended fatally. For further discussion on the subject of prevention of this serious, but preventible and curable disease, the reader is referred to the 1911 report of the writer.

Scarlet Fever.

The number of cases of this disease, twenty-eight, was ten less than in the previous year.

The disease was most prevalent in February, March, April and May, but in no one month did more than six cases occur. There were no deaths.

Typhoid Fever.

The number of cases of this fever, nineteen, was seven larger than in 1911, but for the most part were of a rather mild type.

Considerable time was spent in searching for the source of the infection to learn, if possible, if milk, ice cream, drinking water or light, undetected cases of typhoid in persons engaged in handling or preparing food were agents in the spread of the disease. The largest number of cases reported in any one month was nine, and among the nineteen cases reported during the year there were two deaths.

Tuberculosis.

The number of cases of this disease reported during the year was forty-five, an increase of eight over that of the previous year, while the number of deaths (14) the past year was one more, which showing clearly indicates the need of continuing active measures to detect, cure, and prevent more cases of this too common preventable disease.

Free Tuberculosis Dispensary.

In compliance with the State law a free tuberculosis dispensary was provided the past year by the Board, a suitable room on the second floor of the Town Hall being used for the purpose. This dispensary is in charge of the writer and his associate, Dr. Chas. H. Lawrence, Jr., who are most ably assisted by the Tuberculosis Nurse of the Board of Health, Miss Ella J. Robertson, R.N. The entire time of the nurse is devoted to tuberculosis work. The annual report of the Tuberculosis Dispensary, to which the attention of the reader is invited, will appear in the Reprint.

Smallpox.

The same measures for protection against this disease have been relied on as in other recent years, namely, vaccination, provided free if required, and though the writer has been called the past year to examine patients very ill with chickenpox closely simulating smallpox, no cases of the latter disease have been found.

In the annual report on the Board of Health Hospital the subject of better provision for our occasional smallpox patients is considered.

Cholera.

In July, on notification from the State Board of Health, the writer located and examined a number of persons recently arrived in Brookline from cholera-infected European ports and took such precautions as seemed necessary.

Measles and Chickenpox.

Measles was less prevalent than in the previous year, the number reported (201) being forty less than in 1911. There were no deaths.

There were forty-three cases of chickenpox reported as against twenty-five in 1911.

Malarial Fever, Mosquitoes and Flies.

The number of cases of malarial fever reported the past year (4) was one more than in 1911. The same methods, in the main, as in recent years, were employed in the more populous districts of the town to prevent, as far as practicable, mosquito breeding. Special attention was given to places found to be breeding the species of mosquito that transmits malarial fever. The Assistant Bacteriologist, Mr. J. A. C. Nyhen, directed the work in the field. In view of all the circumstances the number of cases of malarial fever reported (4) seems to the writer remarkably small and speaks well for the efficiency of the work. The systematic and quite extensive operations directed against the breeding of house flies and stable flies were continued on a somewhat larger scale than in the previous year. In view of the fact that the house fly is a carrier of the germs of typhoid fever, tuberculosis and diphtheria, and that the stable fly has recently been found by Professor Milton J. Rosenau and his colleagues to be capable of transmitting infantile paralysis to the monkey and presumably to man, the co-operation of all of us in ridding the neighborhood of these pests is requested. For a full and interesting account of the work done the past year the reader is referred to Mr. Nyhen's special report, which will be published in the Reprint.

Health of School Children.

This subject is of the very greatest importance to the general public health. The reader is respectfully referred to the remarks on this subject in the writer's report of 1911 and 1912 as Chief Medical Inspector of Schools.

Improved Housing Conditions.

Action by the town the past year in regard to improved building laws and systematic sanitary inspection will result in considerable improvement in housing conditions in the poorer sections of the town. The problem of overcrowding, however, is largely due to the unsolved land problem, which only a wiser and more just system of taxation of land values can solve.

The Hospital Relief Fund.

This fund, provided by an appropriation voted at the 1912 annual town meeting, to provide medical and surgical care and treatment in a general hospital for needy Brookline residents (not aided by the Poor Department), but needing such relief, has proven a very great help to quite a number of our residents who in the absence of a Brookline general hospital have availed themselves of it.

Unfortunately, this fund does not apply to dental relief, though the latter is a very common and very important form of special surgery, the neglect of which brings in its train poor mastication, impaired digestion, poor nutrition and anaemia, thus preparing the way for tuberculosis and other diseases. Decayed teeth are also a factor in the causation of diseased tonsils and of obstructive adenoid growths in the nose, which if not given timely treatment, are a common cause of earache, deafness and mental dullness. The writer earnestly hopes that the citizens of Brookline are now ready to provide for all needy residents, especially the children, the means of receiving this protection which the overcrowded dental infirmaries of Boston consistently have to refuse, as a rule, to Brookline applicants.

This matter has received much study by the writer, and plans and estimates are now in hand which will soon be brought before those interested in this greatly-needed work.

Other Health Measures.

Attention is especially called to the accompanying reports on the Board of Health Hospital and on the Tuberculosis Dispensary, also to the report of the Chief Medical Inspector of Schools. Attention is also called to the interesting reports of the writer's colleagues of the Health Department and of the allied departments, all of which materially contribute directly or indirectly to promote the public health.

Acknowledgments.

In closing, the writer wishes especially to thank the members of the Board for authorization to take up new work greatly needed in the town, and for their encouragement of various modern health measures now being introduced. He also wishes to thank all the other town officers, especially the Bacteriologist and the other physicians in the service of the town, also the many friendly and public-spirited citizens who the past year have aided him in his work.

REPORT OF MEDICAL SUPERINTENDENT OF BOARD OF HEALTH HOSPITAL.

Brookline, Mass., December 31, 1912.

To the Honorable Board of Health:—

GENTLEMEN—I have the honor to submit the following report for the year ending December 31, 1912:—

The number of patients admitted during the year was sixty-one, as against forty-three the previous year.

This number, with the patients remaining in the hospital at the beginning of the year (7) made the total number cared for sixty-eight.

During the summer there was so little infectious disease in the town that the hospital was closed from July 31 to October 14.

January	14
February	5
March	4
April	6
May	6
June	2
October	8
November	10
December	6
61

The number of resident patients admitted was fifty-nine, and of non-resident patients two. Of the sixty-one patients admitted four were private room patients. There are now remaining in the hospital, December 31, 1912, six patients.

The following table gives the hospital statistics as to the patients:—

Patients in hospital January 1, 1912	7
Diphtheria patients admitted	38
Scarlet fever patients admitted	13
Measles patients admitted	6
Tuberculosis patients admitted	4
Resident patients admitted	59
Non-Resident patients admitted	2
Private-room patients admitted	4
Men patients admitted	6
Women patients admitted	16
Boy patients admitted	19
Girl patients admitted	20
Total patients admitted	61
Total patients treated	68
Number patients remaining in hospital (Dec. 31, 1912).	6

It is gratifying to be able to report that during the year there was but one death. This was in the case of a patient suffering from tuberculosis.

Repairs on the various buildings were made as needed, but the old wooden building now in use for tubercular patients was not constructed for the accommodation of this class of patients and should be replaced in the near future by a new building specially built for the purpose. The old building, however, is too good to be torn down, and after removal to a more retired location not very far distant it can be made serviceable for several years for the occasional shelter of smallpox patients, for which, at present, we have only the barest accommodations.

Plans are being matured for the new tuberculosis building, which will afford thoroughly modern facilities for the proper care and treatment of this important class of patients.

An upright piano for the nurses' home would be a most acceptable addition to the furnishing and equipment of the institution, thereby making it more homelike and affording wholesome recreation and entertainment, not only to the matron, nurses and employees, but also, when the windows are open, to most of the patients.*

In closing this report the writer wishes to express his appreciation of the interest and support of the members of the Board of Health, of the matron and nurses, the bacteriologists, and also of the various town officials, physicians, parents and others who have assisted him in promoting the comfort and welfare of the patients in the hospital.

REPORT OF THE BACTERIOLOGIST.

To the Board of Health:—

Gentlemen,—I have the honor to submit the following report for the year ending December 31st, 1912.

The routine work of the laboratory has consisted of—

(1) The examination of cultures and swabs from suspected cases of diphtheria.

(2) The examination of sputum for the detection of cases of pulmonary tuberculosis.

(3) The diagnosis of typhoid fever by means of blood cultures or by Widal's reaction.

(4) The examination of blood for the presence of the plasmodium malariae.

(5) The examination of smears for the diagnosis of ophthalmia neonatorum, and other gonococcal infections.

(6) The bacteriological examination of samples of milk submitted by the Milk Inspector.

The necessary outfits for the use of physicians are kept at the Laboratory and at the following drug stores: At Young & Brown's,* Harvard square; at the Gammon Drug Co.,* corner Beacon and Webster streets; at the Beaconsfield Pharmacy, corner Beacon and Washington streets; at Graves',* corner Boylston and Hammond streets, Chestnut Hill.

For a small fee, analyses of urine and other microscopical and chemical examinations which aid in the diagnosis of non-contagious diseases are made for the physicians of the town.

*Anti-Toxin Stations.

Diphtheria.

There were 74 swabs and 474 cultures examined from 361 persons suspected of having diphtheria and 66 were found to be positive. There were 192 cultures from persons who were healthy, but who were thought to have been exposed to the disease, and among those seven were found to be "carriers" of the diphtheria bacilli. Cultures were also examined from 488 school children in districts where diphtheria was prevalent and 36 "carriers" were found and removed from the school. There were 593 cultures for release from quarantine. The total number of swabs and cultures was 1821 as compared with 552 in 1911.

Tuberculosis.

There were 162 specimens of sputum examined for the presence of the bacilli of tuberculosis, 34 with positive result.

Typhoid Fever.

One hundred and twenty-five tests were made for the presence of the typhoid fever or Widal reaction, with specimens of dried blood from 99 persons who had symptoms suggestive of typhoid fever. The reaction was present in 28 of these. The laboratory also makes the diagnosis of typhoid fever by the Conradi blood culture method. Cultures are made from the patient's blood in tubes of sterile ox-bile, which physicians can obtain at the laboratory. The typhoid bacilli are very abundant in the blood during the early stages of the disease, so that it is often possible to make a diagnosis by the blood cultures a week before the Widal reaction appears. The laboratory is also ready to examine specimens of urine for typhoid bacilli during convalescence.

Malaria.

Twenty-five specimens of blood were sent to the laboratory for examination for the presence of the plasmodium malarie. In four of these the malarial organisms were found.

Ophthalmia Neonatorum.

The laboratory now offers to examine, free of charge, smears from the eyes of infants suspected of having this disease. The malarial outfits may be used for this purpose. Two such examinations were made during the past year, all with negative results. The diagnosis of other gonococcal infections is also made.

Milk Examinations.

There have been examined during the past year 306 samples of milk and cream, which have been collected by the Milk Inspector from different dealers. The number of bacteria in each sample is first estimated by the microscopical examination of the centrifugalized sediment, and in many cases when the number of bacteria present are obviously below the legal limit of 300,000 per cubic centimeter, no further tests are made and the report is sent to the Milk Inspector that the sample is "passed on inspection." Where the number of bacteria appears to be near or above the 300,000 limit, plates are made from the samples and the number of bacteria are counted by that method. Of 283 samples of milk from which satisfactory examinations were made, 43 or 15 per cent. were above 300,000; 27 contained 300,000 to 1,000,000; 16 were over 1,000,000. The highest count was 9,500,000. In 26 samples, where microscopical examination showed very large numbers of bacteria to be present, the plates showed very few, which suggested that an inferior milk had been pasteurized.

The results of these examinations are reported to the Milk Inspector, who files them (with the dealers' names) at the office of the Board of Health, where they are open to inspection. It is thus possible for the citizens of Brookline to determine at any time the purity of the milk (as regards bacteria) which they are consuming. It is to be hoped that more citizens will make use of these reports when selecting their milk dealer, for an intelligent interest on the part of the citizens in securing pure milk for themselves is the most effective means of improving the supply.

Eleven samples of ice cream taken from stores in the town were submitted for examination by the Milk Inspector. Only two of them contained less than 300,000 bacteria per centimeter. Eight contained over 1,000,000.

Miscellaneous Examinations.

There were 128 bacteriological and chemical examinations of various kinds made for physicians. There were 18 animal inoculation tests.

Summary.

The following table shows the examinations that have been made in the laboratory during the past six years:—

	1907	1908	1909*	1910	1911	1912

The work of exterminating flies and mosquitoes is supervised by Mr. Nyhen, the Assistant Bacteriologist, from the laboratory. From the bacteriological standpoint this work of destroying the insect carriers of infection is a very important part of preventive medicine, and the writer would urge an extension of this work during the coming summer.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANCIS P. DENNY,

Bacteriologist.

REPORT OF THE SANITARY AGENT.

Brookline, Mass., December 31, 1912.

To the Board of Health:—

Gentlemen,—I have the honor to submit my twentieth annual report, for the year ending December 31, 1912.

The work of inspection has been of about the same kind and character as that of the preceding year. All reasonable complaints have been investigated and where real nuisances or other unhealthful conditions were found to exist they have been satisfactorily abated or corrected in almost every instance.

Complaints and nuisances to the number of 338, as compared with 222 in 1911, have been investigated during the year.

A statement in detail of the number and character of the nuisances and complaints investigated and corrected during the year under the Boards direction is presented in the following table:—

	Number of complaints	Number of inspections
Premises unusually untidy.....	98	250
Offensive odors in and about buildings....	16	30
Untidy dumps and vacant lots.....	18	50
Garbage receptacles offensive.....	16	40
Water closets offensive.....	40	65
Stables offensive	17	60
House drainage defective.....	12	50
Cellars very untidy.....	35	96
Overflowing cesspools	6	30
Contractors' privies offensive.....	30	60
Henneries offensive	3	8
House and stable privies.....	12	62
Miscellaneous	35	70
Total	338	871

The usual general inspections were made of the cellars and yards in the congested districts early in the spring. These inspections resulted in the cleaning up of the ashes, garbage and refuse usually found in these districts after the winter.

In connection with the above, it may be stated we have used our best endeavors to keep all parts of the town clean. We have not waited to be called, but have noted down improper conditions and brought about their abatement or removal in nearly every instance.

The tenement districts have been frequently and systematically inspected during the year, but as has been before pointed out in these reports, it is hard work to constantly maintain cleanliness and tidiness in many premises in these districts. For no sooner are they cleaned up than refuse and dirt is thrown out windows and doors and unsightly and unhealthful conditions pretty promptly return. It might be expected that property owners and tenants would co-operate with the Board in its efforts to keep up the presentability of their premises, but it has been found that while the majority do so some of our citizens give very little aid in this direction.

An important event and one which it is confidently believed will do much towards conserving the health of the neighborhood was the widening of Boylston street during the past summer. All tenement houses included in these operations were frequently and critically examined both before moving and after re-location and their condition as to healthfulness carefully noted. Such unsanitary conditions found in several of these houses before change of site were the following: worn out and seriously defective plumbing, such as water fixtures without traps, insufficient plumbing ventilation and very often no ventilation at all. Out of date water-closets, filthy and offensive, without tanks and inadequately flushed from the street main; absence of the main trap to exclude the sewer air from the building; earthen sewer pipe unreliably jointed entering the house; small S traps under sinks without the necessary ventilation and liable to have their seals broken at every good discharge.

Other undesirable conditions noted were damp and decaying floors in cellars and basements, and water-closets with floors saturated with urine; stone walls in cellars, black and grimy and badly in need of whitewashing.

The moving or raising of the houses in question has brought about a most complete and thorough transformation in the conditions mentioned. Entirely new plumbing and drainage throughout were placed in eight houses and extensive and important changes and additions were made to the plumbing and drainage in ten other houses. Of the three tenement houses torn down, one was in a state of dilapidation and had long been a source of nuisance and an eyesore to the neighborhood.

As incidental to the restoration of the cellar walls much dust, dirt and bad odor were gotten rid of. Much interior repairing was done, such as painting and whitewashing, new concrete or wood floors, and similar repairs.

In view of all the circumstances, the expense incurred in the widening of this street was well justified, and the improvements outlined above were made none too soon. The beneficial effects of this great improvement should be far-reaching, not only as a health measure, but in the general well-being of the whole neighborhood.

Mr. Thomas J. Riley, the Sanitary Inspector, has performed his duties efficiently and satisfactorily. Under direction of the Board he has caused the abatement or correction of a large number of nuisances and other unhealthful conditions. Through frequent, and sometimes daily, visits of inspection he has kept the yards and premises in the crowded districts free from rubbish. He has investigated a vast number of cases of alleged delay or neglect on the part of the garbage collector to remove the garbage on the appointed days. He has caused the prompt removal of the garbage in all cases where the collector was negligent or slow. It seems only fair to say that a good many of these complaints were found to have little or no foundation.

Consequent to the laying down of sewers in certain streets in the westerly part of the town, the Board directed seven house owners to get rid of their privies and connect their premises with the sewer.

Four owners put in the necessary plumbing and drainage and made connection with the sewer; three other owners were given until spring to comply with the orders of the Board.

The number of stables complained of was seventeen, one more than last year.

One old and worn-out stable located in a tenement neighborhood and which had been frequently complained of, and on which action by the Board was postponed last year, was taken down during the summer and replaced by the owner with an up-to-date brick stable.

On complaint of another division of the Board of Health such changes as were thought necessary to suppress fly-breeding were made in four other stables.

The complaints against the remaining twelve stables were of various kinds, but were mostly for general neglect of cleanliness and for the over accumulation of manure and other refuse in and about the premises.

In accordance with the Health Regulations, 16 permits were issued to keep fowls.

There were six complaints against the crowing of roosters; the Board caused the correction of five of these nuisances, and the other case is awaiting action by the Board.

Contractor's privies still continue to be a prolific source of nuisance. An earnest effort has been made during the year to keep these places within the regulations. It is astonishing with what tenacity some building contractors will cling to a nuisance of this kind. It requires almost constant goading to get them to put in the required water-closet at the time called for by the regulations.

We believe the time and effort spent in correcting and preventing these nuisances was well spent, as many filthy privies were abolished and about as many good water-closets substituted therefor.

The various barber shops of the town have been periodically inspected during the year. The condition of all the shops as regards tidiness and cleanliness was found satisfactory. The instruments and other articles of the outfits examined, proved clean and sanitary.

In accordance with Chapter 75 of the revised laws the different bakeries of the town have been periodically inspected during the year. Their condition in regard to cleanliness was reasonably satisfactory.

During the year the Board has granted permits to build and maintain three cesspools where sewer connections were not available.

The number of permits issued for improving the drainage was 16.

As usual a number of routine matters were attended to by this department which it is neither necessary nor expedient to report on.

The "follow up work" has occupied much time and attention, though very little of it seems to me to be worthy of special note in this report.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL DUFFLEY,

Sanitary Agent.

Milk.

A systematic effort has been made during the past year to see that all dairies whose products were sold in Brookline had proper facilities for sterilizing their utensils, that milk-rooms and bottling plants were properly trapped and screened, that the animals were healthy and kept under sanitary conditions, and that milk from indiscriminate sources was excluded. Arrangements for the separation of mixed supplies have also been completed.

While the population in cities and towns has increased rapidly throughout the State during the past ten years, the reverse has been the case with the production of Massachusetts milk, consequently the amount brought in from other States is constantly increasing and has led to many experiments being made in the treatment of long-drawn railroad milk to make it acceptable to the Inspector as well as the consumer.

These experiments call for careful supervision and entail problems which require much thought and study. The treatment by electricity to prevent the growth of bacteria seems at the present writing likely to excel all others, and it is hoped will prove to be a solution of this most perplexing problem.

It must not, however, be inferred from the above remarks that the amount of long-distance and out-of-state milk contributed to our local supply is on the increase, for owing to the policy of this department, the reverse is true, 92 per cent. being produced within three hours' ride, and less than 8 per cent. produced outside the State, all of which, with the exception of twelve cans and the product of one certified dairy is pasteurized.

Dairy Inspection.

This is one of the most essential features in our milk inspection service, for if milk is dirty when it leaves the producer, its inspections thereafter cannot improve the quality, while its mixture with that from clean sources rapidly increases the bacterial count and spreads the pollution throughout the entire supply.

The dairies supplying the town have been carefully selected and are, generally speaking, in excellent condition. More frequent inspections have been made, larger and cleaner dairies substituted for inferior ones whenever possible, and care has been taken in protecting the supply from any risk of contamination by obliging dairy men to fence off all polluted or suspected water with which the cows or milk might come in contact. The latter is a new feature of the work, but one which our previous experience has justified.

I personally visited all dairies upon which the inspector reported difficulty of any kind, and also examined all herds which had not recently undergone a physical examination. When tubercular cows were found I notified the Department of Animal Industry and all reacting cows were destroyed.

In the summer and early fall I made an investigation as to the manner in which the railroads handle the milk, shipped for Brookline delivery. I found that the improper icing in the cars was due wholly to the carelessness of the car attendants, and corrections were promptly made after taking the matter up with officials of the roads.

Owing to criticisms being made of the scores allowed on the New Hampshire dairies contributing to our supply, I visited these dairies in November. I found that the ones selected compared favorably with the Massachusetts dairies. Many of the herds were tuberculin tested; dairies were all near shipping points, and ice was freely used in cooling and transporting the milk. I scored these dairies and afterward compared them with those previously made by Mr. Ward and found very little difference. In this connection I would like to state that we use the three division merit system in scoring, the scores being based very largely upon the cleanliness and quality of the milk when it is delivered to the dealers. This is preferable, in my opinion, in the case of a supply embracing but a few hundred dairies which are frequently inspected.

It has been found that some of the cleanest and best milk is provided by farmers whose buildings are decidedly unattractive, but who practise cleanliness and care in the production of their supply. Such dairymen should not be discouraged by being given a much lower score than their neighbors whose buildings may be more modern, but whose product does not average as high a test for cleanliness.

Separation of Mixed Supplies.

The possibility of a milk supply becoming infected and thereby causing a serious epidemic must always be guarded against, and I have done everything possible to meet such an emergency. In this connection arrangements have been made to enable those dealers whose supply comes from a large number of dairies and is delivered in several sections, to quickly and effectively separate their supply so that the Brookline milk would be drawn, mixed, and bottled by itself.

The value of this work was emphasized only two months ago, when a number of typhoid cases were reported simultaneously in several towns. They were found to be on the routes of two dealers, who were using the same milk plant, one dealer delivering in Brookline and having two cases. When the two cases were reported I took immediate action and had the Brookline supply kept entirely separate from the point of its production to its delivery. We had no more cases, while a neighboring town had a severe epidemic.

It is obvious that four or five cans of infected milk mixed with a large supply, or put through the same bottling machine would spread an epidemic of disease wherever that supply was delivered, while if the infected milk was kept separate the disease would occur only where these four or five cans were delivered. Not only would the spread of the disease be reduced to the minimum, but such separation would point definitely to the cause of the trouble.

Food Inspection.

Last year I reported a sharp increase in the percentage of impure and mislabelled food samples taken. I have consequently done considerably more work in this line the past year, and find that the quality of our local food supply varies with the amount of inspection done. Referring to the preceding table of food inspection, many of the violations were innocently made; in fact, several dealers sent letters of thanks for being notified that they were violating the law in selling adulterated foods. I have had no difficulty in getting merchants to discontinue the sale of any food product which was found upon analysis to be injurious to the public health. The results of this work have, therefore, been most gratifying and will receive further careful attention.

Protection of Foods.

I have endeavored to make our merchants realize the importance of properly protecting foodstuffs from contamination by dust, flies and handling. I am convinced that this work has borne good fruit in causing a large majority of our dealers to realize that the public are more generally demanding such protection, and that it is for their best interest to comply with all reasonable suggestions given them. The minority, with whom it has been hard to obtain permanent results, are composed largely of shopkeepers, who are licensed to do a Sunday business. There is scarcely a fruit dealer in the town who has adequate facilities for sterilizing the drinking glasses used at his soda fountain.

I would suggest as the most practical remedy that the applications of persons wishing either a Sunday or a victualers' license be in the future referred to both the Chief of Police and the Inspector of Provisions for examination, and report. Such applicants would then be obliged to do what was required in the way of installing proper facilities for maintaining sanitary conditions.

In the above connection, I have just issued notices to all licensed milk dealers who deliver from wagons, forbidding the use of horse blankets in covering milk in transit. I have also suggested that such distinctive coverings be used for protecting their milk from freezing, as would not readily be mistaken for horse blankets.

While I have been unable to find any municipality having such a regulation, I consider it an important one. Since issuing the notices I have received many letters from dealers and others commending the measure. I may, however, find later that it would be advisable to ask your Board to pass a regulation covering the matter.

I wish to remind the public that the records of this office are open to inspection, and I extend a cordial invitation to citizens to make use of them in selecting their milk supply, or upon any other subject to which they pertain.

In conclusion, I desire to express my appreciation of the facilities afforded the Department the past year and the hearty co-operation of the town officials and others who have so materially assisted in making the work effective.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK H. OSGOOD, M.R.C.V.S.,

Provisions and Milk.*

For the care of the Old Brookline Cemetery on Walnut street for the coming year, the trustees recommend an appropriation of $250.00, the same as last year.

The trustees recommend the appropriation of $1,000.00 for continuing the building of the stone wall on the street boundary of Allandale road. Last year the appropriation was recommended to continue the building of the wall along Grove street, but, as the lines of Grove street had not been definitely determined, it seemed best to postpone the proposed building until Grove street has been definitely laid out by the Selectmen and accepted by the Town. This may not be done in time to build along Grove street during the season of 1913. Therefore, the trustees recommend continuing the wall along Allandale road.

The trustees also recommend an appropriation of $1,000.00 to be used for development and improvement of the cemetery grounds. The last appropriation for the cemetery, exclusive of appropriations for building stone wall, was ten years ago. The income of the cemetery has usually been sufficient to meet all maintenance expenses and the greater part of the development work, but certain work can be done much more economically and satisfactorily if carried out on a comprehensive scale.

The present balance in the General Fund of the Cemetery and the prospective income for the year would not warrant entering upon the work which the trustees feel is essential should be done. For this reason, the appropriation is recommended, all of which amount is intended for development work and no part of which is for the expenses of maintenance.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY H. RICHARDSON.

FIFTY-SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Trustees of the Public Library present their annual report to the town:

In May last the Hon. Prentiss Cummings, who had been a member of the Board since 1895, resigned; and at a joint meeting of the Trustees and the Selectmen, in June, the vacancy was filled by the election of the Rev. Thomas F. McManus, rector of St. Lawrence's Church.

An important change has taken place in the library staff. In August Miss Emma O. Marston, who had been in the service of the library for twenty-two years, tendered her resignation on account of ill health. Of late years Miss Marston has been in charge of the two departments of the bindery and periodicals, and her service had been important and efficient. The Trustees accepted her resignation with regret, which was shared by the Librarian. Other changes in the staff are mentioned by the Librarian.

The library has been increasingly useful to the people of the town in its new quarters, as is shown by the report of the Librarian. Although it is chiefly a depository of books, and the machinery for making them available to readers and borrowers, it has other important functions. It is in a real sense a training school to fit the young for the duties of life. The Trustees regard the Children's Department as hardly second to that of the delivery desk or the book room. The scene in the children's rooms on a busy afternoon, particularly on Sunday, is an inspiring sight. But the activities of the department extend beyond the provision of reading matter for the throngs of children who frequent the building. Groups of boys who, when first taken in hand were most unruly, and some of them so disorderly that they had to be excluded from the library, have been organized; some of them have organized themselves into literary and debating clubs, which hold regular meetings and are conducted with surprising dignity and propriety. A series of Sunday afternoon talks to children has been given in the lecture hall, and Mr. Charles F. Underhill has there given two readings, also to children.

The use of the lecture and exhibition hall has not, however, been as great as the Trustees hope it will be. They have adopted a rule that the use of it shall never be granted for purposes of individual gain or personal advertising, and that when the expenses are so great that it is necessary to charge for admission, the excess above such expenses shall be turned over to the Trustees to be returned to the Town Treasury. But under such restrictions there should be many opportunities for the use of the room. The annual meeting of the Brookline Educational Society was held there, with Mr. Desmond Fitzgerald's beautiful photographs of foreign travel, taken by himself, as an attraction, and there has also been a fine exhibition of Mr. Fitzgerald's pictures by modern French and American artists, especially those by Dodge McKnight. These, with the entertainments for children, already mentioned, have been the chief uses of the hall during the year.

Several important events in the administration of the library have taken place during the last year. After a full trial of the lengthening of the hours of the library until 10 o'clock at night, the former schedule of hours was restored at the beginning of June. The experiment extended over eight months, during which a careful record was kept of the number of persons using the reading room and book room between the hours of nine and ten, and it was decided that the use was not sufficient to justify the expense.

On the first of December the druggist's shop at Coolidge Corner, in which the deposit station at that point had been located since its establishment at the beginning of 1904, was closed, and it became necessary to seek other quarters. The shop deposit station is at best but a poor makeshift, and is never satisfactory, either to a library administration or to the patrons of the library, since the service is necessarily entrusted to shop assistants who have no library training, who have other duties to perform, and who are not always competent. Inasmuch as a new business block has just been erected at Coolidge Corner, one room of which, on the street level, commodious and well lighted, was available, the Trustees deemed the occasion favorable for making the experiment of establishing an independent deposit station, to be under the supervision of a library assistant, and to make it a reading room as well, for the benefit of the large and densely populated region which it could serve. They accordingly asked the town at its meeting in December to authorize them to contract for the rent of such a room for a year. They had already hired the room for a single month to be used as a deposit station only, in order that the residents in that part of the town need not lose the benefits of the accommodation they had been enjoying for nine years, even for a month. As the town voted to authorize the renting of the room, the reading room has already been installed. The Trustees hope that the experience with this improvement, by bringing the residents near Coolidge Corner into closer relations not merely with their local branch, but with the main library, will lead ultimately to the establishment of other branches as they may be needed.

Another experiment was begun on December 7, when a reading room was opened on Cypress street, near the Sewall schoolhouse. For this experiment the Trustees assume no financial responsibility. The funds necessary to pay the rent of the quarters were provided by private subscription. The library simply furnishes reading matter, which is renewed as often as occasion requires. Those who are acquainted with the district in which the new reading room is situated know that there is a large population which is of a character most desirable to attract to a library, but which is at a discouraging distance from the main library building. The experiment now making will be watched with care and with interest. If it should be so successful as to lead to the belief that another reading room and deposit station will be appreciated and will be largely patronized, the Trustees will feel authorized to undertake the expense of the rent of the room now used, unless the School Committee should co-operate with the Trustees by assigning an unused room in the Sewall schoolhouse to the use of the station.

The library has received, as is usually the case, many gifts during the year, among the most noteworthy of which is a collection of mounted butterflies of exquisite form and color, given by Miss Theodora Edmond, by whom the most of them were mounted, as a memorial of her sister, Miss Florence Edmond.

They have been on exhibition in the delivery room, and have been greatly admired. Mention should also be made of the gift by Mr. Frank L. Gibson of an edition of the Voyages of Captain Cook, published probably in 1784, only a few years after the completion of the last voyage. The quaint illustrations add greatly to the entertaining character of the book. Mr. George B. Dexter, who has in many ways manifested an interest in the library and a disposition to contribute to its usefulness, has deposited in the library as a loan, specimens of antique glass from an excavated town of the second century in the Hauran, Syria. The thanks of the town are due to these and other thoughtful and generous friends.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

Brookline, Mass., Jan. 1, 1913.

To the Trustees of the Public Library:—

Gentlemen,—In reporting on the work of the Public Library for the year 1912, it seems best to speak first of what has been accomplished in the last month of the year because of its relative importance in the history of the Library, namely, the beginning of a system of branches.

In preparing to ask the Trustees to establish a deposit station of the Library at Coolidge Corner some years ago, statistics were compiled with the aid of a map of Brookline and a street list of taxpayers to show to what extent the Library was being used. These figures proved how little it was used by people living remote from the Library and by those who were not on any of the main lines of travel. As a result of this investigation the Trustees established in January, 1904, a deposit station of the Library in the drug store of Mr. A. J. Hayman at Coolidge Corner, where it has been up to the end of November, 1912, when Mr. Hayman's business was discontinued. It had become evident for several years that the demands of the people living in the vicinity of Coolidge Corner could no longer be met satisfactorily by a shop station, and the present time seemed opportune for a trial of another kind of branch of the Library. The Trustees, therefore, hired a room in the new Coolidge Corner building, at 277 Harvard street, and the deposit station was moved there on November 30, 1912. During December no effort has been made to equip this room as a reading room and branch, as it was necessary to await the action of the town at the meeting on December 30. At this town meeting the Trustees were given authority to lease space for a reading room and deposit station in the vicinity of Coolidge Corner. This becomes, therefore, the first branch of the Public Library. The room chosen for this purpose is a large, excellently lighted store at 277 Harvard street, in the building on the northeast corner of the square. The room is to be equipped with shelving for about 2000 books, which will include a few of the most frequently used reference books, a permanent collection of certain live standard works which are always in active circulation wherever books are read, and lastly a large changing collection of good reading from the main library. There will be also a number of the best and most popular magazines and Boston daily papers. A telephone is already installed, and by this means, as well as with the help of a daily messenger service, the library will make every effort to serve its Coolidge Corner borrowers as promptly and effectively as possible. Any book available at the main library may be asked for at the branch, to which it will be sent the next day. The hours fixed on for the present are from 1 to 9 P. M. daily, except Saturday, when the room is open from 9 to 9, and except Sundays, when it is closed.

In conclusion it should be said that the object of this, as of every other branch library, should be to help to equalize the distribution of books over the whole town, to make available as far as possible the resources of the large and fast growing collection of books in our main library. It may easily be imagined that to do this will require the services of very intelligent assistants, whose acquaintance with the main library should be thorough. The Librarian feels that one of the chief elements of success in administering a branch library is that it should be an intimate part of the whole, and that no assistant should have charge of a branch who is not at least for a little time on regular duty at the main library. This will give to the branch assistant an opportunity to become acquainted with the resources from which her main supplies of books and information are to be drawn, and by making her work more interesting it will ensure to the library a higher grade of service for the branch.

The work at Coolidge Corner in the one month on which we have specially to report shows signs of growth to come. During December 85 new borrowers were registered there, as compared with 7 in November at Hayman's, and compared with an average of 16 a month during the nine years of the station's existence in the drug store.

Almost at the same time as the transfer of the Coolidge Corner station to independent quarters a reading room and deposit station of the library was opened at 284 Cypress street, opposite the Sewall School. This experiment was made possible by the enterprise of a committee of the Brookline Education Society, which has raised the money to pay all the expenses of the reading room except for the supply of books and magazines, during at least six months. The committee hopes that the work will justify its faith in the efficacy of good books as a means of grace, and that the School Committee will eventually co-operate in this work by allowing the use of certain rooms in the Sewall School for reading rooms, and possibly for club rooms for the boys and girls, thus making this a wholesome centre of attraction for young and old of this neighborhood. This reading room has been open for about four weeks, in the evenings, and on Saturdays and Sundays in the afternoons also, in the charge of Mr. Burt Cooper, a student in the Harvard Law School, who had for several months worked in our children's room at the main library. It has seemed already to have justified its existence in the steady attendance of the men and older boys of the neighborhood, but for the present we have only to watch its progress and to suggest improved ways of making it attractive to readers, as the fund provided for its support will enable us to keep it open for at least six months.

If it becomes the regular resort of a small group of young men,—if it serves, to quote the words of one such, “As a decent place to loaf in,”—we may be sure it is helping in a small way to make a better corner in Brookline.

The chief element in the success of such work must always be the person in charge, and in this instance Mr. Cooper's interest, enthusiasm and tact have been the foundation of whatever good work has been done there.

Statistics.

The issue of books for home use during 1912 was 198,578, a gain of 8,649 volumes over 1911. Examination of the detailed figures in Appendix A shows that the gain in circulation is entirely due to the Children's Department, where a larger number of books than ever before have been issued to the schools. The decrease in the issue of books from the main desk is really due to a transfer of young readers between twelve and fourteen years of age to the Children's Department. These figures indicate a proportion of circulation to population of 6.75 books per capita.

The figures of registration are based on the fact that all adult borrower's cards expire automatically two years from the date of issue. Only those are counted as active readers who have used their cards within this time limit,—i. e., during 1911 and 1912, 7249 persons. To this number should be added 1795 children registered in the Children's Department, making a total of 9044, or an increase over 1910-11 of about 1000.

There are now over 500 children in the "intermediate department" of the Children's Room between the ages of twelve and fourteen included in the above statistics.

The Librarian has turned into the Town Treasury $1,200.23, this being the amount received during 1912 in fines for overdue books, payment for lost and damaged books, and in the sale of postals for books reserved for borrowers.

The yearly inventory reveals the loss of 184 volumes: 74 from the Children's Department (including School Department), 108 from the open shelves, including stations, and 2 from the stack. This loss represents a proportion of .0009% of the circulation, or less than 1 volume in one thousand circulated.

During the year the total gain in books added by purchase and by gift was 4301 volumes; 730 books were withdrawn and replaced, and 1295 were withdrawn and destroyed. This last large number consists of dull fiction which was never read, and which it seemed best to discard to make room for live books. The total number of books now in the library is 79,007.

Children's Department.

The work done by the children's department during the year has amply justified the employment of an added regular assistant to the staff. The issue of books in the Children's Room has risen from 23,991 volumes in 1911, to 26,685 in 1912, and the attendance from 46,266 to 51,057.

Mrs. Hall began to work for us in October, and she has, in addition to many other duties, taken charge of the department on Sundays. This has ensured much more satisfactory management than when we had to depend on a succession of different persons on that day.

The department, in issuing "intermediate" cards to young people between 12 and 14 years of age, has taken over a considerable task formerly belonging to the adult department. This transfer has relieved the main desk of much work, and it has sent the boys and girls to the assistants who are able to give them much needed help in the choice of books of all kinds suited to their ages and tastes.

The issue of books to teachers in the schools has been the largest in the history of our school department, 24,749 volumes against 18,779 in 1911; and 10,147 in 1910, thus more than doubling the number issued in two years. Of about 100 teachers in the public schools, excluding the High School, 83 are now taking books from the library, as well as all the ten teachers in the Parochial School. To the schools in the poorer parts of the town the books go to almost every room, the teachers who do not use the library are almost exclusively in the schools which serve the more well-to-do districts. The schools thus act as distributing centres for books where they are most needed and appreciated.

Many of the teachers express much gratitude to the library for the books, which they say are of infinite value in their work. The librarian, nevertheless, feels that to the teachers the library owes much, in that through their efforts books go into homes into which otherwise they would never find their way. One teacher in a primary school tells of books taken into homes to be read by the whole family.

During the first months of 1912 the problem of Sunday afternoons in the Children's Rooms was a very difficult one. In order to divide the crowds of children an attempt was made to have regular story telling in separate groups for the older and for the younger children. From this experiment, to which many friends of the library extended their help and sympathy, has come a variety of results. Too much confusion was an unavoidable accompaniment of the waiting and expectant crowds of children, and the good accomplished did not offset the general feeling of unrest, which for several hours put an end to any quiet reading. In an unexpected way the experiment at the library has proved very helpful. In sympathy with our troubles the Bethany Sunday School has this autumn had a story hour following its afternoon Sunday School, which has held about 150 children during the most crowded hour at the library.

The opening of the Sewall Reading Room on Sundays has also proved a very marked help in drawing off a group of the older boys. Sundays in the Children's Rooms have again become peaceful, although still very popular. Our conclusions are therefore, that story-telling, on Sundays at least, makes the library almost too popular, that we would rather share the children with others than try to monopolize them all.

Staff.

The resignation of Miss Emma O. Marston, for many years connected with the library, took place in July. To fill her position Miss Eleanor Fisher was engaged from December first. Miss Fisher is a graduate of Smith College, and has had a year's experience in the Berkshire Athenæum at Pittsfield, Massachusetts. It has been necessary to divide Miss Marston's work, and Miss Morse has been put in care of the bindry work, while Miss Fisher has succeeded to the care of the magazines.

Mrs. Elsie M. Hall has already been mentioned in connection with the Children's Department, in which she was appointed as an assistant in October. Mrs. Hall, a graduate of Vassar, has had several years' experience in teaching.

Miss Florence A. Wescott came to us in October as a substitute until Miss Fisher should arrive, and she has now been appointed provisionally to take charge of the Coolidge Corner Reading Room. Miss Wescott is a graduate of Boston University, and of the Library School of Simmons College, and she has had valuable experience in public library work. She had worked in this library for several months in 1908 as substitute.

Miss Sabina Gibbons, a graduate of the Brookline High School, was appointed in October as a junior assistant, to take the place of Miss Louise Warren, who had worked for several years in the issue department of the library.

With the growing work of the library and its branches, increasing demands are made on the senior members of the staff.

The librarian has had of late years to recommend many additions to the force of assistants. It is more and more deeply her conviction that although the best technical training in library work is desirable, it is of slight importance as compared with those qualities of mind and character which are born, not made, and without which technical training is of little value. The library needs that type of service for which money cannot adequately pay. True devotion to the service of the people helps to train us as no library school can train, although we may be thankful for the foundations it has laid. Those library training schools help their profession most which recognize these homely truths, and which make personal character one of the chief qualifications for entrance to their classes.

Purchases.

To the Art Department of the library many valuable additions in books and pictures have been made:—Fenollosa's Epochs of Chinese and Japanese Art, Cust's Anthony van Dyck, with twenty-five illustrations in color; a beautiful book on Illuminated Manuscripts, by J. A. Herbert of the British Museum; Ferrari's Il legno nell' arte Italiana, 271 plates with text; Vogelsang's Le Meuble hollandais au Musée National d'Amsterdam, 64 plates with text, and Baker's Lely and the Stuart Portrait Painters, a profusely illustrated work in two volumes. Twenty-five of the beautiful colored reproductions of paintings by famous masters have been received from the Medici Society, including pictures by Dürer, van Dyck, Titian, Giorgione, Raphael, and others. Some very interesting pictures of Egypt as it is today were bought for the library through the kindness of Mr. Rowe of the staff of the Museum of Fine Arts. Many other additions have been made to our pictures, both for the general collection and for the school department.

Among the notable additions to other departments of the library are the topographical maps of the United States, issued by the Geological Survey, of which about 2000 quadrangles, or three-eighths of the United States, are now completed. The first volume of a "Historical Digest of the Provincial Press" has been received. This important work plans to reprint in twenty volumes all "items of personal and historic reference relating to American affairs printed in the newspapers of the provincial period," beginning with 1689 and ending with the close of the Revolution.

Exhibits, Etc.

In addition to the exhibitions of pictures referred to in the report of the Trustees, the library has had two exhibits in the Delivery Room which have excited no little interest. In the early spring, Mr. G. W. Lee repeated on a somewhat larger scale his exhibit of the blossoms and early leaves of our native trees, and at the end of the year an exhibit was collected of pictures of soldiers' monuments to help arouse public interest in the monument which is to be erected in Brookline. The library is much indebted to Mr. Fleischner and Mr. Chase of the Boston Public Library, to Miss Loring of the Architectural Library of Technology, and to a number of architects and sculptors for help in getting specially appropriate material for this exhibit.

In March the State Library School at Albany sent one of their class, Miss Eva Graves to us for a month of such training as practical work in a public library affords. The director of the school, Mr. Walter, has again asked us to take one or possibly two students for the same length of time in 1913. During the summer months Miss Mary Cox gave her services to the library as a preparation for a course of study at the New York Public Library School.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUISA M. HOOPER,
Librarian.

The Devotion School.

While Brookline is in no sense a boom town, and while its population does not increase by leaps and bounds, there is, nevertheless, a constant increase in its size. According to the census of 1910, the population of the town was 27,792, an increase of 4368 in the figures shown by the census of 1905. Even a moderate rate of growth involves an occasional addition to school accommodations. The Devotion Primary building of six rooms was erected in 1892 and the grammar building of the same capacity was built in 1899. The limit of accommodations in these buildings has been reached. In June, 1912, it became necessary to request the withdrawal of all non-resident pupils in attendance upon grades VII, VIII and IX, and in September several Brookline children belonging to these grades were transferred to other schools. In spite of these measures of relief, six grades now show an enrolment in excess of the number forty-two, which the Board regards as a reasonable maximum. Meanwhile, building operations in the territory served by the Devotion School are extensive and new pupils are constantly entering the school. Even if no time be lost, it will presumably be the autumn of 1914 before a new structure will be ready for occupancy and the urgency of the situation admits of no delay. After careful study of the problem which confronts it, the Board is of opinion that there should be provided eight class rooms, an assembly hall, a manual training room, a gymnasium and certain smaller rooms which need not be mentioned in detail at this time. It seems clear also that a single heating plant, amply adequate for these three buildings should be provided. At the special town meeting of December 30th, 1912, the Board was authorized to procure plans, specifications and estimates for this purpose. Although the time is somewhat short, the Board expects to bring the matter before the town at the approaching annual meeting, presenting plans and sketches of the building recommended together with a reliable estimate of its probable cost. While the Board is opposed to extravagance in the construction of school houses, it is strongly of the opinion that a wise economy calls for the use of first-rate materials and high standards of workmanship. Moreover, a justifiable civic pride should impel us to insist on the erection of buildings which will be attractive as well as useful. It is evident that the cost of enlarging the Devotion plant will be large, but the new building will be designed to stand for many years and in the future it will serve a large community. The Board, therefore, hopes and believes that the town will have no hesitation in appropriating such sum as a thorough study of existing and future needs seems conclusively to call for.

In connection with this increase of accommodations on the Edward Devotion lot, the need of which is imperative and immediate, the attention of the town is called to the fact that the erection of a building for lower grades, to be located about midway between Coolidge Corner and St. Mary street, cannot be very long deferred. When such building shall have been provided, the further occupancy for school purposes of the small building now located on St. Mary street may become unnecessary.

Schoolhouse Interiors.

ally the thorough renovation of one or more school buildings. Instead of trusting to the adequacy of any general appropriation for meeting the cost of such renovation, it has been the practice of the Board in each instance to ask for a special grant. As a result of adherence to this policy, the school-houses of the town have been cared for in a way which is quite unusual. During 1911 when a special appropriation was expended for furnishing the Driscoll building, and during 1912 when another appropriation was expended for underground and interior wiring and for bringing up-to-date the equipment for instruction in science at the High School, the Board asked for no funds for interior renovation. The general condition of interiors was such as to justify a temporary break in the policy referred to above. Such break, however, in the judgment of the Board, should not be extended. It is accordingly recommended that the Lincoln Grammar buildings be taken in hand during the approaching summer. Previous special appropriations for these buildings were expended during 1903 and 1904. During the intervening ten years limited expenditures have been made from general appropriations, but something more adequate is now called for. The Board will, therefore, recommend to the town the special appropriation of three thousand ($3,000) dollars for a complete renovation of the three buildings which make up the Lincoln Grammar plant. In connection with such renovation, it is the desire of the Board to fit up a large room in the annex, originally designed for use as a physical laboratory, for the use of pupils outside of school hours, where reading and study may be carried on under favorable conditions. We believe that such a room will serve a useful purpose and will be of great benefit to the pupils in that school.

School of Practical Arts.

During the past two years the Board has had under consideration a possible extension of school facilities to meet the needs of those pupils who now drop out of the school course at the threshold of the High School.

If these boys and girls all found immediate and permanent employment, no difficult problem would be presented, but this is not the case. Some leave not because they intend to go to work, but because they are unable to obtain admission to the High School. Others, who think they are ready to go to work, do not succeed, and drift back into idleness. At an age when they are easily influenced for good or evil, if they are neglected and allowed to drift without rudder or compass, they may become a menace to the social welfare of the community. Until they can find themselves and form and carry out definite purposes, they need a sympathetic guidance which will assist in forming their habits and stimulating their interest in useful work.

The Board believes that a sufficient number of these boys and girls to make the experiment worth trying may be reached at this critical period in their lives by offering them a course in which manual or industrial work should be the predominating feature, combined with instruction in simple English branches. After careful consideration the Board has decided to recommend the establishment at the beginning of the next school year of a School of Practical Arts, to be conducted in the building of the Manual Training High School, which is not now used to its full capacity, and in which there is ample equipment adapted for the purpose.

It will be necessary to employ a competent man to act as the head or principal of this school, and the success of the experiment will depend largely on the skill and ability with which he handles the situation. The necessary assistance can be drawn in part from teachers on the High School staff, but some additional teachers will be required for at least part of their time.

The yearly cost of this school will be in the neighborhood of $5,000, and the town will be asked to appropriate $2,000 for this purpose at the next annual meeting, that amount being sufficient to cover the estimated cost until the beginning of the following fiscal year.

Penny Savings.

The system of penny savings was started in 1899 and, as usual, the work of collecting the savings of the children in the schools has been carried on during the past year. This work is administered by the Clerk of the Board, with the assistance of the teachers, and the cost is almost nominal, as shown below:—

Interest on deposits	$89 15
Printing stamps	$84 00
Printing stamp cards.....	14 75
Auditing cancelled stamps	22 88

Financial.

The appropriations at the annual town meeting were made, as usual, for definite departments of school work divided in accordance with estimates of the expected expenditures under each head.

The table below shows the condition of the several appropriations at the close of the fiscal year, December 31, 1912:—

Fiscal Year 1912.

* Of this amount $6,000 was appropriated at the special Town meeting of December 30, 1912.

† Of this amount $200 was appropriated at the special Town meeting of December 30, 1912.

‡ Of this amount $300 was appropriated at the special Town meeting of December 30, 1912.

§ Of this amount $300 was appropriated at the special Town meeting of December 30, 1912.

In the report of the School Committee for the year ending January 31, 1898, it is stated that "the new accounting department of the town has made it practicable for the School Committee to put in operation a plan for analyzing the school expenditure in such a way as to show not only the total cost of the schools for the year, but the cost separately; first, of the High School; second, of the Grammar and Primary School; third, of the Kindergartens; fourth, of the Manual Training and Domestic Arts; fifth, of the general school expenses; sixth, of the Evening Schools."

The report further states that the plan goes into operation from February 1, 1898, and that an analytical table will be inserted in future school reports. The first of such tables appears in the report for the year ending January 31, 1899, and a similar table is to be found in each of thirteen succeeding reports ending with the report for the year 1911. Such a table will also be inserted in the report of the Board for the year 1912, and the entire series will thus consist of fifteen tables. These tables have proven of undoubted value, but the Board has been of opinion for some time that they are open to improvement, and in its last annual report indicated its intention of changing somewhat the headings under which the annual school appropriation is made, and also the analytical tables in which a detailed statement of expenditures is made. Fifteen years ago the maintenance of kindergartens, and instruction in manual training and domestic arts were new undertakings, and it was perhaps desirable that, for a time, the cost of each should be reported separately. Both are now on a permanent footing and the necessity for a separate statement regarding each no longer exists. It is evident that if statistical statements are to be kept within reasonable bounds, there is a limit to the number of inquiries which they will answer. The whole matter has received further consideration and after consultations with the Town Accountant, the Board has decided to ask for appropriations for 1913 under the following headings:—

HIGH SCHOOL.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS—Grammar.

Primary.

Kindergartens.

MAINTENANCE OF BUILDINGS.

GENREAL SCHOOL EXPENSES.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

VACATION SCHOOL AND SCHOOL GARDENS.

PENSIONS.

The Board is strongly of opinion that the proposed change, while retaining the valuable idea which underlay the suggestion contained in the report for the year ending January 31, 1898, will do away with certain objections incident to the original form of tables, and will, at the same time, classify expenditures in a more satisfactory way.

The estimates for the year 1913 have been carefully considered and the increase over last year's expenditures of $4,600.00 is made up almost entirely of increases in compensation of the staff with a small amount only in general maintenance. It will be noted that the total increase is less than 2 per centum. The estimates for 1913 are as follows:—

High School	$56,300 00
Elementary Schools	140,400 00
Maintenance of Buildings.....	40,600 00
General School Expenses	18,200 00
Evening Schools	2,000 00
	$257,500 00
Vacation Schools and School Gardens.....	$1,600 00
Pensions	1,400 00

Attention is called to the fact that in making the annual appropriation vote "for maintaining the public schools," the following clause is always added: "All money received for tuition fees or otherwise shall be paid into the Treasury and is not appropriated for school purposes." Under that clause the following amounts have been paid into the Treasury during the past five years:—

Fiscal year ending December 31, 1912.....	$6,891 36
December 31, 1911.....	6,098 55
December 31, 1910.....	5,678 13
December 31, 1909.....	5,791 25
January 31, 1909.....	7,023 88

In other words, the cost of maintaining the public schools would have been reduced each year by the amount named, if the amount had been so applied instead of being paid into the Treasury.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

To the School Committee of Brookline:—

The first Superintendent of Schools in Brookline, Mr. William T. Reid, took office in September, 1872, having been appointed in the preceding April. Mr. Reid's earliest report covered the last five months of the municipal year which ended on February 1, 1873. Had there been no break in the successive reports prepared by the Superintendent of Schools, the report now submitted to the Board would constitute the forty-first in the series. For the four years, January 31, 1876, to January 31, 1879, inclusive, however, no such reports were prepared, and as a result, the present is the thirty-seventh report which has been made by one or another of the incumbents of the office referred to. The thirty-six reports already in existence cover a large number of printed pages, just how many I have not taken time to learn, and it is to be hoped that, in some measure, they have justified the labor involved in their preparation.

As one turns his thought towards the composition of another such report he naturally asks himself what results should be aimed at. These results seem to be of two sorts. In the first place, as the term "report" clearly indicates, the writer thereof is called upon to give a sort of accounting immediately to the School Committee, but also to the community, which shall embody such facts and outline such events as may be of immediate and possibly of future importance.

So far as there exists a history of education in Brookline during the last forty years, it is to be found recorded in the reports of the School Board and of its executive officer which have appeared during these years. This function of the report is by no means unimportant. It aims to so inform the community which maintains the schools and in whose keeping their welfare ultimately rests that it may act intelligently on such matters pertaining to the schools as now and again come before it for decision. Not only locally, but universally, is the experience recorded in school reports of value.

The history of American education shows few things more clearly than our failure as a people to capitalize our experience. As a result, it is constantly happening that a given section of the country or a given system of schools, ignorant of what has occurred elsewhere, or unwilling to profit by it, insists on trying out policies and methods which have been conclusively discredited. The wise Ben Franklin remarked that "Experience is a dear school, but men will learn in no other, and fools scarcely in that." So vast, however, is the field of education, so numerous and so difficult are the problems constantly arising for solution, that each section and every school system may easily have sufficient experience, and learn therefrom as it may, without duplicating the experience of other sections and other systems. Massachusetts, for example, one of the oldest of the American States, has had a long and varied experience in popular education. The newer communities of the West, or the older communities of the South where the development of a common school system is historically so recent, may well acquaint themselves with the lessons taught by the accumulated experience of the New England Commonwealth, learning therefrom what is intrinsically sound, feasible, and, therefore, worthy of imitation, and what is already discredited and therefore to be avoided. Within narrower territorial limits the same reasoning holds good. It is quite unnecessary, and exceedingly wasteful, that a town or city of our own State should so often disregard the experience of some sister town or city, and insist on learning, as it were, in its own person what the outcome of certain policies will be. In part, then, this report will continue and extend records begun in preceding reports to the end that we may have, for home consumption, and for possible use elsewhere, a reliable account of matters whose importance warrants such treatment. More or less specific reference will be made to the school years 1911-1912, extending from Monday, September 11, to Friday, June 28, while attention will be given other matters which do not come within such time limits.

A school report, however, should attempt the accomplishment of another result. As already indicated, it should so inform the community regarding matters upon which it may be called upon to register a decision, that it may act wisely, but it certainly should attempt to foster and strengthen that interest in the welfare of the schools, that determination to safeguard their interests on which their present well-being and their future progressive development so vitally and absolutely depend. If we lived under a paternal form of government, this second function of the report would be less essential. A paternal government possesses certain undoubted advantages, and it would be well if Americans in general knew of these advantages, realized the resulting efficiency and elevation so superior to anything we, as a people, have yet attained, and gave themselves to a hearty effort to attain similar results by such measures as are possible in a democratic republic. In Massachusetts, as in New England in general, somewhat in distinction from other parts of our country, the State has imposed upon the several municipalities within her borders the largest measure of responsibility for the education of the children and youth to be found in each. It is true that the Commonwealth as such makes certain demands upon each municipality, but after all, it is the people of Brookline, not the people of Massachusetts, who determine what sort of education shall be given the boys and girls of Brookline.

No good thing can be had without paying the price therefor, and not less than in the case of liberty is eternal vigilance the price of good schools. And so a school report may well aspire to be not only a vehicle for conveying to the people such information as will be needed for their guidance, but it should also do what it can to produce that public opinion—intelligent, liberal, steadfast, sanely progressive, thoughtful—the only environment in which schools can thrive. That community is unfortunate which does not believe in its schools. One of our distinguished college presidents has characterized American belief in education as our national fetic, and it may be true that we as a people are too much disposed to rely, in an easy-going and complacent way, upon its efficacy for our salvation. Hand in hand, however, with our belief in education as the sheet anchor of our civil and social well-being, is the ever-present readiness to criticize the schools whose business it is to provide it. True it is that the average school is far enough from attaining a reasonable standard of excellence and is justly the subject of criticism. When and where the criticism is based on knowledge, is kindly in spirit and constructive in tendency, only good can result from it. As a matter of fact, if the schools of a community are quite generally and persistently poor schools, the community itself must stand indicted therefor. In a general sort of way, the schools of a given town or city will command such measure of confidence as they deserve. Only in a rough sort of way, however, is this the fact, for the attitude of a community commonly lacks a certain fineness of discrimination. As a result, it often happens that schools of unusual and distinguished excellence fail to receive the appreciation which they deserve, while schools of an opposite are often allowed to run on long after effective measures for their reform should have been adopted. Admitting then, while deploring, this lack of discrimination, I revert to the suggestion that, in general terms, the schools of a community secure and retain about such a measure of confidence as they deserve. Just now we live in a time when the scholar and scholarship are slightly regarded, when not a few parents, most frequently the fathers, seem to have little sense of responsibility for the education of their children, and yet it remains true that the average home, in a half-conscious sort of way, realizes what sort of school the children are attending. As I thus speak of the second function of a school report, let me disclaim emphatically the idea that confidence in the schools is to be evoked or retained by any sort of appeals in official documents, however highly pitched or continuous such appeals may be. The most that can reasonably be hoped for is to do something to keep prominently in the foreground of popular consciousness a constant recognition of the indispensable conditions for the existence of good schools. We are living in the busiest age that the world has ever known. Not that men accomplish more that is intrinsically valuable and so likely to be of abiding permanence, but that they are so distracted by the number and variety of matters to which they attempt to give attention that they have scant time to devote to interests which, in an earlier time, were deemed of primary importance. It is not surprising, then, that even so vital a matter as education receives less consideration than it deserves. Any effort which induces people to give it more attention than they otherwise would is not wasted. To appraise fairly the real worth of a system of schools, much knowledge is called for. Not only is it necessary to make a careful study of the schools whose value is to be appraised, but an extended knowledge of other schools is equally necessary. In much of the criticism which is showered on schools, the absence of both these elements is very evident. One is often helped to an adequate estimate of the real worth of a school, he is often helped to a full appreciation of elements both of strength and of weakness, if he compares it with some other school which presents the strongest possible contrast. Such comparisons enlarge greatly one's horizon, tend to breadth and stability of judgment, and do much to substitute for the narrow, parochial criticism with which we are all too familiar, a just estimate of the school which is nearest to his door. Brookline is an opulent municipality whose policy in education is distinctly liberal and intelligent. As to result of such policy, the schools of the town possess certain distinct characteristics, some of which were discussed in my report of last year. It will, I think, be interesting and ought to induce a more thoughtful appreciation of these characteristics, whether they tend toward strength or toward weakness, if I direct attention to a school which presents the sort of strong and striking contrast to which allusion has been made.

During the last century there lived in London a prosperous merchant bearing the name of Whitman. Wishing that his son, Sidney, should learn German, in the autumn of 1859 the lad, being then eleven years old, Mr. Whitman sent him to the famous Vitzthum Gymnasium in Dresden. There the boy, Sidney, spent some four years. Attaining the estate of manhood, he devoted several years to business, but finally entered on a literary and journalistic career. From a volume published in 1912, entitled "German Memories," I cite the substance of Mr. Sidney Whitman's recollections of his Dresden school days. In doing this, it is my purpose to call attention to the tremendous contrast presented by these four years in young Whitman's life when compared with four corresponding years in the life of a Brookline boy of today. I make no attempt to demonstrate the superiority of either regime. As, however, we follow the experiences of the little English boy, taken from a luxurious London home and placed among strangers in a foreign land, and then call to mind the experiences of a typical Brookline boy during corresponding years, we are quite certain to attain viewpoints which will prove quite novel and we shall, I am sure, appreciate more adequately the significance of much in the school life of our own boys to which we have hitherto given little, if any, thought. And now for Mr. Whitman's experiences:

"The Vitzthum Gymnasium was an institution devoted to the gratuitous education of members of the noble family of that name and was founded in the year 1638. The Blochmann Institute was amalgamated with it in the year 1828 and the two together enjoyed a high reputation far beyond the boundaries of Germany. Perhaps this was owing to the fact that the founder of the latter, Carl Justus Blochmann (1786-1857), had studied under the renowned Pestalozzi and that the school was supposed to be carried on according to the principles of this far-famed Swiss pedagogue. Physical culture, as part of the formation of character, was one of these, and at that time this was an educational novelty. The school certainly possessed a cosmopolitan character, for it included boys from the United States, France, England, Denmark, Austria, Russia and Roumania, the latter in those days consisting of the Danubian principalities (Wallachia and Moldavia).

The German system of education fifty years ago was of a more Spartan kind than that of either France or England, and nowhere was discipline stricter than among the upper classes. It was not for nothing that both Bismarck and Moltke remembered their school days with repugnance. Of the former it is on record that when he went out walking with the school fellows the tears would come into his eyes at the sight of a plough, which reminded him of home. Moltke never shook off the hardening effects of his earlier years. Still, I am inclined to doubt whether things were anywhere quite so rigorous as at the Vitzthum Gymnasium in the years in which I belonged to it. At least it is tolerably certain that the German police would not tolerate conditions in a plain Volkschule today such as prevailed in the Vitzthum Gymnasium in Dresden in my time where the sons of the nobility of Saxony, Prussia and Mecklenburg, even scions of reigning houses, were educated.

Sleeping accommodation was of the most primitive, not to say of an almost barbaric description in every way inferior to that which I have since seen among the Russian soldiers in their barracks. In the winter the water was frozen in the jugs, so we had to go without washing, for no hot water was supplied. We were called up at 5 A. M. in the summer and at 6 in the winter. Exactly half an hour was allowed from the time of being first called to appear downstairs to claim the meagre fare which figured as breakfast, a cup of thin coffee and a piece of dry white bread (semmel), the cost of which was exactly three pfennige, or one-third of a penny in English money. With the stroke of the half-hour, however, both coffee bearer and bread distributor vanished from the scene. There was no breakfast for late comers and not a mouthful to eat until quarter to ten, when another variety of white roll—this time supposed to be covered with butter—was distributed among the boys on the playground. The day pupils put in an appearance at seven o'clock in the summer and at eight in the winter, and many a time have I waited at the gate to catch sight of two English boys of the name of Sawyer, who usually brought some rolls in their pocket which they distributed to the famished boarders.

The dinner consisted of soup drawn from stringy beef of inferior quality, which was served up afterwards with vegetables. Occasionally veal took the place of beef. Such was the unappetizing character of this meat that I have never since been able to touch veal. The Sunday dinner was a banquet in comparison, for it comprised a single helping of rostbraten (braised beef) and vegetables followed by a slice of cake. Dry rolls were again handed us at tea time. The supper taken at eight o'clock was sometimes a smoked her-ring or a few slices of cervelat or liver sausage. Many times have I slunk off hungry to bed rather than sit down to this apology for a repast. Altogether the food was such as a Munich cab driver would reject; but, poor as was the feast, it must be stated in fairness that it was partaken of by one and all, the head master and his family included. But a further degree of privation formed part of the school curriculum.

The punishment inflicted upon the boys, even for the slightest breach of discipline, was the deprivation of meals with regard to which a regular scale of penalties existed. Thus, for boys of the higher classes, a standing punishment was that of being locked up so many hours, sometimes for a whole day, in an empty school room with bread and water. To be deprived of one's dinner or supper was a common occurrence, a penalty which, according to the disposition of the master, could be inflicted simply for exchanging a word with another boy during class time, let alone for obstinacy, disobedience, or more serious offences. The modus operandi was as follows: When the dinner bell had rung, and the boys had already taken their seats at the dinner or supper table, as the case might be, an usher came in and, walking around the different tables with a note-book in hand, notified to the different boys who had incurred punishment that they were only allowed to partake of bread and water. In some instances the indignity of standing up during dinner was added to the penalty. I have known a French boy of an exceptionally unruly disposition named Cogniet to be deprived of his dinner every other day of the week and to have scarcely had his Sunday dinner once in a whole term. The only limitation to this cruel mode of punishment was that the rules of the school forbade a boy to be deprived of his dinner two days running. And as the Sunday meal was the only one in the week to which we looked forward and the deprivation of which was keenly felt by us all, we were only too glad to incur the penalty of going without our Saturday dinner, as we were thereby at all events assured of our Sunday dinner.

The sanitary conditions of the school were of the most primitive character. Not a single bath was there for over a hundred boarders. In the summer, it is true, the boys bathed daily in the Elbe, but in the winter a tiny lavatory fitted up with a Russian vapor apparatus was all the accommodation provided for the washing of the sons of some of the best families of the country. Once a fortnight two soldiers from the adjoining Garde Reiter barracks were called in to rub the boys down after their steaming. With little or no ventilation, the primitive sanitary arrangements spread such a loathsome smell throughout the sunless building that I can only wonder today how epidemics were not chronic among us.

The inspector came round during the dinner hour once a week to distribute the pocket money among the pupils. It consisted of debased silver coins nearly black with dirt. The regular amount was sixpence. Some few of the pupils, by special arrangement, received a shilling, which was the largest sum permitted. It was against the rules for a boy to have any money beyond the pocket allowance in his possession. Some few had no pocket money at all, members of the Vitzthum family being in this category. Others had no holidays throughout the year, so that their school memories in after life must have been as though they had passed their youth in what was little better than a penitentiary, no boarder being allowed to leave the school unless in the company of a master. It will be readily understood that such a rigorous system nearly broke a weak character whilst it tended to harden those who were strong enough to bear up against it. I remember when I first went there from a luxurious English home I used to cry myself to sleep at night for weeks at a time. After a life of many vicissitudes, rich in joy and sorrow, I can say that nothing that has happened to me in after years has ever given me such a thrill of ecstatic joy as I experienced when one day I was called up before the head master and curtly informed that my father had arrived from England and I was at liberty to go to the hotel to see him. Yet such were the conditions under which many of the men were brought up who supplied the officers to an army which, within five years, laid Austria and France in the dust.

It will readily, I think, be believed that it required a strong infusion of romance to be able to look back with affection on a time associated with so many privations, for to boys nurtured under English conditions, deprivation of liberty, let alone the execrable food, embodied hardship of no mean order. And yet, for many of us a deal of romance was undoubtedly connected with our stay at the Vitzthum Gymnasium, more particularly so among the German and Austrian element."

AS TO A SCHOOL OF PRACTICAL ARTS.

The report of the Superintendent for last year devoted a couple of its pages to mention of a possible extension of facilities. At that time I suggested that one or another of the five courses of study offered by the High School meets the need of a decided majority of pupils completing the grammar school course. I also suggested, however, that each year among such graduates are to be found a limited number for whom other provision than any now existing might well be made. For reason which seem obvious, the establishment of trade instruction in Brookline is impracticable. It happens, fortunately, that the laws of the Commonwealth provide a way by which the needs of the limited number desiring such instruction can be met. They may attend one of the special trade schools established and maintained by the City of Boston, the town paying originally for their instruction and subsequently receiving from the State Treasury one half the amount disbursed for such tuition. Under such arrangement, between July 1, 1911, and July 1, 1912, ten residents of Brookline were enrolled in one or another of the Boston schools. Apart from trade instruction, we are called on to consider the welfare of a contingent, somewhat limited in point of numbers, for whom, perhaps, other provision should be made. Those who are acquainted with the development of the public high school since its establishment in Massachusetts in 1826, realize that the steady trend of such development has been toward so popularizing the school by varied courses of study and wide elective opportunities, that it met the needs of larger and larger numbers of young people. All this is well, and it is but one step further in such development that is now suggested. In the Manual Training Building on Tappan street, we have the necessary material outfit. In my judgment, the success of the enterprise now under discussion would depend, both in the first instance and subsequently, on the calibre and the character of the man to whom it was entrusted. He should be enough of a scholar to esteem scholarship; he should know boys and girls, and should be especially and keenly interested in this particular field of education. It would be a part of his duty to acquaint himself with actual conditions in the world of industry and commerce and to so shape the instruction of his young people as to fit them to meet such conditions. Nearly two years have elapsed since this matter was first presented to the Board, and I am of opinion that we are now as well prepared to undertake a modest experiment as we are likely to be in the future. Decisions upon matters of detail should not, I think, be attempted in advance, but made from time to time as the enterprise proceeds. I should favor a six-hour day for such school, two-thirds the time, approximately, devoted to manual pursuits. While the course of study might eventually develop so as to cover three or four years, it should be our effort to give the highest attainable unity to each year, and this for obvious reasons. If, as I hope will be the case, the town is asked to pass upon the question of extending local provision for education, it should understand that the expense involved will be considerable. Cost per pupil in what may be regarded as a first-class high school often approaches the hundred dollars per annum, and if we are to maintain a school of practical arts, about the same rate of expenditure will be called for. It is just now dawning on our national consciousness that we may owe something in the way of extended education to those youth, who, for whatever reason, do not enter secondary schools. Hence the current discussion as to continuation schools, part time schools, concessions to be made by employers of labor, etc. The elementary schools of Brookline provide liberally for instruction in manual arts. Graduates therefrom entering the School of Practical Arts, which as a possibility I am now discussing, would come well prepared to profit by the advanced instruction which it would offer.

In addition to considerations of an educational character which seem to justify the establishment of such school, are considerations of a social nature. Many boys and girls do not find themselves as early as the completion of the grammar school course. If their connection with school ends at this time, there is likely to ensue a period of drift and waste. If, on the other hand, they can be given a chance to mature somewhat under the sympathetic guidance of teachers of insight, meanwhile receiving instruction of a highly practical sort, it may be confidently hoped that they will be better prepared to take their places in the work-a-day world, and, once having taken them, will make fewer blunders and more speedily and completely justify the training which they have received.

SCHOOL CHILDREN AT WORK.

A STUDY OF CONDITIONS IN THE PIERCE SCHOOL.

Few persons not in daily contact with grammar school children of this part of the town have any idea of the large numbers of them employed for wages during their out-of-school hours, nor of the importance of this remunerative work, both for good and evil, upon the little workers themselves.

We have received visitors to study methods, equipment, curriculum and management in our school during the past few years from nearly every portion of our land, as well as from Canada, Mexico, Argentina Brazil, Bohemia, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, the British Isles, Italy, China, India and Japan. But whether our guest is from Millinocket or Manitoba, Carlskona or Honolulu, the same observation is likely to fall from his lips during his tour of inspection: "What a pity that children cannot realize the privilege they have."

Now, there are several ways of testing the appreciation, on the part of children, of the opportunities bestowed upon them. To be sure, the cost of an education in money cannot be compared to the great worth it has to its possessor. In our school, the cost is a fraction more than ten cents a day for every day in the year to each child. The State Superintendent of Pennsylvania has calculated from comparison of tables of earnings of illiterates and of persons having had eleven years of schooling, that the difference during a lifetime amounts to ten dollars a day for every school day thus spent. As for the value of a high school education, a member of our own State Board a few years ago estimated that the money earned every year by high school graduates in excess of that earned by persons not having an equal education, would pay the entire cost of running all the high schools in this State many times over.

But what is the test as to whether children appreciate the schooling offered them or not? Superficially, one might say that such a test could be met by the fact that children are regular in attendance, punctual, earnest, diligent, and obedient. These school room virtues certainly endear their possessor to the teacher, but they are quite as likely to be the result of careful training by the parents and cheerful co-operation by them with the school, or of splendid gifts of sympathy, charm and leadership on the part of the teacher, as of any intense effort on the part of the child himself.

No, the school virtue test is inadequate to prove whether children appreciate the privileges offered them by an expert study of their needs, provided by an enlightened and generous community. There is, however, a distinctly American standard, from which, I believe, there can be no appeal. It is this: If the child appreciates his opportunity, how much is he willing to pay to retain it beyond the compulsory school age? From a careful investigation of present conditions of earning among our children, I am prepared to answer this test question.

In the ninth grade of our Pierce School there are 83 pupils, children of ministers, doctors, lawyers, teachers, tradesmen, skilled mechanics and day laborers. Most of them are between the ages of fourteen and sixteen. More than fifty per cent. are engaged in remunerative work during out-of-school hours. This work consists of lighting street lamps, selling or delivering papers, working in town library, delivering goods for grocers, market men, tailors and florists, choir singing and furnace tending on the part of boys. For the girls, afternoon care of children, assisting as waitresses, dish washers, taking care of offices, tending door bells and telephones, doing errands and simple sewing for dressmakers. Nearly every one of these children has house duties in helping the mother.

But it is not only the fourteen and fifteen year old children that work for pay, nor are they always children of impecunious parents. In every grade down to nine and ten year olds of the fourth grade where fifteen of them are hired for money, the busy earners are found. My study has revealed also this interesting fact, that scores of boys in all grades tell proudly of washing dishes, sweeping, dusting and making beds "to help mother." Some of the children work so many hours for pay, that the regular school forms, indeed, for them the much lauded "continuation" school.

The earnings of children have first of all this result, they remain to complete the course and to enter the high school in numbers all out of proportion to the resources of their homes. A child almost never leaves school before graduation, or if driven to do so by some family exigency, he returns as soon as the exigency is over. Contrary to the experience of almost every community in our land, the last three grades have more members belonging than any other grades in the school, and the boys usually out-number the girls.

When a child works hard for the chance to go to school, there is no question about his appreciating it. The worst thing about it is the fact that the father and mother find it increasingly difficult to deny the earnest little worker the instinct for amusement that cannot be denied any human being long or safely. If he works when other children play, he must have his playtimes later. The moving picture shows and the cheap shows and the cheap theatres are open after the papers are delivered and the errands done. No need of this district is so great as that of a playground. The school yard is as unfit as a greenhouse would be, surrounded as it is on three sides by dozens of windows that render a ball as fatal a weapon as a gun in the destruction of glass. After the long hours of school and outside work are over, the children ought to have a place where they can play ball with their own mates. No student of social questions needs to expect to kill the gang spirit, which is to boys what the club instinct is to men and women. A boy cannot stray off far beyond his own neighborhood expecting a

The best result of the outside employment is that it gives children experience in many kinds of work, thus helping them to find themselves. It reveals to children the inadequacy of their equipment for battling with the world in winning self-support, thus turning them with renewed earnestness to acquire such additional help thereto as the school can give them. In learning the value of money it is priceless. The penny savings of our school amount to more than eleven hundred dollars a year and they accrue largely from the little earnings of the children. It is easier to spend the penny carelessly given than the one earned with tired, aching feet. We have fewer cigarette smokers than at almost any other time in our history, so that the earning of our children is not squandered in that evil.

Nor do we find that the home study is neglected, although the children who do not work outside have naturally much more time to spend. Occasionally it is necessary to ask the parents to curtail the number of hours spent in outside work, or even to withdraw the child from it wholly, but such cases are distinct exceptions. Nevertheless, the outside work modifies the school work constantly, both in material, amount, and method. The teachers have to study the situation constantly and adapt their teaching to fit the needs of their class much more carefully than when other outside conditions prevail.

Letters written me by the children are more valuable than any commentary, in showing the alertness, the zeal and the satisfaction that children take in their outside work. I have included a few papers by children who cheerfully work at home without pay, with just as much earnestness and showing an equal pride and joy in being of service to their homes. These letters are taken from five hundred others and are fairly typical of the grades they represent.

GRADE IV.

I do many things to earn money. I work for a lady by the name of Mrs. ————. I bring up the coal, run errands, sift the ashes, sweep piazza, dump out the swill, wash dishes and wipe them for my mother.

GRADE IV.

These are the things I do for my mother. I sell papers and get paid from Mr. ————. I bring up coal for my mother. I build the furnace and kitchen fires. I beat the rugs. I feed and take care of my dog.

GRADE V.

I am now working from half past four in the morning till half past seven. I work for Mr. ———. After I come home from school I clean and sweep out a club room; then I go down to Mr. ——— at four P. M. I start on my paper route at 4.30 P. M. I am finished at five o'clock. I get $2.00 a week at ——— and $1.00 at the club room. I am going to sing in a choir. I got $6.50 for a Christmas present on my paper route.

GRADE V.

I want to tell you about all the money I earn for my parents. Tuesday I go to choir and stay from 4 P. M. to 6 P. M. I earn $1.25 a month. Thursday I sell the Saturday Evening Post and earn twenty cents. I give that to my parents. And on the twentieth day of each month I sell the Ladies' Home Journal. I sell about eighteen every month. Every one I sell I get four cents. I make seventy-two cents. I do my errands Saturday.

GRADE VI.

Every day after school I take care of three children and I get $2.10 a week. I buy all my own clothes and I save whatever is left until it amounts up to five dollars. Then I put it in the bank. I get home from work at 5.30. Then I help mother to get the supper and I set the table. After supper I wash the dishes and then I do my home lesson. Then I get my workbox and I mend all my own clothes and darn all the stockings for mother.

GRADE VI.

When I get home after eating my dinner I clear up the clutter in the living room. After that I amuse the baby, or you might say, play with him. Then I take the baby out for a walk and we go up to the park to play, so that he won't bother mother. When I come back my sister takes care of him while I do my home lesson. Then it is about fifteen minutes of six. Then my sister goes to help mamma and I have to see that the baby does not go in the dining-room where the boarders are. (Mamma has a boarding house.) Because when he gets there he is very bad and screeches when we try to take him out. Then at half past six he goes to bed and I can do whatever I want, so long as I behave.

GRADE VII.

Every day I try to be helpful to someone. I have made myself a diary. This is part of it. Monday, 6.30, arise; 6.40, ready for breakfast; 7.10 fix my room. I do the dishes as soon as all are through. By that time I am ready to start for school, and there do my duties. When I reach home it is about 1.50. I have my dinner, wash dishes, then go to my little girl—the one I take care of from 2.30 until 5.30. This I do continually every day except Saturday. Then, of course, I have the morning till 2.30 and that time I try to make the rooms clean and neat, as my mother is not home, but goes out and works hard all day, and my older sister and brother working. I feel that it is my daily duty from day to day. I do quite a lot, but it gives me pleasure. Miss ——— can tell you that I cook well because I am always doing it at home.

GRADE VII.

When I was twelve years old I started in being a paper boy, which I found was satisfactory for a boy of my age. I kept this job for nearly a year. Two weeks after I left the paper business I began to light lamps, which I found was a still better job. I still light the lamps, and I expect to hold this job till I get a better one.

GRADE VIII.

You asked us up in the hall to write you a letter telling you what we have to do in the afternoon. I work in a locksmith's shop down in the village. I have been working there for three months. He has taught me to make keys and has given me the job of making ninety-seven keys for the lockers up in the bath house. I have about forty made now. Nights when I am all through I go home and bring up the wood and coal to make a fire in the range in the morning.

GRADE VIII.

I want to tell you what I do to help my father and mother. I have polished automobiles for my father for two years every Tuesday and Saturday. When I am all through on Saturday with the automobiles I clean up around the house. To help my mother I do what she tells me. I bring up wood and coal at night so that it will be all ready in the morning. I run errands, long and short. Then if I want to go any place she lets me go.

GRADE IX.

According to your request, I am writing this letter to give you information about how I use my time in the afternoons. Last year I had a position as nurse girl for Mrs. ———. I received $2.00 and my carfares a week. I worked from two o'clock in the afternoon until six at night. I would be working for her this year, too, if she had not changed her mind and decided to keep a girl at the house all the time. This year I have not been doing any outside work, but I help my mother with the house work. I consider this just as important an occupation as working for other people. This is the first year since I was thirteen years old that I have not done work for outsiders, but as my mother finds plenty for me to do my time is not wasted. I would be very glad to know of a place for the afternoons, as I think it is nice to be able to bring money into the house every week.

GRADE IX.

I now take great pleasure in writing you explaining my daily occupations. Since I was in the seventh grade, two years ago, I have been working every afternoon, with the exception of Sunday. I started working for Dr. ———, and I worked there one year and a half, receiving for my pay $1.50 a week. My hours were from two to four. In the eighth room I was occupied in the afternoons by taking care of the son of Dr. ———. As I go to work every afternoon, receiving for my wages $2.00 a week, my school chums always keep telling me that I never can keep up in my studies, but I have kept up so far and I hope to be able to keep up in the future. Since I have started to take care of the baby everyone has noticed a great change in my health, as well as studies. I never used to like outdoor sports or anything that would require me to be outdoors. I finally became run down and I was not fit to go to school for weeks, but since I started working for two hours every afternoon minding this baby I have improved in everything. I will now close, wishing you a very happy New Year.

GRADE IX.

I have been employed at a grocery store for the past five years. The work that I do is to deliver orders on a team; sometimes I deliver them on the automobile. I work afternoons just after I get out of school from two o'clock in the afternoon till half past six at night. I also work all day Saturday from seven in the morning till half past nine at night. If I have no orders to deliver I help the order clerks to fill their orders to get them ready to be shipped. Sometimes I wait on the customers who come to the store.

The grocery business is the only kind of work that I like and I have made great success with it. My wage is $2.50 a week. When I get home from work I study my home lessons.

GRADE IX.

I am here in Brookline with Mrs. ——— so as to have the honor of graduating from a Massachusetts school. To be able to do this I have, of course, to return something for this privilege. Therefore, I do all that I can do, such as tending to the kitchen and furnace fires and beating carpets and mixing the bread. I thought that I would like to be a chef, as I am a very good cook, but as I have found out that an outdoor life is best suited for me I will become a landscape gardener. I undertook to tend to the furnace myself this winter, which I think is a good return for my schooling. Every Saturday I beat the carpets. I make the bread three times a week, and if called upon I can cook a regular dinner. I might be your "chief cook and bottle washer" in your camp next summer. I have plenty of time to do my lessons in the evening, and besides reading good books I manage to do a little drawing and painting.

GRADE IX.

Thinking that I would like to earn a little money of my own I applied for a position with a dressmaker. I found the work very easy and liked it very much. In June the lady went to the country to live, but she recommended me to the lady for whom I am now working. I work every afternoon from half past two to six o'clock. She has shown me many little things in sewing which will be of help to me in the future. If there is any hemming or any little thing to be done I do it always. I do the errands in town and have learned the location of many places I did not know before. I believe now that it is good for a boy or girl to work, because it prepares them when they are older to go out into the world and earn a living for themselves.

I leave the reader of these letters to decide whether or not the children show an appreciation of the privilege of acquiring an education through making an effort to continue at school, worthy of the manifold opportunities provided by the citizens of Brookline through the School Board elected for that high and worthy purpose.

Two Notable Terms of Service.

At the Board meeting of March 11, 1912, Miss Emma L. Wiswall of the Lincoln School tendered her resignation. In view of Miss Wiswall's long term of service, which began in September, 1875, and had thus extended through almost thirty-seven years, the Board voted her leave of absence during the remaining three months of the school year, at the expiration of which time her resignation should take effect. Surely one is justified in describing as "notable" service of such length, fully justified when as in this case the service has been not only of extraordinary length but also has been characterized from beginning to end by unremitting faithfulness. Any sketch of the year 1911-1912 would be incomplete which omitted mention of the retirement of Mr. Hartvig Nissen. Mr. Nissen entered upon the performance of his duties as Director of Physical Training in September, 1900. During seven school years he devoted his whole time to our schools, while during the remaining five years his service was limited to three days per week. Not, as in the case of Miss Wiswall, a term of service notable for unusual length, but notable for the success achieved in establishing, developing and finally bequeathing to his successor a varied but symmetrical system of physical training. Mr. Nissen was one of the earliest exponents in this country of the Swedish System and has continued to be one of the most distinguished. Quite apart from notable service elsewhere, his will be the credit of having established on a lasting foundation in the schools of the town a system of physical training fully abreast of the latest and best thought upon the subject.

Henrietta A. Mevers

Edward S. Colton, Jr.

The death of Miss Nevers occurred on December 12, 1911. Although her service as teacher ended in June, 1909, having begun in 1873, it seems clearly appropriate that a report relating largely to the school year in which her death occurred should contain passing tribute to a beautiful life. During thirty-six years Miss Nevers went in and out among the children of the town. Technically a teacher of needlework, all unconsciously she taught the art of that fine living which so far transcends the finest of needlework.

The Commercial Course in the High School was established in September, 1897. Because of a keen realization that the success of this important undertaking would be determined by the character of the man selected to take charge of it, very great care was exercised in making such selection. Mr. Colton lived to see but one class graduate from the course which had been in his charge, but during his connection with the school—all too short—he won and retained the respect and affectionate regard of all with whom he was associated.

Connected with the school year 1911-1912 there was nothing of a spectacular nature, but there are several matters which call for some attention.

THE MICHAEL DRISCOLL SCHOOL.

As stated in last year's report, this school was opened on September 11, 1911, with pupils of the kindergarten and of grades I to IV inclusive in attendance. The kindergarten has grown to be one of the largest in the town and the number of grades is now five. The erection of the Michael Driscoll building was necessitated by the pressure of numbers at the Runkle and the impossibility of providing increased accommodations until certain restrictions on the Runkle land shall expire. The Driscoll building is so planned as to meet the needs of pupils of the six lower grades, but it remains for the future to determine what grades will finally be located within its walls. The interior of this building is very attractive, but much remains to be done in the way of providing pictures, statuary and other things of beauty which it should contain. Through the efforts of pupils and teachers, aided by gifts from certain generous friends, a beginning has been made, but there is yet abundant opportunity for other citizens of the town to aid in this good work.

FRESH AIR ROOM IN PARSONS SCHOOL.

Those persons who have kept in touch with recent educational progress realize the great increase in the attention paid to the physical welfare of school children. Among other numerous and varied efforts in this direction, have been the establishment here and there of rooms spoken of as "fresh-air," "open-air," or "low temperature" rooms. In some instances, selected pupils whose need was greatest have been assigned to such rooms, while in other instances all pupils of a grade have been so assigned. At the Parsons the second plan was followed. At the June meeting of the Board a report on this fresh-air room was submitted. Such report is here reproduced, together with an interesting picture. A fresh-air room is still maintained at the Parsons under the same conditions which obtained last year. Incidentally, I may remark that the establishment of this room has led our teachers in general to make special efforts to maintain reasonably moderate temperatures in their respective school rooms and to secure the admission of an abundant supply of fresh air.

REPORT ON FRESH AIR SCHOOL ROOM.

Brookline, Mass., June 8, 1912.

To the Committee on Hygiene, Brookline School Committee.

Dr. Walter Channing, Chairman:—

I send you herewith a report on the first year's experience of our fresh-air school room.

In September, 1911, a fresh-air room was established in the Parsons School, to which room all the children of its second grade were assigned. To this room as much fresh air was admitted by open windows and doors as was permitted by a room temperature that was seldom allowed to fall below 55 degrees F. The children were protected against the cold by khaki sleeping bags and they replaced their street shoes with suitable slippers, thus keeping the bags free from dust. At one recess a glass of pure rich milk was given each child. This was paid for by two members of the Committee on Hygiene; Mr. Geo. H. Ellis kindly furnished the milk from his model dairy at a reduced rate.

In the neighboring Winthrop School the children of the same grade, the second, had the ordinary room temperature of about 65 to 68° and no milk was given them. For purposes of comparison, the weight of each child in the two sets was taken by the writer each month, October to June, inclusive, eight months in all, and the height of each child was taken at the beginning and at the end of this period. The weight and height were taken without shoes or sweaters. A monthly record of attendance was also kept in both rooms. Owing to the careful oversight of the teacher in the fresh-air room, no discomfort was experienced by the children, and not a single complaint was received from any parent. The statistics from the two sets of children are as follows:—

PARSONS SCHOOL (fresh-air room).	WINTHROP SCHOOL (ordinary room).
October 2, 1911:—	October 3, 1911:—
Average weight45.97 lbs.	Average weight46.21 lbs.
Average height46.13 in.	Average height45.98 in.
June 6, 1912:—	June 5, 1912:—
Average weight49.15 lbs.	Average weight48.90 lbs.
Average height47.81 in.	Average height46.93 in.
Average attendance...96.7%	Average attendance...94.9%
Average gain in weight 3.18 lbs.	Average gain in weight 2.69 lbs.
Average gain in height 1.68 in.	Average gain in height .95 in.

It will be seen by comparing these figures that the children of the fresh-air room made a greater average gain in both weight and height than those in the same grade in the ordinary closed room, also that the average attendance of the fresh-air children was better. It is interesting to know that the health of the teacher in the fresh-air room, which was poor the previous year, has been excellent. Though the effect of the extra air on the health, development, comfort and attendance is very satisfactory, the other advantages received were marked and are worthy of note; these, however, I will not comment upon as they are mentioned in the report of the principal of the school, which is as follows:—

The Parsons School, June 6, 1912.

After a year's trial of the fresh-air room at the Parsons School I have reached the following conclusions: that the health of the children has been better than in former classes; there have been no cases of contagious disease and very little illness of any sort; also fewer colds than usual.

The attendance has been better than before; there have been only three cases of tardiness during the year, whereas there have often before been that number in one month. All three cases were excusable.

The manner of the children has been more alert and they have shown greater power of concentration, facts which have been commented upon by the supervisors and by the school physician, Dr. Sibley. More work has been accomplished in all lines except drawing and manual training. Those two subjects were dropped somewhat during the cold weather. When they were resumed in the spring the supervisor thought the work was as good as usual. The penmanship has been as good as it has ordinarily been.

The only complaint which has come to my ears has been that the milk given at school impaired the appetites of the children for lunch at recess time. A change of time for the school lunch, however, remedied that.

GRACE HOWARD MANTER,

Principal.

What is most important in this matter of open-air rooms is a general recognition of the urgent need of more fresh-air for children while gathered together in a room. All rooms should be fresh-air rooms. All children need to breathe pure, cool, normally moist, moving air. It is not important whether they breathe such air because they are debilitated or because they are well. They all need it in either case.

Even if we were to confine our attention to the anæmic, debilitated and other delicate children, it would still be necessary that all the school rooms should have fresh air because these delicate children are not found in groups of twenty to thirty each in a single building, in a single grade, but are scattered through the grades and through all the schools, sometimes one, two, or more in a room. It would cost the Town of Brookline a pretty large sum of money to look after the anæmic children in separate rooms, whereas the same thing can be done at comparatively little expense by opening the windows and doors in every room in every school. We should, it is true, incidentally improve the health of the children already well, but that is a result which we would not deplore. The essential thing as to breathing in a school room is the admission of air that is at all times pure, cool, in motion, and of normal moisture. These essentials are secured in the type of fresh-air school room that we have just had experience with and I hope and trust that the fall term may find at least one such in each of our school buildings and that all the remaining rooms may have as much fresh air admitted to them by windows and doors as can be without the room temperature falling much below 60°. This latter arrangement would not require the use of sleeping bags and has already been tried successfully in at least one of our largest Brookline schools.

I wish to acknowledge the valuable assistance of the school principals and teachers, the Superintendent of Schools, members of the School Committee, and other citizens who, in various ways, contributed to the successful working of our first fresh-air school room.

Yours respectfully,

H. LINCOLN CHASE,
Chief Medical Inspector of Schools.

REPORT OF THE CHIEF MEDICAL INSPECTOR OF SCHOOLS.

December 31, 1912.

To the School Committee of Brookline:—

I have the honor to submit the following report as Chief Medical Inspector of Schools.

The physicians who served during a whole or a part of the past year as medical inspectors were Doctors B. S. Blanchard, G. H. Francis, H. M. Cutts, C. S. Francis, T. J. Shanahan, J. Kittredge, R. W. Hastings, L. W. Gilbert, Augusta G. Williams, A. A. Cushing, J. G. Saunders, B. E. Sibley and C. H. Kickham. The substitutes were C. Floyd, C. H. Lawrence, Jr., E. A. Rogers, H. H. Powers and H. Dana. Dr. James H. Cook also served for a short time as acting medical inspector just previous to his removal to East Braintree. Dr. Shanahan and Dr. Saunders resigned in September and the writer can testify to their faithful service. Miss Ida M. Lewis, R. N., served as school nurse.

Doctors W. H. Potter, J. B. Brainerd, E. N. Kent, H. V. McLaughlin, C. R. C. Borden, F. B. Hicks, D. F. Spinney and J. J. Riley made the examinations of teeth, throat, nose and ear until June, when it was voted by the School Committee to discontinue their services. The death of Dr. Frederick B. Hicks, one of our dental examiners from the beginning of that work, was mourned by all who knew his patience, skill and cheerful kindness.

Three very important matters have the past year received a great deal of the time and attention of the writer and of certain of the school physicians and teachers; these were, first, the establishment and successful working, under Miss Manter, of our first fresh-air school room, described in the writer's report for 1911, a special report on which has already been made by the writer to the School Committee. It may be sufficient here to say that the great value of fresh-air schoolrooms and outdoor schoolrooms is being recognized more and more. Not only public schools both here and abroad are more extensively using them, but a number of the best private schools, notably the Horace Mann School in New York and the Peabody-Curtis School in Boston, now have model outdoor schoolrooms in successful use by their children, both the strong and the weak.

The second matter of great importance to receive attention was that of the annual physical examination of all public school children required by the State law. The section of the statute covering this reads as follows:—

Extract from Public Statutes of Massachusetts Regarding Annual Physical Examination of Public School Pupils.

Section 5. The School Committee of every city and town shall cause every child in the public schools to be separately and carefully tested and examined at least once in every school year to ascertain whether he is suffering from defective sight or hearing or from any other disability or defect tending to prevent his receiving the full benefit of his school work or requiring a modification of the school work in order to prevent injury to the child or to secure the best educational results.

The tests of sight and hearing shall be made by teachers. The committee shall cause notice of any defect or disability requiring treatment to be sent to the parent or guardian of the child and shall require a physical record of each child to be kept in such form as the State Board of Education shall prescribe.

The examination is not yet finished, but it is proper at this time to say that decayed and neglected teeth constitute far the most numerous form of physical disability or defect requiring treatment, though a number of other conditions, e. g. partial flat foot, diseased tonsils, obstructive adenoids, malnutrition, and heart disease have been found. Of this last condition, no classroom teacher could be expected to be cognizant and serious harm might result from strenuous gymnastics in children with undetected cases of this disease. Care is exercised to make a sufficiently thorough examination to detect any disability or defect that may interfere with the child's receiving the the full benefit of the instruction offered him and needing treatment. The nature and scope of the examination is shown in the following list of points to be specially noted by the examining physician:—

Physical Examination of School Pupils—Points to Be Noted In Making Annual Physical Examination of School Pupils.

Development. Nutrition.

Weight, without shoes and extra clothing (e.g. sweater) once a year, in school, to be recorded under "Remarks."

External Eye and Lids.

Throat.

(As to redness or exudate, but not as to adenoids or tonsils, unless there are symptoms (e.g. impaired hearing, ear-aches, or frequent colds).)

Cough.

Teeth.

Cerv. and Submax Glands.

Skin of hands (for peeling), neck and head (including hair for ped. and nits).

Heart Sounds.

Nerve Condition. (e.g. Chorea.)

Any other important points that may be observed without removal of clothing.

Record under "Diagnosis," "Remarks," only conditions found requiring treatment or special attention.

If there seems to be anaemia, haemoglobin test should be considered but only applied with consent of parent.

When auscultation and percussion of the chest are found advisable, or any other examination requiring removal of part of the clothing, the consent of the parents must first be had.

Nothing should be told the children by the Medical Inspector as to defects or diseases found; such information is to be recorded and reported in due form to the parent and each case carefully followed up by the Medical Inspector.

The examination of all girls of the seventh, eight and ninth grades and of the High School are made by women physicians. Each case reported is to be followed up by the school physician, assisted by the school nurse, principal and teacher. Below is a form of notice sent in a sealed envelope to the parent or guardian.

prevention of deafness by early detection of enlarged adenoids, instruction of physicians, teachers and children in personal and school hygiene, school room ventilation, duties of the school nurse, the detection and care of mental and moral defectives, were among the subjects carefully considered.

In August will be held in Buffalo an International Congress on School Hygiene and inasmuch as improvement of the health of school children is of the very greatest importance in the promotion of the public health, also in the prevention of poverty and disease, and in strengthening the mind and character as well as the body, the writer earnestly hopes that Brookline will arrange to send representatives of its School Committee and also the School Nurse, and in addition one or more of the school principals and at least two of the school physicians, to attend the congress and duly report on its transactions.

In closing, the writer wishes to acknowledge the assistance he has received from members of the School Committee, the Superintendent, the School Nurse, the Principals, the teachers, and other members of the School Department, and especially the school physicians. He has also received helpful information and suggestions from a number of other Brookline physicians and from parents, as well as from teachers and school physicians in Boston and other places, for all of which he is very grateful.

Respectfully submitted,

H. LINCOLN CHASE,
Chief Medical Inspector of Schools.

A table similar to the above appeared in preceding reports. Its purpose is to give prominence to an advantage enjoyed by the local public, because of the small number of pupils assigned to each teacher. We have here figures relating to eighty-five primary and grammar rooms and showing the enrollment in each at the end of the second month of the school year, when attendance is at or very near the maximum. In five instances the enrollment exceeds forty-five. The classes thus exceeding the number prescribed by the Board were distributed as follows: Devotion, Grades I, II and III; Runkle, Grades V and VI.

As remarked in my report of last year, the opening of the Driscoll School affords relief for the lower grades at the Runkle, but Grades VIII and IX of the last-named school are already congested, and it seems clear that, as soon as the restrictions upon the Runkle land expire, we should revert to the plan under contemplation several years since, of adding a building to the Runkle group. As for the Devotion, the building for which plans and specifications are now being prepared cannot be ready a day too soon.

For the winter of 1911-1912, the term of evening instruction extended from Monday, October 16, 1911, to Friday, March 29, 1912. Two of the classes met on 66 nights, and two on 57 nights.

Prior to the present season, evening instruction in stenography and typewriting, has been given at the Pierce Grammar building. This procedure involved the hiring of typewriters for the evening students and putting them in position for use three times each week. This year, 1912, it was thought best to transfer the instruction in these subjects to the High School building and to make use of the equipment used during the day by the commercial course students of the High School. The registration of students in the evening classes thus transferred was unusually large, and there seemed some reason for thinking that the change in location might result in a large and permanent increase in the number of persons in attendance. The evidence to date, however, makes it somewhat doubtful whether such result will be attained. The average attendance at the High School building for the twenty-eight sessions, extending from October 14 to December 20, was forty-four. During the corresponding period in 1911 the average attendance at the Pierce was thirty-five. Moderate as is the increase disclosed by these figures, it suggests the inquiry whether any considerable number of persons would resort to the Manual Training building on Tappan street in case that building were thrown open for evening instruction in mechanical drawing, in arts and crafts work, and in other manual pursuits involving the use of both wood and metals for which the town has provided such extended facilities. The school authorities have repeatedly made known their willingness to respond to any reasonable demand for the more extended use of these facilities, and the suggestion is again thrown out in the hope that it may provoke some response.

High School.

At the annual town meeting of 1912, the sum of $4,000 was appropriated for the two-fold purpose of so connecting the High School building with the central heating and lighting plant that it could be lighted from that source, and also for bringing into an up-to-date condition the equipment for instruction in natural science. The town is indebted to Mr. John C. Parkard for mapping out and supervising the execution of this work. No one is as competent as Mr. Packard to give an account of the improvements which have been effected and in response to a request from the head master of the school, Mr. Packard submits the following:—

“In the year 1900, when the present Manual Training building was decided upon, the town of Brookline definitely committed itself to the maintenance of a single composite High School as against the policy, adopted by the City of Boston, for instance, of dividing its secondary school pupils into a number of separate groups, based upon their several courses of study, and developing a separate school for each group. As a consequence, we have today, practically, a Latin School, an English School, a Technical School and a Commercial School, housed under one and the same roof, with one head master, a single corps of teachers, and an interlocking program.

The economical feature of such a system appears at once, but the complex nature of the school must not for a moment be lost sight of in any consideration of the cost of maintenance of its separate departments. The Science Department, for instance, must cater to the need of the boy who is headed for a cultural course at Harvard, the youngster who intends to enter Technology, the fellow who is after a technical training with the expectation of entering a trade upon the completion of his High School course, and the commercial student who is to enter an office—to say nothing of the girl who is making a specialty of domestic science with a view to being a nurse or housekeeper, and the young lady who is specializing in art. The department is earnestly striving to meet all of these needs and, in consequence, found itself under the necessity this year of coming before the School Committee to ask for a larger and better equipment, especially in the domain of electricity, that it might be enabled to keep step with the times and do the work expected of it in competition with the highly-developed special schools of its immediate vicinity. The electrical equipment at the time of the request consisted of—

One small direct-current dynamo, capacity 8 volts 10 amperes, and a small collection of measuring instruments recently purchased for laboratory use, an outfit far inferior to that of similar institutions in the nearby vicinity and, in the judgment of the Head of the Department, entirely inadequate to meet modern needs.

Attention was called to the fact that while the alternating current as furnished by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for lighting the school buildings is excellently well adapted for certain purposes of advanced instruction in physics, it is not at all suited to the work of elementary classes, to supplying the current for a stereopticon, or a reflectoscope—as required to illustrate lessons in physical geography and biology—or for the electrolysis work in chemistry.

It was suggested, therefore, that the time was opportune for running a special cable, provided for at the time the municipal lighting plant was installed from the main switch-board in the basement of the Manual Training building to the High School, distributing the current about the upper floor for the use of the science department and at the same time supplying sufficient current for lighting the building independently of the Edison Company. It was computed that this arrangement, while comparatively expensive to install, would in the end mean a large saving to the town in the way of reduced cost for lighting.

A compressed air plant for supplying the blast lamps in the chemical laboratory as well as for the operation of various models in the physical laboratory, as small wireless telegraph outfit, a reflectoscope for the projection of opaque pictures and lantern slides and a new motor-dynamo, capacity 25 volts, 60 amperes, were included in the requisition. The details for the running of the cable, the wiring, the construction of the switch-boards, the piping for the compressed air, etc., were all carefully worked out by the Head of the Department and estimates obtained.

As a result, in response to an article in the Town Warrant suggested by the School Committee, the town voted that four thousand dollars ($4,000.00) be appropriated to be expended by the School Committee in providing means for lighting the High School building from the Central Heating and Lighting Plant and for improving the High School equipment for instruction in natural science, and the contracts were let.

The cable was run during the summer in a special underground conduit laid in cement. The interior wiring run in iron pipe was put in place in the early fall, the switchboards, reflectoscope, motor-dynamo, compressed air outfit, wireless telegraph, etc., a bit later, and the whole is now complete, working to the entire satisfaction of the Science Department and the Inspector of Wires. The expense items, condensed for ready reference, are as follows:—

Vacation Schools and School Gardens.

During the summer of 1912 Vacation Schools were maintained at the Lincoln, Sewall and Winthrop buildings for six weeks beginning on Monday, July 8th. Mr. Joseph E. Owens was in charge of the older children at the Lincoln; Mrs. Florence C. Adams and Mrs. Minnie P. Masse in charge of the younger pupils at the Sewall and Winthrop. During this season no special worker was employed in connection with school gardens, but garden activities were carried on by the regular teachers at the Heath, Pierce and Runkle.

Age Conditions in Grade IX.

The existence of kindergartens in sufficient number to provide for practically all children of the town tends to advance by a year or more, the age at which they enter the lowest of the primary grades. I do not, however, overlook the fact that the training afforded by a good kindergarten tends to accelerate progress after the work of the primary school is taken up. Those who scrutinize the following table should also remember that our elementary school organization comprises nine grades, nominally of a year each, that generous provision is made for physical training, for drawing and music, also for manual training and domestic service. Furthermore, the staple mathematics of Grade IX consists of algebra, while English history is the prescribed study in that realm. Such being the conditions, it is interesting to observe that 243 of the 290 pupils now belonging to the ninth grades, or 83 per cent. of the whole number, will complete the grammar school before they have reached the age of sixteen. It appears, also, that 49 1-2 per cent. of these pupils are to complete the grammar school course before reaching the age of fifteen, and this fact should lead us to be on our guard lest in our eagerness to attain one desirable end we lose sight of another, which is at least equally important. While it is desirable that the elementary course be completed at a reasonably early age, lack of thoroughness and of a fair degree of maturity would constitute a heavy penalty to pay for undue zeal. Eleven similar tables have preceded that now submitted. At some convenient time I would like to incorporate in a report to the Board some remarks upon the retardation of pupils, an important subject which deserves, as it is certainly receiving in recent years, very thoughtful consideration. For the present, I content myself with a suggestion that an inspection of this table affords evidence that pupils in our schools are free to advance as rapidly as their abilities enable them to do, and that the number of belated pupils is inconsiderable.

Stability in Teaching Staff.

The first pay-roll of the school year 1911-1912 covered three weeks, ending with Friday, September 29. On this roll the names of 158 teachers appeared. The final pay-roll for the year covered the five weeks which ended on Friday, June 28, 1912, and upon this roll are to be found 156 of the same names. At an earlier time I was officially connected with a system of schools which lost annually from one-fifth to one-fourth of its teachers, because of more desirable positions offered by other municipalities. While our present salary tariff is certainly no larger than it ought to be, it does serve fairly as a preventative of frequent changes among our teachers, and it is desirable that the town should fully appreciate the degree to which the welfare of the children is thus protected.

To another fact I may call attention lest we think of ourselves more highly than we ought to think. For convenience in figuring we may call the valuation of the town $100,000,000 (April 1, 1912, $111,053,000), and the cost of maintaining the schools $250,000 (for 1912, $252,869.55). Using the larger sum as a divisor and the smaller as a dividend, it appears that each dollar of taxable property contributed one-quarter of a cent toward meeting the ordinary educational expenditures for the year.

By Way of Conclusion.

We use the term "education" sometimes to indicate a process and sometimes to designate a condition or results which follow after the process. In the first instance, we think of education as a means, in the second instance we contemplate it as an end. As to the part which public schools are to play in the educational process, there exists widely varying opinions. One body of thinkers would limit their efforts to the teaching of the three "R's" or possibly to the three "R's" enlarged by an elementary knowledge of geography, grammar, history, and possibly of some other branches, acquaintance with which seems indispensable to existence in the twentieth century. Just now a great multitude is concerned with the educational process as, if I may use a phrase of the day, it puts a person "on to his job." Amid the many agencies which play, each its part, in the education of children and youth, prominent among them being the family, the schools, the church, the state, and civil society, perhaps it is impossible to define exactly the functions of the school in sharp distinction from the functions of the other educational agencies. One is safe, however, in affirming that the supremely important result to be pursued by any or all such agencies is that wonderful composite which we call "character." It occurs to me that the following interesting illustration of character in the concrete may help toward an appreciation of the meaning of the term:

On December 11, 1792, 120 years ago, there sailed out of Salem a little ship of 160 tons named the "Benjamin." We know that Salem is less than twenty miles from Boston and so in the matter of location the incident which I narrate is not far removed. Nor is it really very far removed in point of time since many persons now alive have talked with persons who were living at the date which I mention. The "Benjamin" was laden with a cargo of merchandise valued at $18,000, and was bound for the Cape of Good Hope and India. She was absent some nineteen months, returning to Salem on July 10, 1794. As a result of the voyage, her captain turned over to the owner four or five times the capital originally invested and had the satisfaction of returning all his men in health to their families and friends. One needs a vivid imagination if he is to picture to himself the danger of capture by foreign foes, the perils of the sea, and the terrible hardships to which the little ship's company were exposed. A single illustration taken from the captain's account of the voyage will help us realize what he and his associates underwent.

"In an intensely cold and severe storm on the first night after leaving home, our cook (a colored man somewhat advanced in age) having preferred his cooking house on deck to his berth below, for a sleeping place, had his feet so badly frozen as to cause gangrene to such an extent as to render amputation of all his toes on both feet absolutely necessary for the preservation of his life. Having neither surgical skill nor surgical instruments on board the ship, the operation, which had become necessary, was a very unpleasant and a very hazardous one, so much so that no one on board was willing to undertake the direction of it, and I was most reluctantly compelled to assume, with the aid of the second mate, the responsibility of performing the surgical operation, with no other instruments than a razor and a pair of scissors, and which, in consequence of the feeble state of the cook's health required two days to accomplish."

Such experiences are common enough to those who go down to the sea in ships, and I have not thus introduced the story of the Benjamin because the ship's company were exposed to hardness in any unusual degree. There is, however, one circumstance connected with the story which is amazing. The Benjamin was commanded by Nathaniel Silsbee, not then twenty years old, and his second in command, Charles Derby, had not entered on his twentieth year. Mere boys we should now think them and yet, in the midst of a New England winter, in a vessel which was probably about a hundred feet in length, these youths were sent to the ends of the earth on an enterprise whose successful outcome depended on the exercise of such qualities as prudence, courage, unceasing vigilance, honesty, sagacity, farsightedness, in a word, to them was entrusted a venture the outcome of which depended on character. As already seen, these youth made good. And now it is interesting to inquire how such youth were produced. It is probable that up to the age of fourteen or fifteen they were among the school boys in attendance on the schools of their town. Then, very likely, came a few trips to the West Indies as cabin boys, captain's clerks, or possibly as supercargo. Doubtless they were well born. Just as a tree is known by its fruit, so we may be certain that such lads as Silsbee and Derby had forbears of the right sort. But, whatever the explanation, however we may strive to assign to heredity, to environment, and to education its part in producing the splendid result, we see embodied in these young men the one enduring outcome of everlasting value, character. Now it happens that school masters have no control in the realm of heredity. In the domain of environment their control is practically limited to the school house, school buildings, and school grounds. Such opportunities as they are to have are to be found not in heredity or environment, but in education. And for him who sails these seas, if the pole star cannot always be in sight, at least frequent glimpses of it must be had. Any one who is fairly conversant with current educational discussion as carried on in speech and in print, any one who follows the programs of educational meetings, who scans the columns of all manner of publications—sacred and secular—must be impressed by the "multitudinosity" (if I may be forgiven such a word) of the counsels and exhortations which are showered upon the teacher. It is not surprising that he seems sometimes rendered well-nigh impotent. An impotence not, indeed, produced in quite the same way, but equally complete with that which the familiar verse portrays:—

"A centipede was happy quite,
Till a frog for fun did say,
'Pray tell which foot comes after which.'
This worked her mind to such a pitch
She fell distracted in a ditch,
Considering how to run."

But it is not alone the school master who must have constant regard for the polar star. Even at his best, he is a creature of limited power, amenable to the suggestions and, at least, to a partial degree, subject to the immediate control of official superiors and less directly, but often as completely, limited, if not controlled, by current popular opinion. And so the parent, the teacher, the School Committee men, the Superintendent of Schools, even the spinster and the bachelor who have always known precisely how children should be reared, all need to remember the existence of the polar star and frequently to bring it to the centre of their field of vision. Shall our young people be taught to read, write and cipher? Clearly, such teaching is indispensable. For it no substitute will suffice, and no standard of excellence is likely to be too high. Shall there be trades? Quite possibly, at the right time, after due consideration has been given to the fact that they are to be men and women not less than craftsmen. While, then, we do our best to secure to children skill in the school arts; while we do our best to give them skill in technique so that as early as possible they may find a place in the work-a-day world, showing themselves not only good, but good for something; while we do our best to imbue them with respect for honorable work of every sort and for the worker as well, we will try to remember that the one supremely important educational result, whether for children, youth or adult, and whether the study be literary, scientific, or industrial, is the producing of individuals who command our esteem and our respect for what they are quite apart from what they know or what they can do and equally apart from the social position which they occupy or the worldly goods which they possess.

GEORGE H. WORTHLEY,
Treasurer and Collector.

REPORT OF AUDITORS.

We have examined the accounts of George H. Worthley, Treasurer of the Town of Brookline, of the Walnut Hill Cemetery, of the Brookline Cemetery, of the Warren Tree Fund, and of the William H. Lincoln School Fund for the financial year ending December 31, 1912, and have found them correct with proper vouchers and warrants, together with investment securities.

We have also examined his accounts as collector and find them as reported to the Town.

REPORT OF THE TOWN ACCOUNTANT

January 18, 1913.

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen:—

Gentlemen,—In compliance with Article X, Section 6, of the Town By-Laws, I herewith submit the fifteenth annual report of the Accounting Department.

During the town's financial year, ending December 31, 1912, I have examined the accounts of George H. Worthley, the Treasurer, at the close of each month's business, and have found them to be correct, with the balances, cash on hand and in bank, as entered in his books. I have examined and checked all the notes and bonds paid during the year and found them properly cancelled.

I have also verified his accounts as Collector,—the taxes collected and uncollected, and in connection with the latter, those abated by the Assessors. The receipts from water rates I have compared with the books of the Water Department and find everything as recorded on the Collector's books. I have compared the Sewer Assessments reported collected with the original entries made by the Town Engineer, and find the amounts to be correct.

His accounts as Treasurer of the Trustees of the Walnut Hills and Brookline Cemeteries, of the Wm. H. Lincoln School Fund, and of the Warren Tree Fund have been examined, and all are found to be as reported by him.

The accounts of Henry W. Lamb, Treasurer of the Trustees of the Public Library, were examined at the close of the year and found to be correct, with stock certificates and registered bonds standing in the name of the Trustees of the Public Library.

I have examined the accounts of the Librarian of the Public Library and of the Superintendent of the Gymnasium and Baths and find them to agree with the books of the Treasurer.

A detailed statement of the receipts and their sources and expenditures and the purposes therefor follows. There is also included a statement of the complete cost of new covered reservoir on Single Tree Hill, which was completed during the year. The condition of the various trust funds with sources of income and purposes for which expenditures have been made is also set forth. A statement covering the estimated value of town property, and a classified statement of the maturing funded debt and interest thereon, is also appended.

After a careful study of the system of accounting in the School Department it has seemed advisable to recommend a change in the sub-divisions of the school appropriation as asked for at the annual town meeting, and with the co-operation of the School Department, the Committee will ask for its annual appropriation under the new classification at the annual meeting of 1913. In re-classifying the school accounts it has been the purpose of this department to recommend such changes as will most clearly set forth the distinct purposes of school expenditures, separating the purely educational expenditures from those which are more properly maintenance of plant.

During the past several years various departments have added to their equipment by the purchase of automobiles, and the expense of the care and maintenance of these cars has heretofore fallen on the several departmental appropriations. Increased efficiency and economy, it is believed, can be obtained through centralizing this care and maintenance under one authority, and therefore this department recommends that an appropriation for care and maintenance of garage be asked for at the annual meeting.

Respectfully submitted,

ALBERT P. BRIGGS,
Town Accountant.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

BOARD OF ASSESSORS

BOSTON

1913

REPORT OF THE ASSESSORS

The Assessors of the Town of Brookline hereby submit their report for the year 1912.

The members of the Board were the same as in 1911, viz: Charles H. Stearns, Charles A. Bowditch and Daniel J. Daley.

The Board organized with the choice of Charles H. Stearns as chairman, and David W. Creelman as secretary.

The Assessors are again enabled to make a slight decrease in the tax rate, from that of 1911, viz.: from $12.20 on the thousand to $12.00; for though the Town, State and County taxes exceeded those of 1911 by $37,629.25, the amount in the treasury at the beginning of the year 1912, and the estimated receipts were $86,260.90 greater than in 1911. There was also a gain in valuations amounting to $592,300, which was almost entirely owing to new buildings, as the Personal shows a decrease of $977,100.

There has been a gain of 213 polls.

We recommend an appropriation of $11,100 for the expenses of this office for the coming year.

CHARLES H. STEARNS,

CHARLES A. BOWDITCH,

DANIEL J. DALEY,

The Assessors of Brookline.
